MARSHALL VAGUE ON CHINA AID

Blessings Cited In Sermon

Easy to Forget, Pastor Says

By NITA BRANSON

Declaring that Americans are likely to forget their blessings, Rev. John C. Melchert last night pointed to the abundance of living which is ours today, in his sermon at the First Methodist church. Six of the city's congregations gathered there for Thanksgiving worship services.

About 300 persons heard the service in which Rev. C. W. Stoneburner, Rev. David N. Roller, Rev. Charles L. Shook and Rev. Matthew G. Madden participated. Rev. Ben F. Hagelbarger, whose congregation shared the meeting, was unable to be present.

Taking as his texts the eighth chapter of Deuteronomy and the 103rd Psalm, Rev. Melchert declared that "we should be thankful for all the things God has given us the past year—for an abundance of grain, for families and loved ones, for all those who have gone before and paved the way for our great blessings.

CALLED UNGRATEFUL

"Yet I wonder how God bears with us. Just what is America showing of gratitude to God who has opened up windows of goodness to us as never before," he asserted.

"Isn't it true that prosperity kindles within us a feeling that we are equal to anything? Even equal to God. We even feel we do not need God for our redemption. American people have such good opinions of themselves that many of us feel we can manage our affairs without God; that we are good. Yet who is good but God?

"Americans," he declared, "are a very satisfied people."

On the other side of the picture, however, Rev. Melchert pointed out the growing unity among Protestants, who, he declared, are united today as never before.

"Take the meeting at Amsterdam. It was not a perfect meeting, yet it was the beginning of a world unity. We are beginning to see that if we have our eyes on Jesus Christ, we are drawn together.

"To realize the way God has led us is to feel deep gratitude. After all, if God is for us, who can be against us? Together we are thankful for the many blessings he has bestowed."

Music at the First Methodist church was presented by members of the Junior choir and the Sanctuary choir under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Cooper. Mrs. W. L. Naas was at the organ and Miss Betty Gorsuch was soloist for one of the anthems.

DR. TAYLOR TALKS

At the Central Methodist church, Dr. W. M. Taylor, pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist church, preached on the theme, "The Pilgrim Spirit in a New Age."

Dr. Taylor said there are three elements from the Pilgrims which we should have today. These are gratitude, steadfastness or courage, and the spirit of adventure. He showed the importance of recovering and bringing to bear on our present life the same spirit which the Pilgrims had in the early days when they landed in America.

At the St. Paul Lutheran church, where the St. Luke's congregation joined in worship, Dr. Herbert S. Garnes took as his sermon subject, "A Just Estimate of our Blessings."

He first pointed out the national wealth and the bountiful harvest of the past season.

"But great as these blessings are, they are not the greatest blessings. Our greatest ones have to do with the spiritual life of the nation. However, we are not to discard these temporal blessings but make use of them. After all, we do not own them; they have been given to us to use."

Followers of the Mansfield Senior and Madison football teams have until Friday at 5 p. m. to purchase their tickets for the "four star" 13th annual News-Journal football banquet.

There are only 100 tickets remaining for the big fete Monday night at the Richland Recreation Center. Players, coaches and managers of both schools will be guests of the N-J at the banquet. Heading the speaker's list is K. L. "Tug" Wilson, commissioner of athletics of the Western Conference.

Tickets may be purchased at the News-Journal and Fox Jewelry store or from Pete Zeides, Westinghouse; John Schroeder, Mansfield Tire; Bill Daugherty, Tappan Stove; Phil Hergatt, Blue Goose Tavern; Augie Morningstar, Ennis Walker and Fred Tharp.

Army Seizes Venezuelan Government

Topples Regime Without a Shot

CARACAS, Venezuela —(AP)— The army overthrew the government of President Romulo Gallegos without firing a shot yesterday and announced it was in general control of the nation.

Toops occupied all public buildings.

Lt. Col. Marcos Perez Jimenez, chief of staff of the army, said the army carried out the coup because of the "incapacity" of the administration of the Democratic Action party headed by Gallegos, and because "extremist" labor elements were threatening a general strike to support the president.

The army apparently acted when Lt. Col. Mario Vargas, inspector general of the armed forces, returned from a recuperation of several months at Saranac Lake, New York, and threw in his lot with the military. Vargas, one of the leaders of the 1945 revolution which overthrew President Isaias Medina Anagarita, had been counted in the Democratic Action camp.

Gallegos, who took office only last February as the nation's first president elected by a direct vote of the people, was at his home under protection of the army. The whereabouts of other political leaders was unknown.

(Private reports from Maracaibo in western Venezuela, the center of the oil industry where American capital has a stake of about $2,000,000,000, said oil workers had called a general strike throughout the state of Zulia, the region around Lake Maracaibo. There are about 8,000 Americans working in Venezuela.)

Russians Want Troops to Leave

BERLIN —(AP)— A communist drive to get all occupation troops out of Germany was launched last night.

The German peoples' council, a communist front organization and possible forerunner of an east German parliament, apparently was voicing the kremlin's policy when it demanded;

1. An immediate parley by the Big Four Foreign Ministers council to set up machinery to write a final peace treaty for Germany.
2. Removal of all occupation troops within a year after the treaty is signed.

ANTICIPATION—Neal Alan Pfaff, 21-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pfaff of 1051 West Fourth street, watches with eager eyes as his grandmother, Mrs. Harley Neal, bastes the Thanksgiving turkey which will occupy a place of honor on the family dinner table today. Neal was a little young to appreciate Thanksgiving last year, but he's making sure he doesn't miss anything today.

City Joins Observance

Travel, Dinners Mark Holiday

By EILEEN DEWHURST

Thousands of Mansfielders will join with others all over the nation in observing the Thanksgiving holiday today.

Most Mansfielders will spend the day with their families gathered around tables loaded with holiday food. Although turkey is the traditional holiday bird, many families will substitute duck, chicken, or other meat because of this year's high prices for turkey.

A large number of Mansfielders left the city last night to spend the holiday with families or friends in other communities.

Buses, trains, and airplanes were crowded late yesterday afternoon and late last night as the heavy traffic reached its peak. Travel agencies said they expected travel to be heavy again Sunday night when those who are lucky enough to be off work for the entire weekend return home.

Both the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company and the Dominion Electric corporation will extend the holiday through Friday. However, office employes at the tire company will return to work Friday morning, and employes in the office, plating, polishing, buffing, and tool and die departments at Dominion Electric also will work Friday.

Turkey Tops Fare At Institutions

Folks who are spending Thanksgiving in Mansfield and Richland county hospitals and institutions won't be overlooked today when traditional dinners take the holiday spotlight.

Turkey will head the menus at most institutions in the city and county.

With the venerable holiday bird will be served a variety of side dishes and desserts. More than a dozen prisoners at the Richland county jail will dine on turkey, mashed potatoes, dressing, cranberries, and pumpkin pie. Mrs. Frank Robinson, jail matron, said. A 20-pound bird was roasted for dinner.

General hospital is going all out to make the day a big one for its patients. The Thanksgiving dinner will start off with creamed pea soup, then there will be roast turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and giblet gravy, creamed onions, cranberry salad, carrot strips and celery curls, ice cream and rolls, butter, coffee, tea or milk.

A tomato cocktail will start off the menu at People's hospital. Then will come turkey and oyster dressing, candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes with giblet gravy, cranberry sauce, waldorf salad, pumpkin pie, and ice cream.

Everything at the Ohio State Reformatory has been grown or will be made from products grown at the reformatory farm. Fried chicken, mashed potatoes and gravy, dressing, buttered lima beans, cabbage salad with mustard sauce, ice cream and cake, complete the holiday feast.

There's also to be turkey at Madison hospital, supplemented by mashed potatoes and gravy, cranberry sauce, fruit salad, ice cream, rolls and butter and a choice of coffee, tea or milk.

Residents of the Richland County home will dine on fried chicken and all the fixin's. The chickens were raised on the farm at the home.

At the TB sanatorium, patients will have a typical holiday feast beginning with roast turkey and dressing, and including mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie, hot rolls, relishes, milk and coffee.

Five turkeys were sent to the Richland County Children's home by the Barnes Manufacturing company and a sixth by Donald E. Frampton. Besides Walter Larimore presented a deer to the home, so venison will be added to the turkey.

The deer is being stored by the Frosted Foods, Inc.

School Battles 'Red Outs'

Fainting Fad Hits Illinois

AVA, Ill.—(AP)—A high school principal yesterday ordered students to stop what he termed a growing fad of self-induced blackouts.

J. H. Hammack, principal of the Tri-County Consolidated high school here, said the practice came to a head when a girl freshman blacked herself out 15 times Tuesday—six times in a row during the noon hour. She finally became unconscious for nearly two hours.

An Ava physician, declining use of his name, said he treated the girl for anoxemia. He described it as a disturbance of the carbon dioxide balance in the blood. He added that the effect was comparable to blackouts suffered by fliers in pulling out of long, steep dives.

Principal Hammack said that in an attempt to combat the practice he called a student assembly as the girl was regaining consciousness so they could listen to her screams.

Students questioned by school authorities reported that the self-induced "red outs"—their term for the practice—usually last only a few minutes and some said they had dreams and hallucinations.

A Percy, Ill., boy told friends he had undergone 30 "red outs" without ill effect.

"We were most troubled with those who fainted just from watching it," Hammack said. "Six or eight fainted."

In Chicago, Dr. Morris Fishbein, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, described the practice as evidence of "mass psychological disturbances which occur among adolescents from time to time.

"As long as adolescents find that their performances attract interest and make them the center of attraction they are likely to go from one sensation to another," Dr. Fishbein said.

Market Loss One Billion

NEW YORK —(AP)— A fresh sinking spell yesterday carried the stock market to a new low level since the post-election break.

Around $1,000,000,000 of the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange was wiped out. The volume of business expanded as prices started to slide and the day's turnover ran well past 1,000,000 shares.

Wall street quarters said much of the selling was due to disappointment because last week's rally failed to get anywhere. Selling for tax purposes was rated as another source of pressure.

Acting as a brake on demand, these quarters said, was certainty over the policies of the new administration on such matters as taxes and profits.

Many issues dropped to new low prices for the year. Among them were Chrysler, Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, Pepsi-Cola, International Telephone, and Western Union.

CHILD FATALLY SCALDED

LOGAN —(AP)— James Edward Allberry, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Allberry of near New Plymouth, died today of burns suffered when he fell into a tub of boiling water at his home.

900 Vote 'Sit In' On Liner

SOUTHAMPTON, England —(AP)— Cabin and tourist passengers on the strike-bound luxury liner Queen Elizabeth decided last night on a "sit in" strike in defiance of a decision by the ship's owners to put them ashore Friday.

Approximately 900 passengers voted for the "sit in" at a mass meeting.

A spokesman said they took the action "because of the precarious condition, financial and otherwise, of some of the passengers." They said they hope to persuade first class passengers to join them.

Capt. C. M. Ford, the ship's commander, told the passengers the strike would not be tolerated and that water and lights would be cut off. He added the company would try to take care of people whose wallets are thin.

Earlier, the Cunard White Star line notified the 1500 strike-bound passengers to disembark.

The company advised the passengers, who have been literally floating in luxury since Friday pending the outcome of the American Longshoremens' strike on the East coast, that they had best go back to their homes and hotels.

A reservation bureau was set up on the ship to help passengers find hotel accommodations, and the company arranged to run special trains to carry the passengers to London on Friday and Saturday.

The company statement said negotiations in New York to end the Longshoremen's strike had "deteriorated", and indicated there was no hope for the time being of sailing the big liner to America. It said a 48-hour notice of departure would be given.

In New York, Cyrus S. Ching, the head of the nation's mediation service stepped into the East coast waterfront strike. He said the mediation service would make proposals for settling the strike.

Inductions Stepped Up

72 Men Called For December Exams

Seventy-two Richland countians eligible for the draft will be called for pre-induction physical examinations in December, a request from the state selective service director disclosed yesterday.

The request asks that 36 men be examined Dec. 8 and 36 more Dec. 21. In November 60 men were called for examinations. The increase is due to the large number of rejections of men examined at the recruiting office, selective service spokesmen said.

While the quota for men to be called into service in December has not been established, indications are that it will be substantially larger than the November quota. Four men were called this month, but screening of men in the higher age groups yielded only two. They will be inducted Friday.

Up to Oct. 31, 5,287 men had registered with the local draft board, Mrs. Leah Maxwell, selective service clerk, announced. A total of 77 men reaching 18 years of age registered during October.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

FREMONT —(AP)—Eugene W. Grace, 37, a Toronto, O., truck driver, was killed yesterday in a traffic accident near Cyde, O.

Decision On Crisis Delayed

Favors German Ruhr Control

WASHINGTON—In a widely heralded news conference late yesterday, Secretary of State George C. Marshall failed to clarify the future policy of the United States toward China, now locked in civil war between the communists and the forces of Chiang Kai Shek.

Marshall was quoted by the Associated Press as saying that the U. S. government is considering what it can properly do to be of real assistance in the Chinese government's present crisis.

He made the statement after Chinese ambassador Wellington Koo had visited the White House and appealed to President Truman for American moral and material help.

What Marshall said about China indicated that no overall decision has been made on the American response to Chiang Kai Shek's appeals for help, according to the Associated Press.

CITES INVOLVEMENT

This government must have clearly in mind, Marshall said, the terms under which it can act. That, he continued, relates to the problem of getting legislation through Congress, the availability of military supplies, and the involvements of the United States which might result in China and which already are in effect in various parts of the world.

Talking with reporters, Marshall also:

1. Left entirely in doubt the question of whether he would remain much longer as secretary of state. He simply refused any comment on that point.

2. Declared that the United States has told France it is willing to consider new security measures against revival of German war might and, despite France's objections, this government and Britain are going ahead with a plan for placing Ruhr industries under German management.

3. Announced that the United States has protested to Egypt against seizure of the rice and tractor cargo of the American vessel, flying trader.

PRAISES U.N.

4. Commented that he believes the United Nations meeting in Paris has wiped out the vagueness in the minds of many other governments about who is responsible for the present frustration of efforts to solve important world problems—such as the Berlin crisis.

Meanwhile, reports from Nanking said government warplanes flew back into the battle of Suchow yesterday, and press accounts asserted the new communist offensive was thrown back on both the east and south.

Newspapers reported recapture of the anchor city of Suhsien, 50 miles south of Suchow.

Despite this and a rash of other optimistic dispatches, many observers believed the government still was losing ground in the battle for the Suchow-Nanking nerve center of China.

Woman Hurt In Accident

Mrs. Marjorie E. Line, 23, of 174 West Third street, suffered fractures of the right leg and abrasions about the face and body in a collision of her car last night with a truck-trailer at Hedges and East Second street.

She was taken to General hospital for treatment. Operator of the truck-trailer was William Wiley Prickett, 54, of East Gadsden, Ala.

The truck-trailer was going north on Hedges street, striking Mrs. Line's car traveling west on East Second street, police said.

Prickett told police she failed to stop at the stop sign. Mrs. Line told police she didn't know there was a stop sign at the intersection.

Mansfield Stores Ready for Holiday Shopping Rush

Mansfield stores are ready for Christmas.

Decorated in fireproofed holiday tinsel and holly, the downtown area will be thronged tomorrow by thousands of shoppers.

With only 25 shopping days left until Christmas, that "shop early" plea soon will be out of date.

Merchants said their stocks this year are by far the most complete since the war, and the sales volume this year is expected to equal or exceed any holiday shopping season in the city's history.

Merchants are telling their Christmas story in scores of advertisements in today big issue of The News-Journal. Listed are many gifts which were almost impossible to obtain during and immediately after the war.

For the convenience of the shopper who can't seem to get away from the job during the day, the stores will be open until 9 p. m. next Monday and every Monday until Christmas. The same schedule will be observed from Monday through Thursday of Christmas week.

Gift buying will be given a shot in the arm about the middle of next week when nearly 5,500 Mansfielders will collect $415,000 in Christmas savings funds. Banks have announced the checks will go out about Dec. 1.

The toy departments seem to be the most popular places for Christmas shoppers. Even with expanded facilities and help, stores are finding it difficult to wait on all their customers in these departments. Some of the parents bring their children with them to get ideas.

In other departments shoppers are buying more practical gifts.

There will be electrical appliances and household articles on many a gift list.

The pen and pencil sets, which were favorites before the war, are plentiful again and will be under hundreds of trees Christmas morning.

Sparkling lights and a big Christmas trees in Central park will add another holiday touch for downtown shoppers. The lights, provided by the Retail Merchants association and city council, will be turned on tomorrow.

Truman Has Bolstering Job on Bonds

They're Sound But Dollars Buy Less

BY MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON. — The government, through widespread campaigns, sells U. S. Savings Bonds to the public. Some 75 million persons now hold them. These bonds are sound. The promises made in them are scrupulously kept. Every buyer of a bond will get back the number of dollars promised, with the interest promised, at the time promised or when the bond-holder asks for them.

Further than that, the widespread sale of these bonds is in the public interest. Granted that the government must borrow money, borrowing it from individual purchasers of savings bonds is better than borrowing it from banks.

For the savings bonds are kept in the hands of those who buy them, they are, so to speak, sterilized, while government borrowing from banks sets in motion an expansion of active credit, which, under present conditions, tends to increase cost of living and inflation. In the interest of the government and of the people as a whole, it is desirable that buying of savings bonds be encouraged. To that end, and in every respect, it is desirable that the experience of those who buy the bonds be satisfactory to them.

It is not enough that the bond-buyer get back the number of dollars he paid, as he always will. He deserves also that the dollar he gets back should have the same purchasing power, should buy the same amount of goods, approximately at least, as when he paid them for the bond. Granted that some unavoidable condition, especially war, may reduce the purchasing power of the dollar, the bond-buyer remains entitled to assume that the government will not in peace time follow policies which reduce the dollar's purchasing power. This assumption the government has not lived up to.

Omit the art of the reduction in dollar purchasing power between April, 1945, and today is expressed in many statistics, varying somewhat with different lines of goods and in different section of the country. Besides, statistics are figures, they are not concrete, they are not goods. The drop in dollar purchasing power between April, 1945 and today can be made concrete by showing it in terms of goods.

Had President Truman, on the day he took office, looked at advertisements of food prices in the Washington post, he would have found, among other, these typical items:

Butter, 48 cents a pound
Potatoes, 37 cents per 10-pound sack
Leg of lamb, 39 cents per pound
Flour, 55 cents per 10-pound sack.

And had Mr. Truman looked at the corresponding advertisements last week, he would have found the following prices for the same items:

Butter, 73 cents a pound
Potatoes, 59 cents per 10-pound sack
Leg of lamb 59 cents a pound
Flour, 69 cents per 10-pound sack

About the causes of these rises in prices of food doubtless Mr Truman would make an argument of a sort, he did during the campaign. For the present purpose however, omit all that What we are seeking in these figures is the experience of a bond-holder who bought his bond in April, 1945. In paying $18 75 for a bond, he paid, in terms of goods, roughly 50 10 pound sacks of potatoes, and so with variations as to the other items And if he turned in his bond last week he got back only 36 sacks, and so as to the other items

Omitting contentious argument about causes, a chief duty upon Mr. Truman as he begins his new administration is to discontinue any policies or practices which may have caused increase in cost of living and thus w detriment to bond-holders: to see to it that so far as possible the bond-holder gets back as much purchasing power as he paid in.

The widespread distribution of bonds is precious both to the buyers and in the public interest and deserves safeguards in proportion to its preciousness.

Missouri Cave Yields Relics Believed Left By James Gang

PIEDMONT Mo. — (UP) — Harry Wilcox, one of the few remaining residents of Gads Hill, has discovered a cave containing relics either of Civil War soldiers or possibly even the James gang

Wilcox reported he found a small opening while cutting timber Neighbors suggested the cave might hold some of the loot the James gang took here from a train in a holdup Jan. 31, 1874, near here

So Wilcox crawled into the opening A few yards back he found the cavity large enough to hold three motorcars In that room he found an ancient muzzle-loading rifle a bundle of what appeared to be paper money and a hatful of silver coins most of them U S two-cent pieces

A legend has persisted in this part of the state that the James gang secreted some of the Gads Hill train robbery holdup loot in the hills

Also during the Civil War this area was overrun by guerilla bands and soldiers of both the North and South and stories have persisted that wealth was hidden to protect it

Cornell-Penn Tops Today's Pigskin Menu

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

THE MORE we think about it, the more we realize that it just cannot be. . . . We figured that it would be much better to forego that weekly soggy stogie pigskin forecasting session and concentrate on getting ready for turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce and the other fuel. . . . But the hunk of hemp did us wrong last week. . . . So we are going to make it work overtime. . . . Penalty for another tailspin picking week will be a quick assignment to the incinerator. . . . On closer scrutiny we had trouble mostly in Ohio where the picks showed eight right, five wrong and three ties. . . . The rest of the country was pretty close with 43 right, 11 wrong and one tie. . . . An overall mark of 51-16-4. . . . With only a few scattered contests remaining after this week, we find the seasonal record standing at 573 right, 165 wrong and 34 ties. . . . The week's "special" contest is without doubt the meeting between our Uncle Sam's Army and Navy. . . . The Black Knights of the Hudson are the thing without question. . . . They're prime experts of the two-platoon system. . . . Army even goes so far as to have two complete sets of coaches. . . . One under Sil Gillman tutors the offensive units. . . . The other teaches the defensive. . . . All Navy has is tradition, the country's toughest schedule behind them and more fortitude than anybody. . . . It has everything but a chance to win. . . . So we blow up a few prognostication smoke rings from the battered stogie:

Bolkovac Takes Pity On Moose, Won't Use Hands

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Pitt soberly denied yesterday that ace tackle Nick Bolkovac is seeking hand-to-horn combat with a moose during his Thanksgiving hunting trip in Canada.

But the rumor was worth running down. This amazing Youngstown, O., youth has a habit of turning a football tub-thumper's flights of fancy into solid fact.

"There's no truth to the story that Bolkovac plans to strangle a moose with his bare hands," Acting Athletic Director Frank Carver cracked. "He's hunting—but he's using a rifle. Knowing Nick, I'd say that's a trifle unfair to the moose."

Carey Is Coach

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— Tom Carey, former New Castle high and Slippery Rock college athlete, is the new football coach at Ursuline high here.

Turkey Day Has Only 13 Major Games

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK — (AP) — A Cornell-Pennsylvania clash for the ivy league title is the main dish on a slim Thanksgiving day football menu.

Turkey day, once the focal point of the grid season, brings only 13 games involving major college teams. In many cities, high school teams will monopolize the attention of the fans.

Texas and Texas Aggies, usually waiting for a Bowl invitation, will fight for little more than the championship of Texas and Texas Aggies at Austin's Memorial stadium.

COULD TIE SMU

It's still possible for Texas to tie Southern Methodist for the Southwest conference crown if SMU should lose Saturday to Texas Christian. In any event, SMU would go to the Cotton Bowl as it thumped Texas, 21-6.

Kansas and Missouri, both of whom were practically decapitated by the powerful Oklahoma Sooners, meet at Columbia, Mo., to decide second place in the Big Seven.

Utah can sew up the Big Six conference championship by downing Utah State at Salt Lake City. Wyoming plays at Denver in the other Rocky Mountain district tilt.

SOUTHERN GAMES

The south, which has several top notch pairings Saturday, has four Southern conference games today perhaps the best is Wake Forest, which has lost only three in rugged competition, meeting South Carolina. Virginia Military plays at Virginia Tech, a traditional contest; Washington and Lee invades Richmond and Furman faces Davidson in a game to be played at Charlotte, N. C.

In addition to Kansas-Missouri, the west has only Kansas State at St. Louis and Nevada at Wichita.

Colgate faces Brown in the usual morning contest at Providence and San Francisco journeys to Olean, N. Y., to test the strong St. Bonaventure team.

Ohio State Guard To Play In South

MONTGOMERY, Ala.—(AP)— Four additional northern stars have signed up for the Blue-Gray football classic to be played here Christmas day.

Blue-Gray headquarters announced the addition of Ed Finn, quarterback and Bill McLellan, tackle, both of Brown; Guard Ray Dipierro of Ohio State, and End John Rogers of Temple.

Browns Must Stop Dobbs To Beat Los Angeles Today

PASADENA, Cal.—(INS)—The Cleveland Browns will concentrate on stopping the aerial game of Glenn Dobbs when they meet the Los Angeles Dons today in Pasadena's Brookside park.

"The Dons' offense now is mostly Dobbs' passing and they are doing most of their scoring that way," Browns' Head Coach Paul Brown has declared.

"It will be a big week chasing pass receivers by the time we get finished with Dobbs and Frankie Albert in our other game," Brown added.

The Browns, despite their rugged battle in New York Sunday, are 13-point favorites to beat the Dons before they move to San Francisco for their second battle with San Francisco and Frankie Albert.

LIMITED ACTION

End Dante Lavelli, Tackle Chubby Grigg and Halfback Edgar Jones may see only limited action against the Dons. All three were injured in the game with the New York Yankees.

Mac Speedie, Brownie end and leading pass receiver in the league, probably will be held out. He also was hurt in the Yankee-Brown game.

Buffalo, eastern division leaders, will be at Chicago in the only other game on today's slate.

Sunday, Baltimore goes to Brooklyn, Buffalo goes to New York, and the Browns are at San Francisco.

Steubenville Race Track Is Planned

NEW YORK—(AP)—Plans for opening a trotting track at Steubenville, O., were announced last night by Alexis Thompson, Philadelphia sportsman.

Thompson said a group of Philadelphia men had obtained a five-year lease on the Fort Steuben raceway at Steubenville and had applied to the U. S. Trotters association for a franchise.

A machine to make paper bags was invented in 1852 by Francis Wolle.

Minnesota Gridders Choose Co-Captains

MINNEAPOLIS —(AP)— Minnesota's football team will have two centers as co-captains for the 1949 campaign.

The squad yesterday chose Clayton Tonnemaker, regular center, and Howie Brennan, reserve center, to lead next year's team. Both are from Minneapolis.

NAMED SECRETARY

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Walter C. Kolish, 45, of Philadelphia, was named today as secretary and public relations director of the American association.

Bellville Grid Squad To See Notre Dame

The Bellville merchants, led by C. J. Kozak of the Kozak Distributing company have decided to go all out in honoring the Bellville high football team, which finished in a three-way tie for the Mohican league championship.

The entire grid squad, including managers and Coaches Harry Regula and Norm Henline will be guests of Kozak and the merchants at the Notre Dame-Washington game Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

The team will leave at 6 Saturday morning by bus and will return late Saturday night. They will eat in the Notre Dame dining room and will meet Irish Coach Frank Leahy.

The affair was arranged by Kozak, who played football under Knute Rockne in 1929 and '30. Kozak was a room-mate of Leahy and has not missed a Notre Dame game in 12 years, including those played on the West Coast.

The Bellville players are to meet at 5:45 a. m. Friday in front of the Balliett Pool room. The Blue Jays won eight games and lost one during the season.

Wins Top Money

BOWIE, Md.—(AP)—Mrs. O. L. Nyberg's Irisen turned in one of her best efforts yesterday and took down top money in the $10,000 added W. P. Burch Memorial, the Thanksgiving-eve feature.

Michigan's Captain Gets 'Valuable' Cup

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP)—Dominic Tomasi, 20-year-old guard and captain of Michigan's unbeaten 1948 football team, yesterday was his teammates' unanimous choice as the Wolverines' most valuable player.

Tomasi was named at guard on the 1948 all-Big Nine team.

ORDINANCE NO. 48-339

By Mr. Kyle.

To appropriate property for storm water sewer purposes.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF MANSFIELD, STATE OF OHIO, TWO-THIRDS OF ALL MEMBERS ELECTED THERETO CONCURRING:

Section 1. That the following described property be, and the same is hereby appropriated, to public use for the construction, operation, maintenance, repair and inspection of a storm water sewer of approximately 42-inches in diameter, across a part of Lot No. 7869 in the City of Mansfield, Ohio, as hereinafter described, to-wit.

A strip off of the south side of Lot No. 7869, being 9 ft. in width north and south and extending from the west boundary line to the east boundary line of said lot, approximately 198 feet; also the right to use for ingress and egress and handling material and operating machinery for said construction, any part of said lot not covered by buildings during the construction of said storm water sewer only; also the right, after construction has been completed to enter upon said 9 ft. strip when and if necessary for the purpose of repairing said storm water sewer, but not so as to interfere otherwise with the use of the surface of said 9 ft. strip by the owner of the fee.

Section 2. That the Solicitor be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to apply to a court of competent jurisdiction to have a jury impaneled to make inquiry into and assess the compensation to be paid for such property.

Section 3. That the costs and expenses of said appropriation is to be paid out of the Storm-Water Sewer Fund, and the City Auditor is hereby authorized to draw his warrant upon the City Treasurer for the payment of same upon properly endorsed vouchers therefor.

Section 4 That this Ordinance shall be in full force and effect from and after the earliest time allowed by law.

Passed November 15th, 1948

Signed PAUL W BUSH
Mayor

Traffic Men Announce Party Plans

Meet Dec. 9 at Mansfield Hotel

The Central Ohio Traffic club will hold its annual ladies' Christmas party and dinner-dance at the Mansfield-Leland hotel beginning at 6:15 p. m. Dec. 9.

A turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be served early in the evening. A program of entertainment will follow the dinner.

A barber shop quartet, community singing, and dancing will be features of the program. Nels Blocker and his orchestra will play for dancing. Highlight of the evening will be the presentation of gifts by Santa Claus.

Oscar F. Schaller, traffic manager of the Mansfield Structural and Erecting company, will preside during the program. Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor of the First English Lutheran church, will give the invocation.

Chairman of the committee planning the affair is Dwight McCullough. Assisting him are Lloyd L. Pfahler in charge of decorating and Donald Sowers in charge of gifts.

Officers of the traffic club are Oscar F. Schaller, president; James V. McEntee, firse vice-president; Fred Mull, second vice-president; and Howard Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

The board of governors includes E. Lee Connell, chairman; John Bissman, Anton Breinich, Thomas M. Dorsey, Kenneth L. Swank, and Erwin O. Wegner.

No Shortage of Turkey For Trumans; Have Total of Six

WASHINGTON — (UP)— President Truman got a 16½ pound prize turkey Tuesday for his Thanksgiving dinner.

The dressed bird, grand champion of the Ohio International Turkey show, was presented to him by the Poultry Science club of Ohio State university.

"That's a mighty pretty bird," Mr. Truman exclaimed as the turkey was handed to him by club President Paul Clayton. "I'm going to eat it on Thanksgiving day."

All in all, the first family should be able to set a fine table. In addition to the champion turkey, raised by Harvey Welford of Elyria, O., five others have been presented to the President.

The Trumans will have their dinner at Blair House on Pennsylvania avenue where they are living while the White House is repaired.

As in the past, it will be a quiet family affair. With Mr. Truman, Mrs. Truman and their daughter, Margaret, will be Mrs. Truman's mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace of Independence, Mo., and a few friends.

Mrs. James Helm, White House social secretary, said the turkey will be roasted and stuffed. With it will be served consomme, cranberry sauce, giblet gravy, mashed potatoes, broccoli,, and tossed salad.

For dessert there will be a choice of mince pie with hard sauce and pumpkin pie. Afterwards there will be coffee, candy and nuts.

Other holiday activities for the Trumans include a trip to the Army-Navy football game Saturday at Philadelphia.

Mrs. Helm, said the President and Mrs. Truman also are planning an Inauguration Day reception Jan. 20 at the National Art gallery. Invitations to the affair will be issued but the number to be invited has not been determined.

Asked whether Mrs. Truman has selected the color or design for her inaugural gown, Mrs. Helm replied with a laugh that it is much too early yet.

Minister Wants Swim Pool, Builds One For Youngsters

STAFFORD, Kan. — (UP) — The Rev. Arlon Ebright is a pastor who can get things done, even to the building of a swimming pool.

It's not a big pool—the base is 11 feet by eight feet—but it's a swimming pool and the youngsters are happy about it.

Ebright started with a slab of concrete 11 by eight feet, built originally as a base for an unsuccessful church air conditioner. He mentioned his idea to a lumber dealer. The latter donated cement blocks for the sides.

Ebright collared a church worker who owned a truck. He moved the blocks to the site. Masons, called for other work, saw the blocks and offered to build the pool.

Ebright wound the work up by installing a steel ladder and painting the junior-size pool.

Process Mills Grains Intact

PULLMAN, Wash. — (UP) — A new process for making flour which requires no aging and uses all the grain has passed first tests at Washington State College.

The fawn-colored product is called unifine. Dr. Barbara A. McLaren, who conducted the test, said unifine can be taken right from mill and baked into bread.

The new process produces 100 pounds of flour from 100 pounds of grain, she reported. In ordinary milling, only 72 pounds is produced from 100 pounds.

Marshall-King Feud Over Saipan Bared

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Gen. George C. Marssall and Adm. Ernest J. King both became involved in the Army-Marine corps feud during the 1945 battle of Saipan, according to official Marine records.

At one point, the records showed, Marshall as Army Chief of Staff expressed serious concern because Army-Marine relationships on Saipan had "deterioriated beyond mere healthy rivalry."

An exchange of memoranda between Marshall and King, wartime Chief of Naval operations, was released by the Marines in connection with the controversy originally involving Marine Gen. Holland M. Smith and Army Gen. Ralph Smith.

The dispute began when the Marine Gen. Smith, who was overall commander of the Saipan operations, relieved the Army Smith of command of the 27th Army division on grounds he couldn't make it fight.

One of King's hitherto secret memos said the divison's fighting men should not be "unjustly criticized because the relief of (Army) Maj. Gen. R. C. Smith was found to be necessary."

King said he would produce a statement to that effect from Marine Gen. Smith if Marshall considered it appropriate.

Marshall replied that further public statements would "merely aggravate the controversy." He added that the 27th would have "other opportunities to vindicate its record."

However, Marshall struck out strongly against criticism by the conduct of Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr. Richardson was top army commander in the area and conducted a personal investigation of the Smith vs. Smith affair.

After expressing his concern over the state of Army-Marine relations, Marshall said:

"Corrective measures are needed if we are to remove the potentiality of similar troubles in our future operations."

Marshall suggested that each service "point out" to its senior officer that the job of remedying or preventing such a state of affairs "is squarely his own responsibility."

King rejected this, saying "much of the friction was generated by Gen. Richardson's investigation... (and) I can foresee no benefit in encouraging him to make a further investigation along lines he appears to consider appropriate."

The Marine Smith reported that Richardson told him in effect:

"I want you to know you cannot push the army around...you and your corps commanders are not as well qualified to lead large bodies of troops as general officers."

Marine officers, in releasing their records, did not attempt to interpret it. The said future historians would have to pass judgment on the Smith vs. Smith affair.

Huge Silver Hoard At Ocean's Bottom

MANILA — (UP) — A treasure estimated at $1,500,000 in silver coins still lies at the bottom of Manila Bay. At the outset of the Pacific war, the Philippine government decided to throw the coins into the bay rather than have them fall into Japanese hands. The money was turned over to the army and was dropped into the bay near war-famous Corregidor. The Insular Salvage Company already has recovered almost $450,000 worth of the coins for the government.

Marshall-King Feud Over Saipan Bared

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Gen. George C. Marssall and Adm- Ernest J. King both became involved in the Army-Marine corps feud during the 1945 battle of Saipan, according to official Marine records.

At one point, the records showed, Marshall as Army Chief of Staff expressed serious concern because Army-Marine relationships on Saipan had "deterioriated beyond mere healthy rivalry."

An exchange of memoranda between Marshall and King, wartime Chief of Naval operations, was released by the Marines in connection with the controversy originally involving Marine Gen. Holland M. Smith and Army Gen. Ralph Smith.

The dispute began when the Marine Gen. Smith, who was overall commander of the Saipan operations, relieved the Army Smith of command of the 27th Army division on grounds he couldn't make it fight.

One of King's hitherto secret memos said the divison's fighting men should not be "unjustly criticized because the relief of (Army) Maj. Gen. R. C. Smith was found to be necessary."

King said he would produce a statement to that effect from Marine Gen. Smith if Marshall considered it appropriate.

Marshall replied that further public statements would "merely aggravate the controversy." He added that the 27th would have "other opportunities to vindicate its record."

However, Marshall struck out strongly against criticism by the conduct of Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson, Jr. Richardson was top army commander in the area and conducted a personal investigation of the Smith vs. Smith affair.

After expressing his concern over the state of Army-Marine relations, Marshall said:

"Corrective measures are needed if we are to remove the potentiality of similar troubles in our future operations."

Marshall suggested that each service "point out" to its senior officer that the job of remedying or preventing such a state of affairs "is squarely his own responsibility."

King rejected this, saying "much of the friction was generated by Gen. Richardson's investigation... (and) I can foresee no benefit in encouraging him to make a further investigation along lines he appears to consider appropriate."

The Marine Smith reported that Richardson told him in effect:

"I want you to know you cannot push the army around...you and your corps commanders are not as well qualified to lead large bodies of troops as general officers."

Marine officers, in releasing their records, did not attempt to interpret it. The said future historians would have to pass judgment on the Smith vs. Smith affair.

Huge Silver Hoard At Ocean's Bottom

MANILA — (UP) — A treasure estimated at $1,500,000 in. silver coins still lies at the bottom of Manila Bay. At the outset of the Pacific war, the Philippine government decided to throw the coins into the bay rather than have them fall into Japanese hands. The money was turned over to the army and was dropped into the bay near war-famous Corregidor. The Insular Salvage Company already has recovered almost $450,000 worth of the coins for the government.

Thanksgiving Is Expression of Faith

AMERICANS are accustomed to thinking of Thanksgiving day as a peculiarly national celebration inaugurated by the Pilgrims and formally proclaimed a holiday in 1789 by George Washington. It has, however, even deeper roots in the past.

Certain histories report that as early as 1578 when the Frobisher expedition reached the shore of Newfoundland, its members proclaimed their first day in the New World a time of thanksgiving, marked by religious services. Another observance is reported to have been held by a colony on the coast of Maine in 1607 before the Mayflower brought the Pilgrims to Plymouth rock.

There can be little doubt that the first British settlers on our shores brought the custom of giving thanks at the end of the harvest from their homeland where in older times the English held a festival of "Harvest Home" and the Scotch observed "Kern."

The pattern of an autumn period of thanksgiving could probably be traced all the way across Europe to the early Greeks and more primitive peoples. We know, for example, that in Athens each year the married Greek women honored Demeter, goddess of the harvests, in a festival called "Thesmophoria."

Hence, as we raise our thanks today to the God of creation for the bounty and goodness that have been ours in the past twelve months, we are rightly following an age-old urge in the human race to express gratitude for that which is good.

We can be happy that the spirit of our own Thanksgiving day is religious and spiritual, that it lifts us for a time above mundane thoughts and preoccupation with trouble. We can be proud, too, of the nation that has grown from the tiny settlements of Newfoundland, Maine, and Massachusetts to the continent-girdling land of today.

We may well hope that this typical urge to be appreciative of the good, which has come down to us through the ages, may one day spell an end to such evils and follies as we now recognize to be not a part of man's earthly inheritance but something rather of his own devising.

Those Mounting Personal Incomes

AN UPWARD trend of all income has been going on for some time, but it is in order to be impressed by the rise which has taken place so far this year. The department of commerce report covering the third quarter of the year says that personal income alone has reached the rate of 256 billion dollars a year. It has been only a few years since all national income was less than half that figure.

What may be more important is the trend of spending in relation to income. The rise in spending has slowed down, so that it now increases less than income. This may be because people have used as much of their savings as they are willing to use, and now will spend more only as they receive more. It is also partly because people are saving more. Both are good omens for the future.

In the last two years or so large numbers of families in the low and middle income groups have been spending more than they received. If this condition can be corrected and the general practice becomes that of living within the income and saving regularly, there will be far less danger of a disastrous bust at the end of the present boom.

Liquid Fuels From Coal Forecast

A NEW pilot plant to experiment with the conversion of coal to gas and liquid fuels has just been opened near Pittsburgh. Practical results for the present are expected to be in the form of new processes for manufacturing gas for industrial and home uses. Made by present methods, synthetic gas is more costly than natural gas, and has a lower heat rating, so that larger and more expensive storage and piping systems are needed.

There is much public interest in the idea of manufacturing gasoline and other liquid fuels from coal, but this still seems far in the future. As a rough comparison, the processes are said to be in about the same stage of development as was the making of synthetic rubber at the start of the recent war.

Under the impetus of war demands and the loss of natural rubber supplies, synthetic rubber was advanced rapidly to become a practical material, and now competes effectively with natural rubber. So far there is no such impetus for making synthetic gasoline from coal, and none is anticipated.

School Room Acoustics Criticised

IS YOUR CHILD doing poorly in school? The fault could be in the construction of the school room, Lyle F. Yerges, a Chicago sound engineer, told the Acoustical Society of America. He said architects have gone in too much for fancy monumental structures, causing reverberation and poor distribution of sound.

This is a field in which Europe surpasses the United States. In Sweden, the Netherlands and Great Britain, building codes require the installation of sound insulation. Even new apartment houses must meet certain acoustical standards.

Word comes that five out of every six homes in Juneau, Alaska, are equipped with refrigerators—and thus salesmanship marches on.

"A newspaper's job is searching out the truth," says an expert. So it is, though it is not always appreciated.

Poem For Thanksgiving Day

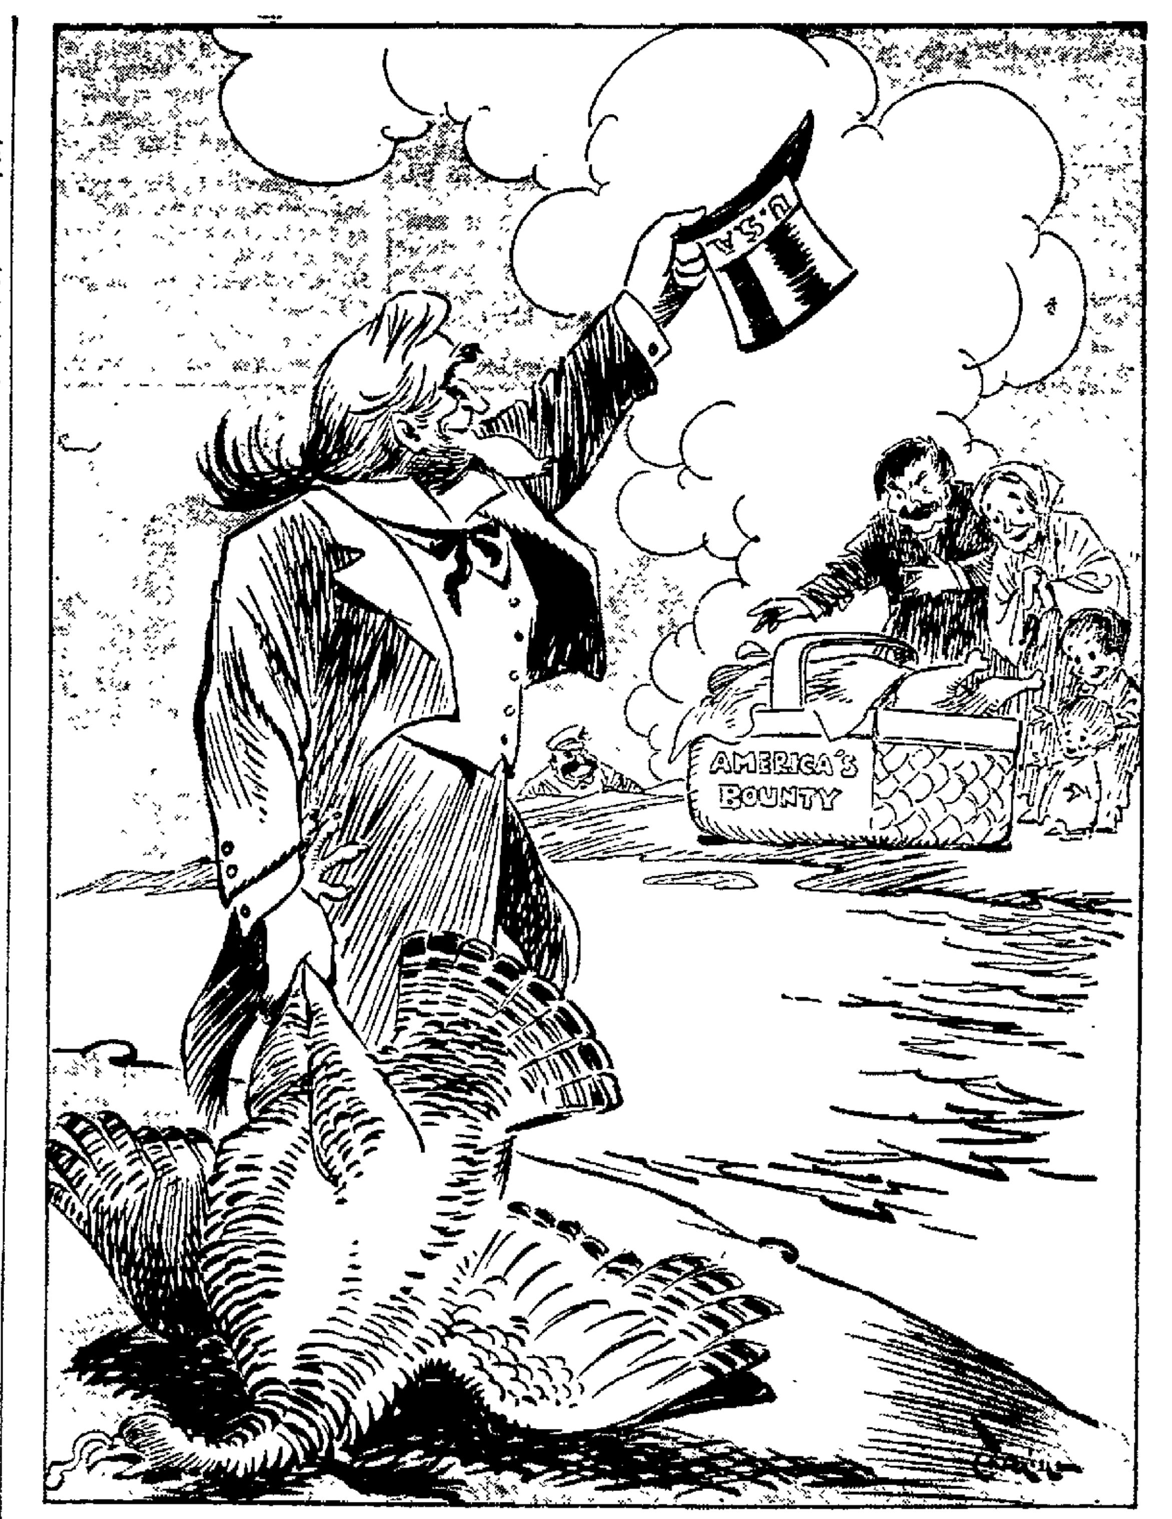
By ANNE CAMPBELL

Thank God for the fruits of the fields we spread
On our festal table; for rain and sun.
For faithful friends, for the hard toil done,
For hours of joy we have harvested.

Thank God for the fruits of a garden planned
In a home where we spend our winter hours;
For the gracious memory of flowers;
For beauty growing beneath our hand.

Thank God for the fruits of industry:
For the worker, strong, with a steady gaze;
For our lightened labor and lengthened days
Because of his productivity.

Thank God for the fruits of a long life stored
Beneath one roof on Thanksgiving Day;
For tears and sorrow, blue skies and gray,
And the harvest of years we reap, dear Lord!



We Enjoy Thanksgiving More When We Share It.

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Potatoes and Promises Meet Head On

THE FIRST big problem of agricultural surpluses has been met by a post-election announcement by the administration of a reduction in the support price of potatoes.

This announcement is hedged by the fact that the reduction, from 90 per cent of parity to 60 per cent, will not be effective until the 1949 crop year. But it is a stiff warning to potato farmers and a rather faint promise of lower prices for consumers.

The humble potato has been a political headache for three years. In 1946 there was a considerable over-supply. The Commodities Credit Corporation bought part of the crop to help support the support price. Distillers were urged to buy potatoes for conversion into liquor.

This idea was not happily greeted by distillers, because the American market does not react favorably to potato liquor. Perhaps this is due to habit rather than to the character of the liquor itself.

Europe knows how to make and apparently likes to drink potato-made liquor. Russian vodka is largely a product of potatoes. The excellent Irish whiskey is mainly a potato product. European countries have other versions of potato stimulants. But corn-fed America prefers something else.

When Secretary of Agriculture Anderson was in office he attempted a bold experiment with potato flour for overseas relief. The cost of this product was high —25 cents a pound. Europeans were unwilling to pay such a price. UNRRA Director La Guardia spurned the stuff, saying that at best he could offer only 1 cent a pound.

Despite these efforts at relief, the support bill in 1947 was $39,500 000 on a crop of 385,000,000 bushels.

The 1948 crop jumped to 432,000,000 bushels. Again, the potato-flour experiments were attempted, at the same high 25 cent price. The C. C. C. bought some for relief feeding in Germany. But this year we have an ample supply of wheat which, converted into meal, costs only 7 cents a pound and has a higher nutritional value Present estimates are that the cost to the treasury for his year's crop will be more than $100,000,000

* * *

Obstacles Sighted.

THE Aiken Act of 1948 provided that most agriculutral products cannot be reduced from the 90 per cent support level before 1950. There seems to be a possibility for a reduction for the 1949 potato crop. However, the Aiken legislation says, "Irish potatoes harvested after December 31, 1949, are to be supported at no less than 60 per cent or more than 90 per cent of the parity price."

"This means that the present announcement applies only to potatoes which are harvested in 1949.

Is that early warning meant to mean that farmers should plan before then to turn potato land into land for other commodities? On the other hand, that stalwart exponent of higher farm prices at any cost, Senator Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, prospective Senate agriculture committee chairman, pledges a support price at no less than 90 percent.

The administration's potato announcement is a plain admission that glowing campaign promises cannot permanently stand against natural forces.

Both sides in the late campaign plentifully baited their hooks with promises to the farmers. Both knew when they did so that bad news was inevitable. And now the side whose bait was most visible and tangible, having won the election, must find means of relief. For potatoes are not the only crop which threatens a surplus.

Assignment: America

Smith 'Speaks His Mind'

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON — The recently published memoirs of retired Marine General Holland M. (Howling Mad) Smith have caused a storm of controversy of late, and there are those who charge that he has harmed the cause of unifying the armed services.

The theory on which such a charge is based is not without merit. Certainly more heat than light has been placed on the post-war discussions of such bloody battles as Tarawa and Iwo Jima as a result of Smith's somewhat uninhibited public portrayal of his point of view.

And unquestionably certain high-ranking officers in the various service branches have done considerable snarling back and forth in the course of leveling off the controversy.

Nevertheless — without conceding or denying any credit to Howling Mad Smith in the issue—the controversy may well be the springboard toward a phase of armed force unification which has not yet been achieved.

In fact, spokesmen within Defense Secretary Forestal's office say privately that the subject will definitely be settled within the next few days—Although it may not be announced for weeks.

It is the question of whether or not all high military brass, when retired, should be bound by the same "service censorship" rules.

The predicted answer, at present, is that they all will be. In other words, either all of them will be free to speak their minds, or else all of them will be bound by the orders of their erstwhile service branch.

As the situation now stands, that is not true. A retired Marine general, according to the rules, can speak his mind - in news conferences or in print of his own authorship—about almost anything he chooses. The Smith series was a typical example.

A retired Army general, however, can not. He must submit such erstwhile "secret" stuff to the current Army censors for approval. If it is not approved, he is bound by his professional oath, and the regulations of his service career, not to release the blue-pencilled material.

* * *

Applied To Eisenhower.

MOST drastic example of the Army rule was General Eisenhower's recently-published memoirs Little mention was made of it, and it may come as a surprise to millions of people, but every line in that book was submitted to the Army authorities for censorship. Ike was bound by the Army rules.

True, in his case, there unquestionably would be a great hesitancy to blue-pencil copy indiscriminately. Nevertheless, it could be—and, in some instances, was—done. In lesser cases, the censorship could well be considered more drastic.

Now to return to retired Marine General Smith. When he cut loose in his series on Pacific battles which he thought were mistakenly ordered, badly planned or inefficiently executed, he did it over the objections of everyone up to, and including Defense Secretary Forrestal.

The Army protested the publication of his statements on the Saipan campaign—yet it was not freed to state its side of the case until after Smith's articles were scattered over the country.

Undersecretary of the Navy Kenney said that he had appealed to Smith not to publish his criticisms of either the Saipan or the Iwo Jima campaigns—the latter being the one in which Smith was the most critical of the Navy. Yet he did not even make that statement until after the Smith stories appeared.

In any case, the point is that he "appealed" to the retired Marine general. Had it been a retired Army general who was releasing formerly "restricted" material, it would not have been an appeal—it would have been an order!

When the controversy finally hit a white heat, the Army took the "restricted" tag off quite a chunk of its records, in order to more effectively disagree with "Howling Mad" Smith. Here again, however, it did not do so until forced to.

A Thanksgiving Prayer

By ELSIE ROBINSON

God—
Light the flame of thanks
Within my heart today;
Help me be grateful for
The things I cannot feel or own or eat
As well as for the feast that I shall share
And for the goods
The years have brought to me.

Help me remember that
This nation still is free
Though many people
Yet are bound in chains
Help me be glad
America still holds
The deathless dream
Of peace within our time
And give us strength
To fight on
For that peace.
To dream and dare
Till it at last be true
Through all the world.

Help us to see our land
As You see it, God:
Splendid with harvest.
Rich with wealth and food,
Warm with deep laughter,
Bright with flaming hope
And ruddy with the glow
That one lit Paradise.

Help us remember
For at least one day
That we are brothers
Bound within one blood
And sharing the one glory
Of Your dream.
And so, as happy children
Gather round one feast,
Let us foregather
Round Your endless banquet,
God.
And raise our hearts,
In gratitude to You.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Marshall Feels 'Reasonably Encouraged'

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Marshall, now pushing 69 and inclined to worry, has come back to Washington reasonably encouraged about the Russian situation.

He has reported to the White House and others that the Berlin airlift has been a tremendous defeat for the Soviet and that the Russians are worried over the way public opinion has turned against them at the Paris sessions of the United Nations.

In general, Marshall believes that come next spring, when the Russians see the airlift can be carried on the year round, they will find their own way of lifting the Berlin blockade.

Marshall reports a disturbed state of mind inside Soviet councils, for two reasons:

1. ERP is making far greater progress than generally realized.

2 The General Assembly has consistently voted the Russians down. In contrast to the New York UN meeting last year, where Russian propaganda was much more successful, the Paris meeting has lined up almost solidly against Moscow. The Russians pretend not to care about this, but they do. It has a bad propaganda reaction in the rest of Europe.

* * *

Russians Regret ERP.

THE SUCCESS of the ERP can be measured by the intensity of Russian attempts to stir up trouble, the secretary of state has reported. The greater the Marshall Plan's progress, the more the strikes and riots to sabotage it.

The Iron Curtain countries even have a hard time concealing the fact that they would like to be in on the Marshall Plan. Poland, for instance, sent its foreign minister to see Secretary Marshall some time ago and told him that he had made a great mistake in not discussing the Marshall Plan with Molotov before he talked it over with Foreign Ministers Bevin and Bidault. Then he would have had Russia's cooperation.

Marshall replied that he had not discussed it with Bevin and Bidault in advance, which obviously the Pole did not believe.

The secretary of state still feels frustrated by the one-sidedness of negotiations with Russia. Moscow operates in a vacuum. No criticism is allowed.

The Soviet makes a mistake, no one in Russia knows about it except the privileged few inside the Kremlin. There is no pressure of public opinion inside Russia to force the Soviet government into a peaceful role.

The United States, on the other hand, operates with the entire world looking over its shoulder. If a bad move is made, every newspaper front-pages it.

Marshall wouldn't change the American system. But when he was in the Army, he operated under much greater secrecy. That's one reason he gets tired and discouraged and would really like to quit in the reasonably near future and go back to his colonial estate at Leesburg, Va.

Business Report.

ATTENTION WALL STREET: President Truman has received a private analysis of the economic situation from his top economic advisers. Truman asked for the report himself following disclosures that department-store sales were down, that the stock market is shaky, and that some businessmen are getting jittery.

The analysis which the economists gave him shows not only that prosperity should continue for some time, but that employment, savings, credit and wages are still climbing.

So is demand for heavy industrial goods. White House advisers actually are more concerned about continuing inflation than about an early recession.

Note: President Truman also telephoned Chairman Edwin C. Nourse of the Council of Economic Advisers before he returned from Key West and asked him to hold a series of White House conferences to prepare the Truman Administration's economic program for Congress. These conferences have already begun. They will draw the economic blueprint which the Truman administration will follow during the next four years.

Washington Calling

Cheer Up, Republicans

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — To most devout Republicans this day of traditional feasting and giving thanks will seem a bleak mockery. The season of mists and mellow fruitfulness can call up for them only a sense of defeat bordering on despair.

Yea without straining too hard to see blessings in disguise, maybe even the Republicans can find something to be thankful for now that the memory of the resounding defeat of Nov. 2 is fading.

They can, it should be added, if they will seize this opportunity to step out from under the shadow of the past.

Thanks to what happened on Nov. 2, the party got rid of some of the most embarrassing mementoes of that past. When the voters singled out such old line isolationists as Rep. Harold Knutson of Minnesota for defeat, they gave unmistakable indication that they wanted no more of that brand of Republicanism.

So the party is rid of a surprising number of encumbrances, the furniture of another day which has now been retired to the attic. B. Carroll Reece in Tennessee and C. Wayland Brooks in Illinois, Henry Dworshak in Idaho, these and many others were swept out.

A clean start can be made and with no apologies. No apologies are necessary since there are Republican leaders in Senate and House and in many states who have understood that it was the middle of the twentieth century and that we could not live by the rules of the last century. These men have been handicapped by the old-timers who went on repeating the platitudes of 50 years ago.

The new leadership, if it asserts itself, can expect sniping from the side lines. Apparently nothing can change the Chicago Tribune.

* * *

Disregarded Warnings.

BUT NOTHING was clearer in the recent election than that the Tribune itself was defeated. Senator Brooks and Governor Dwight Green, the Tribune's personal proteges, were snowed under. It is possible, as Irving Dilliard indicates in an interesting analysis in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, that they pulled Governor Dewey down to defeat with them.

Or, to put it another way, Paul Douglas, running against Brooks, and Adlai Stevenson, who defeated Green, may take the credit for putting Illinois' 28 electoral votes in the Truman column. Stevenson, who was afraid he could not win against the largest expenditure of slush-fund money in the history of the state, was elected by a plurality of 565,000, getting more votes than any candidate since Illinois was admitted to the union.

Douglas won by nearly 500,000. This compares with President Truman's lead in the state of only about 50,000. And it makes the Tribune's alibi—that Dewey's me-too, New Dealism lost the election—sound pretty foolish.

The common sense of the average voter rejected the stale past and we can all be thankful for that. So can the Republicans when they reflect a little on the significance of the outcome.

In the mood of bewilderment and doubt following the election, many Republicans have turned back to a most interesting document that was ignored at the time. On May 30, 1947, Senator Raymond E. Baldwin of Connecticut sent a memorandum to Carroll Reece, then chairman of the Republican national committee. That memorandum began, "I am more than ever concerned about the Republican progress, and so, the Republican chances of success in 1948."

From that beginning Baldwin went on to review the record of the 80th Congress to that point. He showed how on housing, on taxes, on prices and in almost every other field, the Republican Congress was following the orders of the Old Guard. He concluded:

"This record seems far from encouraging. Unless the Republican party can learn to take into account the desires, particularly of that independent-voter group, who are largely young people, I see little or no chance for a continued success, I think—as I have said before—the condition requires strong and bold leadership. To go along with the present leadership and the present program, I believe, is going to mean ending only as another member of a discarded, discredited group."

Baldwin is one of the leaders who can help to move the party out from under the dead weight of the past. The prophetic words he wrote in 1947 apply with even greater force. The GOP should be duly thankful for the Baldwins and what they can mean for the future.

Farmer's Diary

Birds, Large and Small

By CALVIN A. BYERS

IT WAS Benjamin Franklin who tried to supplant the American eagle with the turkey upon our national emblem. He lost his campaign, and the eagle remains our national bird except on Thanksgiving day.

Birds in general have played a memorable role in American history. Columbus followed a flock of migrating birds to the Watling Island in the Bahamas, when he made his first landing. If the season had been springtime instead of autumn, he might have followed a migration northward to what is now United States.

Early colonists found wild birds so plentiful that they were shot, trapped and even knocked over with clubs. It seemed there could be no end to the supply. But as civilization advanced, making roads and railroads, clearing off forests and cultivating more and more land, the bird life suffered. Some, such as the passenger pigeons and the prairie chickens were entirelly killed off. Others, the egrets, herons, spoonbills and terns were massacred for their feathers which decorated millinery.

Streams became polluted, which destroyed food for many birds; game was scarcer which took away food for other birds. The balance of Nature was upset, to make way for man.

Perhaps few people know that the coloring of birds varies according to where the spectator stands. Red, black and yellow are the only pigment colors present on any bird. Other colors and combinations are the result of harmonized refractions of light striking the surface of the feathers.

Layers of microscopic pits on the feathers act as tiny prisms that break the light into the colors of the spectrum. The observer gets the best effect when standing between the bird and the light shining upon it.

Feathers are unique to bird life. Birds are warm-blooded vertebrates, evolved through millions of years from reptiles. Their egg-laying, and the scaly skin on feet and legs are reptilian qualities, and it is thought that featners are just a modified form of scales. All American birds fly—although the ostrich, the penguin, etc., are not able to get into the air on wings. The bones are hollow, the body cavities are equipped with air sacs to dispose of excess body heat and give buoyancy in flight. Streamlined design is another feature that is peculiar to birds.

Body temperature of birds is higher than that of mammal by 2 to 14 degrees ,and their hearts beat much faster. Birds feed upon a great variety of diets—from the fish-eating and carrion-eating fliers to the nectar-sipping hummingbirds. Only a very few eat anything harmful to man. Most birds are beneficial, since they eat crop-destroying or disease-bearing insects.

Timely Editorial

Why Bring That Up?

Older folk are likely to glorify and magnify the joys and sorrows of their school days. They think they worked harder, played better, learned more and made more mischief.

It is a little unfair to dig up the evidence and check these nostalgic memories against the facts. But Dr. Ralph Tyler, dean of the school of education at the University of Chicago, has collected examination papers of a generation ago together with the marks made by mother and father in the good old days.

Today's boys and girls have been given the same examinations and the outcome is disconcerting. Eighty per cent of the modern generation made better grades than the boys and girls who went to school between 1900 and 1915.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

See World Rights Bill For Youth

Health Group Asks Measure

GENEVA, — (AP) — Adoption of a far-reaching world bill of rights for children has been proposed to the United Nations by the World Health organization.

The draft bill is expected to come before the next General assembly of the United Nations. It declares it is "the duty of every nation" to meet the obligations detailed in the seven articles of the bill.

The WHO draft proposes: -

1. "The child must be protected irrespective of considerations of race, nationality, religion, political belief, economic or social condition.

. "The child must be given the means requisite for his normal physical, mental and social development, including the provision of adequate housing, nutrition and education. The child has a right to the best care of his health which is a state of complete physical, mental and social well being, and not merely the absence of disease or infirmity.

3 "The child should live within a family in an atmosphere of love and security, which is incomparably the best environment for his development. If the child is deprived of a normal family life, the community must provide him with a home which produces as nearly as possible a healthy family environment.

4 "The child that is hungry must be fed. The child that is sick must be nursed. The child that is physically, mentally or socially handicapped must be helped. The maladjusted child must be re-educated. The orphan and the waif must be sheltered and succoured. The child must be the first to receive relief in times of distress.

5. "The child must enjoy the full benefits provided by social welfare and social security schemes. The child must receive, through the discovery and development of his individual abilities, a training which will enable him, at the right time, to earn a livelihood and to conduct his life so as to become a responsible member of society.

6. "The child must be protected against every form of exploitation and must be provided with adequate recreation, leisure and rest.

7. "The child must be brought up in the consciousness that his maximum of achievement and satisfaction will be gained by the devotion of his energy and talents to the service of his fellowmen. The ability to live harmoniously in a changing total environment is essential to the healthy development of the child, and must be promoted. The child must be given opportunity and encouragement to assume social responsibilities at first in his family and later in the local, the state and the international community."

The draft, as drawn up by the WHO did not specify up to what age children should be regarded as entitled to the rights conveyed by the bill.

Army Seeks 10,000 Second Lieutenants

Ten thousand second lieutenants are being sought by the army and air force, Capt. R. L. Pine of Mansfield recruiting station has announced.

Special consideration will be given to World War II veterans and college graduates, Capt. Pine said.

Church Zone Parley Held

Pastors and Sunday school representatives of the Ashland zone of the Church of the Nazarene met in Mansfield Tuesday for a conference session.

They were guests of Rev. A. H. Perry, pastor, and members of the Mansfield Church of the Nazarene, Reba avenue.

During the all-day meeting, talks were given by Rev. Roy Stevens, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene in Columbus, and chairman of the district Sunday school board; Rev. Arthur Frederick of Mt. Vernon, Rev. Miles Simmons of Portsmouth, Rev. C. D. Westhaver and Rev. C H. Little of Ironton, members of the board.

The conference closed with a message by Rev. Fred Thomas, evangelist, who has been conducting a successful series of meetings at the church this week.

Representatives were present from Wooster, Mt. Gilead, Mt. Vernon, Shelby and Loudonville.

Launch New Drive

DAYTON —(AP)— Another drive for farm products to be sent to the hungry overseas has been launched by religious organizations. Officials of the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP) said today that 75,000 volunteer solicitors in 1,500 agricultural counties of 23 states had started gathering pledges.

See Large Tax Refund

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The government is preparing to hand back millions of dollars to the American labor force who overpaid with-holding income taxes during the first four months of 1948.

The Internal Revenue bureau conservatively estimates the number of employes who will receive tax rebates at from twenty-five to forty million workers.

Bureau officials who have the headache every year of meeting tax overpayments has an unusually acute one this year. It all results from the five billion personal income tax reduction bill passed b the republican 80th congress.

Holiday Near, Children Lose Their Turkey

DAYTON—(AP)—Anybody seen a pet wild turkey that cost a lot of kids' nickels and dimes when he was a little fellow?

The kids who sell pop and candy at the Dayton Art Institute contributed their profits last spring to buy him from a man in Texas for the little zoo in the institute's back yard.

The turkey didn't come in to roost last night. Director Siegfried Weng, noting that Thanksgiving is tomorrow, issued an appeal for anyone who has the turkey to bring him back for the kids. He's their pet.

City Issues Settled In Closed Sessions

Council Drifting Away From 'Town Meetings'

By SHELDON BINN

Mansfield's city council meetings are drifting away from the democratic procedure.

The legislators have developed a law making process that ignores the spirit, if not the letter of the democratic system. The people are not being given a chance to hear both sides of the issue or the consequences of it.

Too many debatable issues are being settled behind closed doors and not in open meetings where the voters can learn what councilmen are thinking and doing about city problems.

Council is composed of nine members, one from each of the city's six wards, plus three councilmen-at-large. A non-voting council president presides.

If he considers it worthy, a councilman sponsors a bill requested by a department head, the mayor, or a group of private citizens.

He meets with the proper committee, discusses the measure, orders the solicitor to draw up the bill and then introduces it at the next meeting.

According to the law, the proposed bill is debated and then a vote is taken. All ordinances require three readings, but council can suspend the second and third readings and act on the measure the same night that it is introduced.

The mayor then either signs or vetoes the bill. His veto can be overridden by a two-thirds majority of council.

The law making process for city councils as prescribed by law follows the procedure of the national Congress. Mansfield council follows the pattern in all but one—and the most important—respect.

The Senate and House of Representatives debate the issues of the day in public. City council usually debates the issue behind closed doors.

The people of the nation get a chance to hear both sides of any issue from the proponents of the two points of view.

But the people of Mansfield do not get the same opportunity. City council rarely debates an issue in public. In the last 11 months, only once has any sort of floor debate occurred, and that was during a recess when no particular measure was being discussed.

Even such a highly controversial measure as daylight saving time was voted on without one word of debate. The vote was split, five to four, but there was no discussion.

Other measures on which there could certainly be two points of view, are passed unanimously without discussion.

Whatever there is that needs debating is ironed out behind closed doors in "star chamber" sessions. The public never gets a chance to hear both sides of a question or why the measure was introduced.

Why has city council debased the traditional "town meeting" system for a "secret meeting" form?

PREFER QUIET SESSIONS

There are several factors. Apparently the councilmen think that more is accomplished and things run smoother without the friction of a debate and without the airing of both sides of the question before the public. They feel it is better to keep the debatable points quiet.

Friction, however, is the lifeblood of the democratic process. The elimination of friction for the sake of "good feelings" and efficiency is, in a way, the totalitarian method.

But council, the younger members following in the footsteps of their elder colleagues, continues to follow this "clased session" system of law making. When a proposed law gets to the floor, the debate is over, and councilmen merely go through the routine of casting their votes in public.

Councilmen have pointed out that settling the issues in committee session speeds the law-making process. Admittedly, meetings would be longer if there were discussions. But the answer may be in meeting oftener than once a month, the council practice for a number of years.

Occasionally special sessions are called, but usually when a question can't wait until the next regular meeting.

Too often the committee caucus sessions are "off the record" or even scheduled secretly. Under these conditions the public knows nothing of what has transpired until it sees the result in the final council vote.

Thanks Postal Workers for Aid

Mansfield and Richland County postal employes yesterday got a verbal pat on the back for "their enthusiastic aid and advice concerning mailing arrangements for the 1948 Christmas seal sale," from Mrs. Margaret Adams, executive secretary of the Richland County Tuberculosis association.

The Seal sale began Monday, aiming at a goal of $14,500. The campaign is conducted by mail and first day receipts totaled $787.75.

Mrs. Adams pointed out that the seals are distributed and paid for by mail and that inasmuch as seals are used on letters and packages, the post office reminds people all over the country of the national fight against tuberculosis.

Richard Stander, president of Ohio State Alumni association of Richland county, will preside.

Court Warns Parents of 2

Charges of leaving and abandoning her two children, aged two months and two years, filed against Mrs. Helen Burghard, of 183 East Fourth street, were dismissed yesterday by Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer

Her husband, Clyde, who had filed the charges, was ordered to pay court costs. Both were warned that similar behavior in the future might result in the children being placed in a home.

Insurance Loss Looms

LONDON—(AP)—King George's illness which caused cancellation of the royal visit to Australia and New Zealand next year may cost insurance firms from a million to three million dollars.

Brokers and underwriters connected with Lloyds estimated the probable claims at 250,000 pounds ($1,000,000). The Daily Express said the claims likely would total 750,000 pounds ($3,000,000).

The policies were held by catering firms, amusement companies, flag makers and others who stood to benefit from the royal visit to Australia and New Zealand, but had to invest heavily in advance. King George is suffering an ailment affecting the arteries in his legs.

Mothers' Day Founder Dies Penniless

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)— Anna M. Jarvis, lonely spinster who founded Mother's Day and then fought vigorously but in vain against its commercialization, died yesterday at 84—blind and penniless.

Her death in a quiet sanatorium in suburban West Chester followed a long illness.

Miss Jarvis died of old age, doctors said. She had lived in the home since early 1944 when friends learning of her impoverished plight collected funds and placed her there.

Deeply sentimental, Miss Jarvis started the Mother's Day observance on the second anniversary of her own mother's death—May 9, 1907—by gathering a few friends at her home for a memorial service.

The movement spread. Miss Jarvis wrote to legislative and executive officers of nations and states urging adoption of the day legally. Finally her prodding pen, waxing sentimental, won over President Woodrow Wilson. In 1914 he proclaimed the second Sunday in May a "flag holiday"—honoring the nation's mothers.

Special Council Meeting Called

The second special meeting of city council this month has been called for Monday at 7:30 p. m.

Council will consider supplementary appropriations for several city departments. The question of establishing two more sewer districts, one in South Boulevards and the other in the Harvard avenue area also may be on the agenda.

TUCSON, Ariz. —(AP)—Thomas E. Dewey departed for home yesterday with the assertion "I have no political plans except the completion of my term as governor of New York which has two years to run."

Farmers Elect 90 AAA Committeemen

Ninety community committeemen for the Agricultural Adjustment Administration were elected yesterday by a vote of 373 Richland county farmers. Five men from each of the county's 18 townships will represent the Triple-A in their areas.

Ballots were counted at the county AAA office yesterday afternoon. Ballots were cast during the past two weeks, most of them having been returned by mail.

A number of the candidates tied in the election. Some of the chairmanships of the committees were in dispute because of the tie votes. Guy L. Taylor, chairman of the Richland county AAA, said the deadlocks would be straightened out in the townships in which the disputes occurred.

Community committeemen are contact men between the AAA office and the farmers. They are the final link between the administrators of the federal agricultural program in Washington and the recipients of its benefits.

They serve without pay except when special meetings are called.

The townships and the men elected from each follow:

Madison — Clifton C. Balliett, Arthur F. Baumberger, Kenneth G. Nixon, W. Paul Stewart and Richard Wolford

Washington — Floyd A. Dickson, J. Robert Fulton, W. Melvin Kochheiser, H. K. Lehnhart and G. B. Ray.

Consider Merger Plan

Closing of the one-room Beer school and shifting of the pupils there to other schools in Madison township is under consideration, Supt. Olan LaRue said yesterday.

LaRue held a meeting with the principals of schools in the township to discuss the matter Tuesday night. Another meeting has been called for next Thursday to go into the matter further, he said.

Closing of the school would permit shifting of the teacher there to the East Mansfield school. LaRue pointed out that there is a shortage of teachers now and altogether four teachers will be needed at the East Mansfield school when the four-room addition is ready for occupancy.

The new addition is expected to be ready in January. LaRue said school officials are studying means of relieving crowded conditions in the various schools. If the principals should decide it would be an advantage to close the school, then such a proposal would have to be submitted to the Madison board of education for its consideration.

Shelby Books Final Concert

SHELBY—The New York Art Quartet will appear at 8 p. m. Friday in the high school auditorium in the final of the community entertainment series. It is being sponsored by the Cooperative club, Business and Professional Women's club, Rotary club, Exchange club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The ensemble is composed of Lawrence Sommers, violinist; Barbara Denenholz, pianist; Walter Paisecki, cellist, and Francesca Cona, coloratura soprano. Each of the artists has achieved an enviable reputation in his own right.

English Teachers At Convention

Four Mansfield teachers are attending the annual convention of the National Council of Teachers of English which convenes in Chicago, beginning today and continuing through Saturday.

They are Miss Virginia Mickey Mickey from Bowman school, Mrs. Mabel Ferguson, Miss Elsie McFadden and Miss Louise Lynch from John Simpson junior high school. Miss McFadden and Miss Mickey are the official directors elected to represent the Mansfield Council of Teachers of English.

Theme of the convention will be "English for Maturity." Alan Lomax, James A. Michener and other nationally-known authorities in the fields of English and creative art will speak.

Song Thefts Even Extend To Football

Redskins Play To Aged Theme

WASHINGTON, — (UP) — Seems there are very few original tunes anymore.

"The Eyes of Texas" — Anthem of the proud Lone Star State—is billed as original. Pffffl! It's a theft from "I've Been Workin' on the Railroad," which, in turn, is a steal from "I've Been Workin' on the Levee."

So what would you-all expect for "Hail to the Resdkins," the marchy spine-tingler which is the theme song for the Washington professional football team? A steal?

You said it, and you can say it again, and again. It's a whole flock of steals.

The composer of the song is an old fiddler named Barnee Breeskin, who for 18 years has had a band in the blue room of the Shoreham hotel here. Like other musical thieves—usuing the word on advice of counsel—Barnee checks his sources before he steals.

Stealing, in the musical profession is popular. Not to mention profitable. Where do you suppose "Moonlight and Roses" came from original? Huh! Right out of the semi-classics of the long, long ago.

But pilfering of this kind is within the law.

The Library of Congress operates a department called "The folk lore divison," headed by our old friend Duncan Emrich. It's Duncan's job to look up the history of various tunes and rule whether they should be declared "public domain." In other words, whether swiping them would be a copyright violation. If a song has lived through the ages, it's supposed to belong to all of us.

It seems there are few, if any, violations in most of the songs we hear at the concert hall and over the radio.

And if Emrich ever had a look at "Hail to the Redskins" he'd have a hatful of research ahead of him. Between band leader Breeskin and Corinne Griffith, wife of Mr. George Marshall, who owns the Redskins, they ran the scale. Mrs. Marshall wrote the words.

Washington being a border town, Barnee thought he ought to straddle the fence. So the first 16 bars are copied from "Dixie." or "I wish I was in the land of cotton," etc.

He balanced it with part of "Yankee Doodle."

The fiddler thought it would be nice to get something indian in the piece so he hit upon a tomtom he remembered for the middle part.

By accident he struck one of the radio give-way mystery tunes. But don't ask him the name of it—he doesn't know and wouldn't have if they'd called him with $30,000 or so at stake.

There's also—by mistake, according to the dark-haired, chubby leader—a steal from a Sunday school song.

And for a punch—one of the biggest steals of all. From the stirring French national song, "The Marseillaise."

You can't blame Barnee, though. He never went to school to learn music. His pappy taught him the violin and what he knows about the piano he taught himself. He played "Hail to the Redskins" for me on the upright in his home. It wasn't bad.

You can't blame the lovely Mrs. Marshall, either. She took time out to write the words for the Redskins song. What she's really working at is a book she's writing about her friends' favorite recipes. She's gonna call it "Eggs I Have Known."

Slaying Poses Legal Tangle

TINIAN, Marianas Islands — (UP) — The ant-covered body of a native serving girl found shot to eath in front of her American employer's jungle-surrounded quonset hut has presented a complex, dime-novel murder case to the Navy.

The case involves a tangle of legal problems almost as thick as the jungle on this deserted island, the once-busy bomber base from which B-29's carried the atomic bombs to Japan. It is the first murder involving an American in the United Nations territory which the United States administers through the Navy.

Bruce Bitler, bookkeeper and partner in the newly-founded Tinian Produce Company, told Navy investigators he found the body of 16-year-old Ursula Reyes his half-Yap and half-Chamorro house servant, in front of his hut. Bitler said he found his .25 caliber revolver nearby. The Navy is holding him for trial on a murder charge.

Turkey Carving's Simple—If You Know How

Black starts with a debonair and confident air.

First, with neck pointing to his left, Black starts carving on far side, removing second joint with drumstick and placing on a side plate.

Next, he carefully, expertly removes the wing.

Finally, here comes the white meat as Black slices downward to remove succulent portions from the breast, holding the bird with fork.

TRADITIONAL FOCAL POINT of any well-laden Thanksgiving dinner table is that big American bird, the turkey. However, only too often the master of the house, starting with a flourish and a false air of confidence, winds up giving a performance that is strictly a "turkey," speaking slangily, when he tries to carve it. A master of the art, Rene Black, manager of restaurants for New York's Waldorf-Astoria, demonstrates that the procedure really is simple if you know how. (International)

BY HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON, — (UP) —This is a Thanksgiving story which never has been told.

It's about a character named "Vic," a stubby little Russian black bear.

Vic was a mascot of our air farce boys back in 1944 in Hanchung, China. He got his name in a natural sort of way because a white "V" monogrammed the front of his neck.

The teddy cost the boys at the airfield exactly $4.49 in American money. But, according to Maj. John H. Washington, now a liaison officer in the Inter-American Affairs bureau here, it took a couple of bushels of Chinese paper money to close the deal.

Vic became a favorite of the fly boys. He liked the left-overs from the spam cans. And the pilots also knew his fondness for chocolate bars and chewing gum.

Thanksgiving day 1944, came up bad weather. There was no flying that day so the boys wrote all the letters home that would ever get there in months, and settled down to enjoy a Thanksgiving meal.

Canned turkeys were in from the states.

Vic watched the un-canning with interest, his black snout turned up.

Before the boys un-canned the gobblers, they chipped in with a few more bushels of Chinese money for some white wine and made a few fine crocks of punch.

The boys did their best on the fine turkeys and the yams and the jams and the other stuff. But some wine was left over. So they left it outside in the crocks to keep cool.

Vic, who apparently had just as good a nose for wine as he had for turkey, sniffed. As the boys watched, the bear worked himself off his leash. He sidled up to a tree no bigger than a grown-up pencil and, thinking he had spied a forest, hied off to hide.

The boys went to bed, forgetting to re-leash Vic.

In the middle of the night, Maj. Washington heard a lot of snoring in his room. He rolled over and learned that the source of the noise was right beside him in the same "sack." Somebody had had too much Thanksgiving turkey and too much Chinese wine.

A little black fellow named Vic.

Woman Convicted

CLEVELAND —(INS)— Mrs. Tillie Wilk, 47, of Cleveland was held in Cuyahoga county jail yesterday awaiting transfer to the Alderson, W. Va., reformatory for women. Mrs. Wilk was convicted yesterday on charges of income tax evasions amounting to $23,250.

Unofficially, Thanksgiving as Old as Written History

Tradition Enriches Holiday

Lincoln Named Original Date

By SANFORD MARKEY

THANKSGIVING, oldest of our national holidays, is also one of the richest in tradition.

As we know it, Thanksgiving, the fourth Thursday of the month of November is officially less than 100 years old. Unofficially, however, the holiday is perhaps as old as written history.

For America, Thanksgiving is closely tied to the story of the Pilgrims, their landing, their first year in America and their thanks to God for a harvest of plenty.

However, the essence of the day goes beyond the story of the tiny Plymouth colony of 1621. For the members of the colony were deeply religious people and they were well familiar with the days of "thanks" mentioned in the Bible.

Gov. William Bradford of Plymouth colon and Church Elder William Brewster knew well the scriptures, particularly Nehemiah wherein the Jews kept the "Feasts of Weeks"...."to our Father in Heaven we shall always bring the Thanksgiving at the ingathering of the harvest."

The little nand of Pilgrims, having survived their first year, and having reaped the fruits of their toils prepared to "bring the Thanksgiving at the ingathering of the harvest."

Since the nearby Indians had proven so neighborly and helpful, Governor Bradford and Capt. Myles Standish, military man of the colony, invited Chief Massasoit and his tribesmen to participate in the festivities.

The governor sent four men "on fowling" and in one day they killed enough game to supply the colony and most of the guests for a week.

THERE IS a familiar note in the event of the first Thanksgiving.

Just as today it rests upon the women of the household to prepare the thanksgiving feast, so it fell upon four women, Mary Brewster, wife of William. Susanna Winslow, second wife of Edward; Elizabeth Hopkins, wife of Stephen, and Ellen Billington, wife of John, to cook for 90 Indians and about 55 English folk.

Early records tell of the almost unsatiable appetites possessed by the dusky guests. In fact, one account mentions a shortage developing in meat, so the Indians took bow in hand, went into the forest and returned with fresh venison. It is also recorded that the four cooks needed help, and so several of the younger girls of the colony pitched in.

After three days of eating and games playing, the Indians departed, but the white men carred out the holiday festivities for the rest of the week.

As for the first Thanksgiving menu, it consisted of:

Oysters, clams, other shellfish. Various types of fish. Porridge, barley bread and corn bread. Wild turkey, duck, goose and other fowl. There were salad herbs, water cress, leeks, wild plums and dried berries, and red and white grapes.

Apparently, there was no cranberry sauce. The Pilgrims regarded the berry with uncertainty and not until years later did they use it sweetened with molasses or wild honey.

As years passed, the idea of a thanksgiving for harvests spread among the colonies. However, it was never held the same day, or in fact during the same month.

WHEN the colonies were fighting England for their freedom, the Continental Congress called for eight thanksgiving days during eight years and no two holidays were set on same days. As commander in chief, George Washington called for three days of thanksgiving, the last one coming as an official act as president of the new United States.

In the last of three instances, Washinton was prompted by Elias Boudinot, a representative in the Continental Congress. It was he who introduced a motion "that the president be requested to recommend a day of public thanksgiving and prayer by the people of the United States in acknowledgment of the many signal favors of Almighty God and especially His affording them the opportunity peaceably to establish a constitution of government for their safety and happiness."

President Washington followed through by issuing a proclamation setting aside the last Thursday in November as the day of thanksgiving and thus establishing the custom.

In the years that followed many states observed the custom and periodically a president would issue a proclamation.

It took a woman, however, to put the final touch into making Thanksgiving a national holiday.

Mrs. Sarsh J. Hale, editor of Ladies' Magazine in Boston, began an editorial campaign to make thanksgiving a national holiday. Later she took over the job of editor of Godey's Lady's Book of Philadelphia. Her editorials of the early 1860's reached an estimated 150,000 subscribers, an unbelievably high circulation for those days.

AT THAT TIME about 30 states were honoring Thanksgiving Day on the last Thursday in November. Back of Mrs. Hale's drive was the realization that a day of thanks, uniformly established, would be a tremendous upbuilding of home and family, and, incidentally, a factor in helping the magazine build circulation.

Finally, her prolific pen and continuous drive reached the attention of President Abraham Lincoln. He named the fourth Thursday in November, 1864, as Thanksgiving Day with the intent that it should be repeated annually.

The assassination of Lincoln threatened to end the plan, but President Andrew Johnson followed through and the fourth Thursday in Thanksgiving became a national holiday.

It remaind thus until in 1939, when President Franklin D. Roosevelt pushed the holiday forward one week; this in order to aid businessmen who wanted the additional week between Thanksgiving and Christmas.

However, many governors refused to go along with the president and they kept the fourth Thursday of the month. By 1941, Congress found the conflict unpractical and returned the Thanksgiving date to the last Thursday in November.

Even as you read these lines, President Truman will have issued his Thanksgiving Day proclamation asking that the nation offer prayers for our munificent gifts.

While many Americans will attend church services, many more will see football games, and all will unquestionably gather around family tables prepared to do justice to a traditional meal of turkey, dressing, gravy, sweet potkin pie and coffee.

Fear Mexicans Will Be Race Of Dwarves Inside 50 Years

MEXICO CITY—(U.P.)—Mexico will be a nation of dwarves within half a century, Dr. Francisco de P. Miranda, Mexican nutrition specialist fears.

The doctor said the nation must increase its protein intake or be content with growing down.

The nation's diet as a whole is definitely sub-standard, Dr. Miranda said. Mexicans currently are eating worse than even the wartorn nations of Europe, he added.

The Mexican diet figures out to 1,657 calories a day, Dr. Miranda said, while the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization estimates that a diet of as little as 2,400 calories a day is close to the danger point.

"The three principal diet deficiencies of the Mexican people are lack of protein, riboflavin and niacine," Dr. Miranda said.

Lack of protein restricts growth, lack of riboflavin lowers the growth factor even further and lack of niacine makes the average Mexican susceptible to pellagra, a skin eruption with severe constitutional and nervous symptoms, the doctor explained.

He pointed out that "in its depths, the problem is economic."

The average Mexican farmer, if he has a cow or chickens, must sell his milk and eggs to live. If he has corn or wheat fields, he has to market the grains.

The doctor said that the main item on the Mexican daily menu is corn, consumed in the form of tortillas, a thin, flat, unleavened corn bread baked on a hot stone or piece of sheet metal. And there is less than half a pound, 216 grams, of that.

Then Miranda said, comes about half a glass of milk, followed by 69 grams of wheat flower, 47 grams of sugar, 22 grams of beans and 11 grams of beef.

The beef, for example, the doctor said, adds up to one small, 2-plus ounce steak per week.

The average Mexican consumes about half as many calories as a person in the United States.

Atom Pile Nearing Completion

'Pile' Erected On Long Island

By PAUL F. ELLIS

NEW YORK. — (UP) — Construction of the nation's first postwar atomic energy "oven"—one that may divulge more secrets of the forces of nature—has entered the final phase.

It was a similar pile at the university of Chicago where man successfully started a chain reaction of atomic energy a feat that led to the first atomic bomb.

The first graphite block for the new pile, or "oven," being built at the Brookhaven National laboratory at Upton, Long Island, was laid under security regulations so strict that only those who had been cleared by the FBI were permitted to be on hand. The block was one about 60,000 pieces of graphite that will be used to build the pile.

Like children playing with toy blocks, the Brookhaven scientists will pile one block of graphite upon another until the designated size of the "oven" is reached. Holes will be left at various locations in the sides of the pile through which th rods of uranium, or other fissionable material, will be inserted.

The graphite serves as a moderator to slow down the neutrons that come from the nucleus of the atom. Neutrons split other atoms, but must be slowed down to make the chain-reaction of splitting atoms practical. The amount of purification of the graphite blocks, as is the amount of purification in uranium or other fissionable material, is one of the top secrets of the United States government in its atomic energy piles.

When the Brookhaven "pile" starts operating sometime early next year, its inside probably will never again be seen by man. When the controlled chain-reaction starts, the entire "oven," will be highly radioactive.

However, the Brookhaven scientists will be able to shove certain elements or materials into the oven and expose them to the radiation coming from the chain-reaction. In such a technique, numerous types of radioactive isotopes, such as radioactive iodine, will be manufactured. Other projects may include the creation of new elements.

Elaborate precautions have been taken at Brookhaven to prevent radioactive wastes from the pile from being a health hazard. Smoke towers already have been erected and tests will be made constantly to determine if atmospheric conditions threaten to push the radioactive gas to the ground. In such conditions, it is planned to slow down operation of the pile, or close operations completely.

Learn Christmas Spirit

Brownie Troop Makes Rag Dolls

Members of Brownie Troop 53 are learning what the "spirit of Christmas" means at an early age. The 17 girls who range in age from 7 to 10 years old are making rag dolls which will be presented to Friendly House as their Christmas project.

The girls started the project about a month ago when their leader sent away for the stamped dolls. It is a home project with the Brownies cutting out, sewing, and stuffing the dolls at home with the help of their mothers.

The stamped cloth for the dolls cost 15 cents each and each Brownie earned the money to pay for her doll. Brownies earned their money by running errands, doing dishes, raking leaves, and baby sitting.

The dolls are little gnome-like figures with the names, "Snap," "Crackle," and "Pop," stamped on them.

Most of the Brownies stuffed their dolls with cotton or rags, but one little girl is stuffing hers with beans.

Several of the dolls are already completed, and the others are in the final stages. Deadline for completion of the dolls has been set at Dec. 8.

The dolls will be presented to a representative of Friendly House at a troop Christmas party Dec. 15. Each Brownie will tell how she earned the money for her doll at the party.

Members of the troop, all pupils of Rebecca Grubaugh school, include Judy Farry, Patty Bruback, Joyce Shaum, Sondra Kanz, Shirlene Donley, Carol Lee Robnolte, Patsy Eise, Jerry Skeen, Leeann Small, Arlene Stevens, Elaine Eller, Jody Keller, Janeen Houston, Patty Laux, Iris Boters, Mary Jane Gadfield and Sally Condon.

Troop leaders are Mrs. Frank Gadfield, Mrs. Amos Laux, Mrs. Dwight Keller and Mrs. Elmer Houston.

Mrs. Harold Eller and Mrs. Robert Stevens, members of the troop committee, are assisting with the project.

Dog Triplets Born In Air

NEW YORK — (UP) — Triplet canines born on a trans-Atlantic night flight set a new high in aerial midwifery.

A Seaboard Western Airlines captain discovered three unlisted "passengers" aboard after the aerial accouchment of Sally, a German shepherd en route from Frankfurt, Germany, to the United States.

Seaboard, which has flown hundreds of GI pets from Germany to their re-deployed army of occupation troop owners, landed the family at Idlewild. Mother, father, a shepherd named Butch, and children, all doing well, went on to Buffalo to rejoin their master, U. S. Army Sgt. Henry Coleman.

RIVERS DISCOVERED

MOSCOW— (AP) —Three heretofor unknown rivers have been discovered in Siberia. A Tass dispatch from Leningrad related how an expedition of scientists headed by Prof. A. A. Fedorov, of the Botanical Institute of Sciences, penetrated 700 kilometers of Siberian forest trails to find the rivers. They were all in the little explored central mountain range of the Sayansky mountains. In addition to the rivers the scientists found four large glaciers and several large and deep lakes rich in fish.

Neighbors Claim 13-Day-Old Youngster Can Actually Run

BRIDGEWATER, — (INS) — Normand Kolreg, the Lewiston, Me., youngster who walked at the age of nine days, has nothing on Robert G. Folloni, of Bridgewater.

Robert, when only 13 days old, virtually ran. Amazed neighbors of the Folloni family insist it is so.

They say little Robert crawled up onto his knees and started out with just a little help from his mother, Mrs. Lawrence Folloni.

Robert weighed nine pounds at birth and is so strong he can turn about freely in his crib. He has a brother, Lawrence Jr., three, who did not walk until six months but who spoke fluently at 17 months.

Young Normand Kolreg had quite a time of it and plenty of audiences in Lewiston until his mother, Mrs. Lucienne Kolreg, was ordered by a court to halt putting her child on exhibition.

Normand is six months old now and as fit as ever.

WELCOME PLANNED

PANAMA, Panama — (AP) — The National assembly will hold a special session Saturday to welcome seven U. S. congressmen, members of the House sub-committee on Latin American affairs, who arrive here that day.

HOSPITAL TO OPEN

COLUMBUS —(UP)— The Marguerite Reilley hospital at the reformatory for women in Marysville, O., will be opened before the first of the year, state welfare officials said today.

Tunisia Real Test For Yankees

Just Six Years Ago This Month

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Battle of Tunisia, combat forge of the modern American army, is six years and a world away.

Now in November it seems far off and long ago indeed.

The issues fought out in the six-month campaign in that patch of North African wheatland and desert now are almost forgotten in the sweep of new world events.

But the men who fought and survived in Tunisia can never forget it. They remember it as the land where they lost their youth —and learned the bitter duty of men in war.

On this date in 1942—only a week after they landed—the troops were still full of the wonderment of Africa. In his heart the soldier felt himself another Stanley looking for Livingstone. It took a little time for him to understand why they called it "The Dark Continent."

Hope was high in everyone. Algiers and Casablanca had fallen in a three-day skirmish with the French. Tunis looked like it might be almost as easy.

Down in French Morocca Maj. Gen. George S. Patton—so confident of promotion he had sailed from America with a third star in his flag—was chafing. He was annoyed because Montgomery's desert rats had thrown back Field Marshall Rommel at El Alamein. Patton had wanted that glory for himself.

A tight censorship had been clamped on mail sent home. One cunning mountain boy tried in this way to let his folks know where he was:

"I can't tell you where we are," he wrote, "but I always did tell you, Ma, that I'd end up in that place where colored ladies run around bare naked. But so far I haven't seen any."

QUICK VICTORY SEEN

At this time the troops were so confident of quick victory in Europe they would have laughed if you had told them it was three invasions and almost three years away. But the old professional soldiers knew better.

"We'll be lucky if it's all over by 1947," sad a colonel who had fought in the First World War.

And then the army ran into its first real foreign mud—and its first real Germans. The Germans came by ship and plane to Tunis. They came with faster planes and heavier tanks than the Allies had, and they threw the Allies back from Tunis.

The cold winds came and the war settled into a wintry stalemate. Shivering Americans awoke to find water left overnight in their helmets had frozen into ice chunks. They borrowed blankets and clothing from the better-supplied British.

And both British and Americans learned with a shock that courage and a democratic tradition weren't enough to defeat a Nazi in a heavier-gunne tank.

The mud was as disheartening as the enemy. One pilot, after walking from his plane to a tent, took off his flight boots and put them on a scales. They weighed 29 pounds.

It took a startling defeat at Kasserine Gap to awake the Allies to the danger of underestimating their foe. That sad lesson taught them the only way to whip the Germans was to outgun and outman them—in the air as well as on the land.

And that was the only way final victory in Tunisia was won—by massing superior power.

In spring the American Second Corps rode from the southern desert to the northern Tunisian wheat country through land beautiful with flowers. But as they passed the fields of crimson poppies on the way to Bizerte and Tunis they remembered the blood of friends shed there in the long months of winter.

And they thought of their own youth lost and buried there, too. No boy who had gone through the Battle of Tunisia could ever be a boy again.

But he had become a soldier.

Communist's Berlin Push Set For Spring

FRANKFURT—(AP)—American military government officials express belief that the communists' big push against western German economic recovery will erupt next spring.

Officials who follow political and economic trends closely say the communists are in no position to sabotage German recovery now.

They give two reasons:

Socialist labor leaders firmly control most of the key trade unions. The communists are concerned over the loyalty of many party members.

As a result, these officials say, the Cominform has ordered western Germany's communist leaders to concentrate on tightening the party machinery.

The objective is to weld the 300,000 party members into a militant force poised to:

1. Attack the European recovery program in a vital area—the Ruhr.

2. Spring into action as "shock troops" if the United States, Britain and France should withdraw, leaving control in German hands.

The drive to muscularize the party in the three western zones centers around a wide "educational" program, American officials say.

All members except the top hierachy are receiving a basic course in Marxist principles, designed to instill unswerving allegiance to party orders.

Attendance at "night classes" for instruction in communist ideology is compulsory.

"Quite a number" of party functionaries are being expelled, these officials state. Some have quit.

Membership requirements have been drastically tightened. This reverses the mass enrollment policy of 1945-47 when one-seventh of communist voting strength carried party cards.

"The communists are now working intensively rather than extensively in western Germany," said one official. He added:

"This year they are organizing their 'shock troops.' The party is now out openly for the Soviet union. For two years after the war they did not preach the Marxist ideology and did not promise socializiation.

"Now they are emphasizing the Stalinist approach to Marxism. Party members are being taught that the defense of Russia is the most important thing.

"ERP (the European Recovery program) is pictured as too expensive in terms of economic sacrifices. Party members are told that the native resources of Europe are adequate for its recovery without outside aid."

Funds for this program and other communist activities are flowing to the party through neighboring countries, possibly Switzerland and Czechoslovakia, say these officials.

Literature comes principally from the Russian zone. It is smuggled across the U. S. and British zonal borders. (Since the Soviets banned distribution of western-licensed newspapers in the Russian zone, American officials have prohibited importation of Soviet-licensed newspapers and publications into the U. S. zone.)

American officials estimate the communists have 90,000 to 100,000 dues-paying members in the U. S. zone, 150,000 to 175,00 in the British zone and perhaps 50,000 in the French zone.

They are heavily outweighed by both the leftist Social Democratic party, with some 950,000 members, and by the rightist Christian Democratic union, with about 500,000.

In the recent north Rhine Westphalia community elections—the first in Germany since currency reform—the communists suffered heavy losses. Their candidates skidded from 13.97 per cent of the total vote in April, 1947, to 7.8 per cent.

But if living conditions in western Germany deteriorate, the communists "could become dangerous this year," said one official. He added:

"The price stuation is their most potent propaganda weapon. The worker sees stores filled with high-priced goods. He can't buy them—but he says somebody can buy them or they wouldn't be there. Thus he is resentful."

Already mass demonstrations against high prices have been held in Mannheim, Heidelberg and Stuttgart. In Stuttgart, demonstrators battled with American military policemen, injuring five. There was no indication, however, that these meetings were communist-inspired.

An American official who watches their activities closely says:

"The big test with the communists probably will come in the spring."

Tall Girls, Low Comedy In Musical

Spotlight Shines On Bobby Clark

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK. — (AP) — The very brash Michael Todd last Saturday evening presented an equally brash musical comedy, "As the Girls Go," at the winter Garden theater.

The uninhibited Michael Joseph, with the help of an old and honored formula and some effective stage workers, has what would seem to be a hit on his hands, a musical loaded with tall girls and low comedy.

For the comedy there is Bobby Clark, playing the husband of the first Lady President of the United States. And for his distaff chief executive, Mike has borrowed back from Hollywood one of its loveliest ladies, Irene Rich.

There isn't much plot to the musical, as is fitting both for a Mike Todd tune show and a Bobby Clark tour de force. This of course lets the beautiful Miss Rich with nothing very much to do most of the time, except look her best, which is handsome indeed. There are literally dozens of tall girls wearing the briefest possible costumes this side of the French Riviera, maybe even Minsky's.

And there are Bill Callahan and Kathryn Lee, a brace of exciting dancers: Hobart Cavanaugh, an other expert Hollywood expatriat Berry Lou Barto, a younger carbon of her sister, Nancy Walker; and others of varying importance to the plot, or what passes for one.

Jimmy McHugh composed the music, which isn't much according to the best Broadway stage standards, but will suffice, Bobby Clark being the only really important thing in a Bobby Clark musical.

Harold Adamson's lyrics are good-to-middling. William Roos, who wrote the book, certainly is no genius for organization, or maybe he is, at that. Anyone who can compose the sort of daffy, disjointed literature Bobby Clark slings about in his own peculiarly wonderful fashion may be just the fellow we need to balance the budget. Howard Bay's settings are tastefully gaudy and Oleg Cassini's costumes are revealing and stylish.

There are things wrong with the show, but there is more than enough amusement, mostly supplied by the expert Bobby Clark, to call it a very satisfying evening. Mike Todd there seems to have found an old hokum bucket which shortly will be full of shekels.

Textiles Get Machine Test

UTICA, N. Y. — (UP) — If you want to lose your shirt, just drop in at the new textile testing laboratory of the Utica Institute of Applied Arts and Sciences.

The lab has machines that will not only rip up shirts, but also sheets, stockings, tablecloths and anything else that comes along. The purpose is to test the strength and wearing qualities of textiles.

The state-supported institute is the only technicial-level textile school in the country, officials say.

Piano Title Needed Here

SAN DIEGO (U.P.) — In San Diego if you own a piano you can play it and there is nothing the neighbors can do about it—in spite of a city anti-noise ordinance.

The City Planning Commission's zoning committee decided at a special hearing resulting from a petition of 10 neighbors to revoke a zone variance granted last year to E. B. Prince, of La Jolla, to teach the piano.

Testimony indicated it was not the practice lessons that irked the neighbors so much as it was Price's own playing during off hours.

The committee huddled with its legal advisor, Harry Clark, and emerged with the decision that—variance or no variance—Price could play hs own piano.

Meeting of Former Married Couple, Rivals, Starts Row

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(INS)—What would happen if a man, his former wife, present wife, and wife-to-be got together in a small frame house along with a male friend of the wife-to-be.

Fort Worth was the scene of such a dynamic gathering and you're right—the result was some domestic fission that made the explosion of an atomic bomb sound like the popping of a paper bag.

Inning by inning the blast went something like this:

First inning—Ex-wife and former husband meet late at night in a tavern. They retire to the house where she is to advise him on selection of furniture.

Second Inning — Present wife, from whom her husband says he soon will be divorced, enters with wife-to-be and their male companion.

Third Inning—According to the ex-wife, she is cornered by the other two women. In self-defense she claims, she whips out a pocket knife.

Fourth Inning—Sharp clash follows. Ex-wife claims she is bopped on head with an axe handle by friends.

Fifth Inning—Husband leaps in to separate truculent women.

Struggle then called by arrival of police.

The Box Score:

Ex-wife — Cut finger and knot on blond head. Charged with aggravated assault by wife and wife-to-be.

Present wife — Severe slash on thigh.

Wife-to-be — deep laceration on hip.

Friend — Booked on aggravated assault filed by ex-wife.

Bride Found For Lonesome Anthrapoid

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — (UP) — Orangutan experts in San Diego zoo are trying to arrange a love match for Kokok, the zoo's prize 12-year-old bachelor.

Moping ever since his last fiance turned out to be a long-tailed macaque, and not even a female, Kokok will have to wait a few months before he meets his "bride."

Doris, a five-year-old redhead, just arrived from the East Indies, will be quarantined for six months to get accustomed to the San Diego weather.

After three or four years, when Doris is a grown girl, she and Kokok may have an orangutan wedding.

New and Old In Greetings Offered In Christmas Cards

By EILEEN DEWHURST

"Mail your Christmas cards as early as possible," is the advice of the Mansfield post office. Mansfielders who heed this advice will be buying their Christmas cards in the next few days if they don't already have them.

Mansfielders have a wide variety of Christmas cards to choose from this year. Whether they like their cards old-fashioned and sentimental, or cute and sassy, Mansfield merchants are ready to fill their orders.

Christmas card manufacturers have gone all out this year in an effort to suit every taste.

If you're an animal lover or have friends who are, you'll find a group of cards designed with you in mind. Winsome kittens in various poses appear on one set of boxed cards. Another box of cards is decorated with pictures of hunting dogs.

And for those who like humorous Christmas cards, "Rosebud," the skunk, decorates one designer's cards.

REPRODUCE PAINTINGS

Other cards show reproductions of Currier and Ives prints and paintings by famous artists, Gay Nineties scenes, scenes from Dickens' "Christmas Carol," famous cathedrals, and small angels.

Although there are a wide variety of designs in this year's Christmas cards, the traditional sentiments they express are much alike. Some cards say it humorously and some seriously, but they all say "Merry Christmas," "Best wishes of the season," or "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

In addition to the standardized verses, some cards contain quotations. The cards picturing scenes from Dickens' "Christmas Carol" carry appropriate quotes from the story. Religious cards have quotations from the Bible in addition to the verse.

An innovation in the Christmas card line a few years ago which continues to be popular is the practice of having the sender's name printed on the card. However, the printing of names on cards takes from three to four weeks, so late shoppers will have to sign their own.

MECHANICAL DRAFTSMAN

SCHENECTADY, N. Y. (U.P.)—General Electric Co. has announced development of an instrument that automatically represents on a drawing board the invisible field force around electrically-charged pieces of metal. The instrument does several days work in a matter of hours, the company said.

Grain Traders Face Problem

WASHINGTON. — (AP) — The grain trade, suddenly barred by Presdident Truman from returning to foreign markets, wondered today what it will do with millions of dollars in export orders.

Mr. Truman ruled Tuesday night that the agriculture department's commodity credit corporation shall continue to be the corporation wheat and corn merchant to Europe under the Marshall plan.

This reversed the September 1 decision of Paul G. Hoffman, economic Cooperation administrator. Hoffman has ordered the exporting job handed over to private business as of next Wesnesday, Dec. 1.

Oregon's Senator Morse Attends Horse Auctions

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —UP)—A portrait of a U. S senator by his 14-year-old daughter:

"DAD AND HORSE SALES"

"About the last day of the tattersall horse sale in Leington, Ky.—the last hour, I should say—I saw my father running back to the auction hall. When my father has that suspicious smile and mysterious twinkle in his eye, his next move is worth watching....

"All of a sudden, the auctioneer called in a beautiful standard-bred stallion. He was named Sir Guy Laurel. Really neat. He didn't have the awful Roman nose that is typical of standard breds.

"The auctioneer started his chant ...... 500, do I hear 30, who'll give 40.....600 .....going, going.......gone. Sold to the man in the black mustache.

"How'll he tell mom?" I asked Dad. 'We'll think about that tomorrow,' he said."

The author of the above theme for the English class at Alice Deal Junior high is Judy Morse, brown-haired daughter of Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

The senator is a lover of fine horses, but he doesn't love 'em so much that he wants to lose money on 'em. And he seldom does.

He took Sir Guy Laurel to the Oregon State fair and quickly got out of the dog house with "Mom" when the horse, which stands 16 hands, won everything in sight and promises to show a find profit at stud.

The senator is pround because the incident backs up his claim to the tital of "scratchin' dirt farmer." He's been trading horses and getting the best of most deals since he was a kid. When he was 12, he talked a gypsy horse trader out of a fine five-gaited saddle horse back on the family farm in Wisconsin.

Animals---Rabbits, Guinea pigs and ponies---financed his education up to and including a couple of college degrees.

Today with the senator, it's more of a hobby than a means of providing three squares a day for his wife and three daughters. But he's still as sharp on a deal as ever. He has to be, because Mrs. Morse who knows something about horses herself, keeps an eye on the books.

Every penny spent for oats, hay, carts and nosebags in carefully entered in the "horse book" in his office in the senate office building. The "book" is kept by Miss Genevieve Cooper, of Portland, Ore., his secretary.

"That one has to be accurate," he said, "because Mom is liable to come in to inspect it at any time. Miss Cooper also keeps my records for the internal revenue department. I don't pay any attention to those, Mom wouldn't understand 'em, anyhow."

Mrs. Morse and all three daughters are expert horsewomen. Not long ago, the senator had entered "Spice of life," one of the finest American bred saddle horses, in a big show in Virginia. He had ridden the sleek chestnut through four of five events and was called to the telephone on an emergency. He asked Ed, an old-time handler in the ring to mount "Spice" in the finale. The handler was fraid of the critter, so daughter Nancy, aged 17, took over and won.

Doctor Hails Drug Stores As All-Around Social Spots

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Some wag said there is nothing wrong with drug stores that a few pills wouldn't cure.

"Hold on a minute," butted in gray-haired Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president emeritus of Purdue university. "Drug stores have been selling a [illegible] besides drugs since the Revolutionary days."

The good doctor said it was a fact and he could prove it. He has just completed a two and one-half year survey to determine what's good and what's not good about drug stores. He discovered some interesting things.

For instance, back during the Revolution, the man who stirred up the cures for lumbago and gout also sold window shades, putty, glass and linseed oil.

"People poke a lot of fun at the druggist for running a department store, but how else could he make a living?" Dr. Elliott asked. There's not a very big profit in a dime box of aspirin.

So it is that you can buy a jigsaw puzzle, a pair of [illegible] beach sandals, a three-cent stamp, a 49-cent ball point pen or a strawberry soda in addition to liver pills at almost any drug store.

"Besides," Dr. Elliott said, supplementing the summary of his survey.

"That's what the people seem to want. The drug store has become a sort of social center. The druggist has to keep open at all hours to supply the neighborhood with hot water bottles. He might as well sell the folks cigars, or a deck of playing cards while he's up and about.

"The drug store has come to occupy an important place in American life."

He said you'd be surprised at the people who wait until Christmas Eve to do their shopping—at the drug store.

"Isn't that a kind of public service?"

In directing the survey under sponsorship of the American Council on Education, Dr. Elliott traveled more than 40,000 miles. He visited 30 colleges of pharmacy, and snooped behind the counters of around 300 drug stores scattered through nearly half of the states.

The committee made a lot of accommodations. For one thing, it believes it would be a good idea for drug store to get a firm grip on their liquor counters and heave them out the window.

"Distinctly detrimental to the public standing of the drug store," the committee said.

Pharmacists are supposed to give most of their waking hours to the job of preserving the public health. If they sell a couple of wooly dogs or Christmas cards on the side to help pay the rent, that's all right.

"But," Dr. Elliott said, "this year close to 400,000,000 prescriptions will be filled in the more than 50,000 retail stores."

Ex-Resident Dies In Florida

Mrs Jeanette Herron, 87, widow of S. R. Herron and former Mansfield resident, died at her home in St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday, according to word received by friends here.

Mrs. Herron was the mother of Mrs. Ruth Herron Leonard, widow of Wellington T. Leonard, who is in DelRay, Fla.

Mrs. Herron's body will arrive at the Finefrock funeral home Friday. Arrangements for funeral services will be made later.

School Guard Fraud

CLEVELAND—(AP)—City fiscal investigator Stephen A. Ryan yesterday named 14 persons in what he called a school guard fraud which netted $15,615 between 1942 and 1948. He said all had signed statements admitting they received city pay, but did little or no guard duty.

When Oil Wells Run Dry, Your Car Will Use Synthetic Gas

COLUMBUS,—(AP) — Thanks to the chemist, you can count on having gasoline for your car for many years to come, a General Motors fuel expert declares.

T. A. Boyd of GM research laboratories told of new fuel sources in a talk prepared for the 75th jubilee celebration of the Ohio State university chemistry department. Boyd worked with Charles F. Kettering, of Loudonville, and the late Thomas Midgley, Jr., in developing leaded fuels to take the "knock" out of engines.

You can't expect present oil supplies to last indefinetely, Boyd warned. He added, "and, if and when petroleum fails, we are going to have to fall back on other sources for liquid fuels." He quoted best authorities as saying the time when oil wells will run dry was some distance away.

"Fortunately," Boyd went on, "our reserve of natural gas is as large as that of petroleum, our supply of oil shale is equivalent to nearly five times the known reserve of petroleum and our coal supply is 60 times as large as petroleum.

"When we have to produce liquid fuels out of these materials, the making of gasoline is going to be a chemical industry to an even greater degree than is the petroleum refining industry today."

Boyd said a plant now being built at Brownsville, Texas, is expected to "make out of natural gas by synthetic means 7,000 barrels of gasoline and diesel fuel per day, along with a large amount of oxygen bearing compounds as by-products."

Boyd declared much more research is needed in development of liquid fuels from sources other than oil.

New England Gets Trade

BOSTON — (U.P.) — Southern competition, long the bugaboo of New England's textile business, is the latest headache of this region's inflation-troubled shoe industry.

New England now is the nation's largest footwear-manufacturing area, producing a third of the shoes worn in the United states. But some men in the industry fear footwear's future might be below the Mason-Dixon line.

One of them is a Maine manufacturer, Henry G. Lumbard, who testified at a wage arbitration hearing Auburn, Me, that he visited a Kentucky factory and found shoes being manufactured "much more cheaply than enywhere in New England."

His testimony was confirmed by a Boston attorney, Benjamin A. Gordon, counsel for a Maine manufacturers' association. Gordon said the wages of Maine shoeworkers are "substantially" higher than those paid to employes of competing southern firms.

Ore Shipping Mark Shapes

ST. PAUL, Minn. 8 (u.o.)—Minnesota's sprawling Mesabi Range area is expected to come up with its all-time iron ore shipping record for a peacetime year in 1948.

Huge post - war demands for steel, coupled with a strike-free production year, are expected to run up a new record of over 67,300,000 gross tons, Ray D. Nolan, state director of lands and minerals, said.

It will not only be the biggest peacetime shipping year, but the third highest total in the 67 years since ore was first mined in Minnesota, Nolan said.

International Show Slated In Chicago

English Prince In Diapers Born

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)— His royal highness in diapers, the Prince of Edinburgh, was born into a dying industry.

It is the business of being a king. And for the little heir-presumptive to the British throne—he's next in line after his mama—it doesn't look like business will be too good.

The kid will probably grow up to wish secretly that he could drop that "Prince of Edinburgh" monicker and list himself in the London phone book as 'P. E. Dinburgh, public relations consultant."

For—either as prince or king—about the only real job he will have is to act as salesman, major domo and press agent for the British empire. He will be only a symbol. And symbols don't have as much fun as people.

Suppose after he is on the hot seat—the throne—he wants to throw a cocktail party for his social equals. Who'll he invite? Today there are barely enough kings to make three decks of cards—not counting the jokers thrown out of their palaces in recent years.

Of the 64 countries listed in the 1947 Debrett's Peerage only 13 are ruled by kings, two by emperors, one by a shah. But 40 are headed by presidents.

And presidents now pack more muscle than kings. One of the infant Prince of Edinburgh's distant relatives was a famous president—George Washington. But the little prince can't aspire to that office. He was born in the wrong place for it.

He isn't exactly a barefoot boy with a crown. He'll inherit enough money to keep him in lollipops forever.

But what a life he has to look forward to! He can't sneak off to the ole swimmin' hole with the boys from the other side of the railroad track. He can't chalk naughty words on fences, because palaces don't have fences. They gave him a 41-gun salute at birth, but they won't ever let him play with firecrackers. Certainly not on the 4th of July anyway.

He will be surrounded by equerries, foreign language tutors, dancing masters—all the red tape of royalty. But if he does break the palace's house rules, he shouldn't have to worry about his mother spanking him. Princess Elizabeth is president of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Later as king—if he survives his rule-ridden childhood—his chief duty each morning will be to call up the prime minister and say:

"Whom do I greet today, Boss, and what uniform do I wear? Or have you written something you want me to read to parliament?"

And the best answer he can hope for is:

"Nothing on the docket, Kingie. Why don't you take the day off, and catch up on your stamp collection?"

The young prince stands to inherit a shrinking empire. With the Irish taking another walk and Palestine, Burma and India on their own, the king of England has less and less to protect.

But if his job appears to have a diminishing future, it also can be shown it never was a particularly healthy profession in the past.

Of the 59 men and women who have ruled England since 827—leaving out those two upstart round-headed commoners, the Cromwells—only six reached the biblical life span of 70 years. And only 12 even managed to achieve the age at which the American government pays a social security pension—65.

Five of the 59 were killed in battle, three murdered, three deposed. One died of grief, one was bheaded — and one abdicated after marrying an American grass widow.

The job of being king isn't even as good as a post on the supreme court, where you can hold on as long as you earn a good conduct medal. Twenty-three of England's 59 monarchs lasted 10 years or less. None ever got a second term.

So it's hard to know whether to send the bonny new Prince of Edinburgh congratulations or condolences. Poor little rich boy!

"How'll he tell mom?" I asked Dad. 'We'll think about that tomorrow,' he said."

The author of the above theme for the English class at Alice Deal Junior high is Judy Morse, brown-haired daughter of Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

The senator is a lover of fine horses, but he doesn't love 'em so much that he wants to lose money on 'em. And he seldom does.

He took Sir Guy Laurel to the Oregon State fair and quickly got out of the dog house with "Mom" when the horse, which stands 16 hands, won everything in sight and promises to show a find profit at stud.

The senator is pround because the incident backs up his claim to the tital of "scratchin' dirt farmer." He's been trading horses and getting the best of most deals since he was a kid. When he was 12, he talked a gypsy horse trader out of a fine five-gaited saddle horse back on the family farm in Wisconsin.

Animals—Rabbits, Guinea pigs and ponies—financed his education up to and including a couple of college degrees.

Today with the senator, it's more of a hobby than a means of providing three squares a day for his wife and three daughters. But he's still as sharp on a deal as ever. He has to be, because Mrs. Morse who knows something about horses herself, keeps an eye on the books.

Every penny spent for oats, hay, carts and nosebags in carefully entered in the "horse book" in his office in the senate office building. The "book" is kept by Miss Genevieve Cooper, of Portland, Ore., his secretary.

"That one has to be accurate," he said, "because Mom is liable to come in to inspect it at any time. Miss Cooper also keeps my records for the internal revenue department. I don't pay any attention to those, Mom wouldn't understand 'em, anyhow."

Mrs. Morse and all three daughters are expert horsewomen. Not long ago, the senator had entered "Spice of life," one of the finest American bred saddle horses, in a big show in Virginia. He had ridden the sleek chestnut through four of five events and was called to the telephone on an emergency. He asked Ed, an old-time handler in the ring to mount "Spice" in the finale. The handler was fraid of the critter, so daughter Nancy, aged 17, took over and won.

HEARING CONTINUES

DEFIANCE —(UP)— Hearings continued today on the proposed 15-county Maumee watershed conservancy district with more opposition witnesses scheduled to take the stand.

Doctor Hails Drug Stores As All-Around Social Spots

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Some wag said there is nothing wrong with drug stores that a few pills wouldn't cure.

"Hold on a minute," butted in gray-haired Dr. Edward C. Elliott, president emeritus of Purdue university. "Drug stores have been selling a lot of things besides drugs since the Revolutionary days."

The good doctor said it was a fact and he could prove it. He has just completed a two and one-half year survey to determine what's good and what's not good about drug stores He discovered some interesting things.

For instance, back during the Revolution, the man who stirred up the cures for lumbago and gout also sold window shades, putty, glass and linseed oil.

"People poke a lot of fun at the druggist for running a department store, but how else could he make a living?" Dr. Elliott asked. There's not a very big profit in a dime box of aspirin.

So it is that you can buy a jigsaw puzzle, a pair of palm beach sandals, a three-cent stamp, a 49-cent ball point pen or a strawberry soda in addition to liver pills at almost any drug store.

"Besides," Dr. Elliott said, supplementing the summary of his survey.

"That's what the people seem to want. The drug store has become a sort of social center The druggist has to keep open at all hours to supply the neighborhood with hot water bottles. He might as well sell the folks cigars, or a deck of playing cards while he's up and about.

"The drug store has come to occupy an important place in American life."

He said you'd be surprised at the people who wait until Christmas Eve to do their shopping—at the drug store.

"Isn't that a kind of public service?"

In directing the survey under sponsorship of the American Council on Education, Dr. Elliott traveled more than 40,000 miles. He visited 30 colleges of pharmacy, and snooped behind the counters of around 300 drug stores scattered through nearly half of the states.

The committee made a lot of accommodations. For one thing, it believes it would be a good idea for drug store to get a firm grip on their liquor counters and heave them out the window.

"Distinctly detrimental to the public standing of the drug store," the committee said.

Pharmacists are supposed to give most of their waking hours to the job of preserving the public health. If they sell a couple of wooly dogs or Christmas cards on the side to help pay the rent, that's all right.

"But," Dr. Elliott said "this year close to 400,000,000 prescriptions will be filled in the more than 50,000 retail stores."

Ex-Resident Dies In Florida

Mrs. Jeanette Herron, 87, widow of S. R. Herron and former Mansfield resident, died at her home in St. Petersburg, Fla., yesterday, according to word received by friends here.

Mrs. Herron was the mother of Mrs. Ruth Herron Leonard, widow of Wellington T. Leonard, who is in DelRay, Fla.

Mrs Herron's body will arrive at the Finefrock funeral home Friday. Arrangements for funeral services will be made later.

School Guard Fraud

CLEVELAND—(AP)—City fiscal investigator Stephen A. Ryan yesterday named 14 persons in what he called a school guard fraud which netted $15,615 between 1942 and 1948. He said all had signed statements admitting they received city pay, but did little or no guard duty.

When Oil Wells Run Dry, Your Car Will Use Synthetic Gas

COLUMBUS,—(AP) — Thanks to the chemist, you can count on having gasoline for your car for many years to come, a General Motors fuel expert declares.

T. A. Boyd of GM research laboratories told of new fuel sources in a talk prepared for the 75th jubilee celebration of the Ohio State university chemistry department. Boyd worked with Charles F. Kettering, of Loudonville, and the late Thomas Midgley, Jr., in developing leaded fuels to take the "knock" out of engines.

You can't expect present oil supplies to last indefinetely, Boyd warned. He added, "and, if and when petroleum fails, we are going to have to fall back on other sources for liquid fuels." He quoted best authorities as saying the time when oil wells will run dry was some distance away.

"Fortunately," Boyd went on, "our reserve of natural gas is as large as that of petroleum, our supply of oil shale is equivalent to nearly five times the known reserve of petroleum and our coal supply is 60 times as large as petroleum.

"When we have to produce liquid fuels out of these materials, the making of gasoline is going to be a chemical industry to an even greater degree than is the petroleum refining industry today."

Boyd said a plant now being built at Brownsville, Texas, is expected to "make out of natural gas by synthetic means 7,000 barrels of gasoline and diesel fuel per day, along with a large amount of oxygen bearing compounds as by-products."

Boyd declared much more research is needed in development of liquid fuels from sources other than oil.

New England Gets Trade

BOSTON — (U.P.) — Southern competition, long the bugaboo of New England's textile business, is the latest headache of this region's inflation-troubled shoe industry.

New England now is the nation's largest footwear-manufacturing area, producing a third of the shoes worn in the United states. But some men in the industry fear footwear's future might be below the Mason-Dixon line.

One of them is a Maine manufacturer, Henry G. Lumbard, who testified at a wage arbitration hearing Auburn, Me., that he visited a Kentucky factory and found shoes being manufactured "much more cheaply than enywhere in New England."

His testimony was confirmed by a Boston attorney, Benjamin A. Gordon, counsel for a Maine manufacturers' association. Gordon said the wages of Maine shoeworkers are "substantially" higher than those paid to employes of competing southern firms.

Ore Shipping Mark Shapes

ST. PAUL, Minn. 8 (u.o.)—Minnesota's sprawling Mesabi Range area is expected to come up with its all-time iron ore shipping record for a peacetime year in 1948.

Huge post-war demands for steel, coupled with a strike-free production year, are expected to run up a new record of over 67,300,000 gross tons, Ray D. Nolan, state director of lands and minerals, said.

It will not only be the biggest peacetime shipping year, but the third highest total in the 67 years since ore was first mined in Minnesota, Nolan said.

28-Month-Old Girl Speaks Them All

CARROLLTOWN, Pa. (U.P.)—Amelia Margaret Svidergol has qualified for linguistic distinction at the tender age of 28 months. The curly-haired blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Svidergol speaks English, Spanish and Slovak with equal facility.

International Show Slated In Chicago

English Prince In Diapers Born

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK —(AP)— His royal highness in diapers, the Prince of Edinburgh, was born into a dying industry.

It is the business of being a king. And for the little heir-presumptive to the British throne—he's next in line after his mama—it doesn't look like business will be too good.

The kid will probably grow up to wish secretly that he could drop that "Prince of Edinburgh" monicker and list himself in the London phone book as 'P. E. Dinburgh, public relations consultant."

For—either as prince or king—about the only real job he will have is to act as salesman, major domo and press agent for the British empire. He will be only a symbol. And symbols don't have as much fun as people.

Suppose after he is on the hot seat—the throne—he wants to throw a cocktail party for his social equals. Who'll he invite? Today there are barely enough kings to make three decks of cards—not counting the jokers thrown out of their palaces in recent years.

Of the 64 countries listed in the 1947 Debrett's Peerage only 13 are ruled by kings, two by emperors, one by a shah. But 40 are headed by presidents.

And presidents now pack more muscle than kings. One of the infant Prince of Edinburgh's distant relatives was a famous president—George Washington. But the little prince can't aspire to that office. He was born in the wrong place for it.

He isn't exactly a barefoot boy with a crown. He'll inherit enough money to keep him in lollipops forever.

But what a life he has to look forward to! He can't sneak off to the ole swimmin' hole with the boys from the other side of the railroad track. He can't chalk naughty words on fences, because palaces don't have fences. They gave him a 41-gun salute at birth, but they won't ever let him play with firecrackers. Certainly not on the 4th of July anyway.

He will be surrounded by equerries, foreign language tutors, dancing masters—all the red tape of royalty. But if he does break the palace's house rules, he shouldn't have to worry about his mother spanking him. Princess Elizabeth is president of the National Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Later as king—if he survives his rule-ridden childhood—his chief duty each morning will be to call up the prime minister and say:

"Whom do I greet today, Boss, and what uniform do I wear? Or have you written something you want me to read to parliament?"

And the best answer he can hope for is:

"Nothing on the docket, Kingie. Why don't you take the day off, and catch up on your stamp collection?"

The young prince stands to inherit a shrinking empire. With the Irish taking another walk and Palestine, Burma and India on their own, the king of England has less and less to protect.

But if his job appears to have a diminishing future, it also can be shown it never was a particularly healthy profession in the past.

Of the 59 men and women who have ruled England since 827—leaving out those two upstart round-headed commoners, the Cromwells—only six reached the biblical life span of 70 years. And only 12 even managed to achieve the age at which the American government pays a social security pension—65.

Five of the 59 were killed in battle, three murdered, three deposed. One died of grief, one was bheaded — and one abdicated after marrying an American grass widow.

The job of being king isn't even as good as a post on the supreme court, where you can hold on as long as you earn a good conduct medal. Twenty-three of England's 59 monarchs lasted 10 years or less. None ever got a second term.

So it's hard to know whether to send the bonny new Prince of Edinburgh congratulations or condolences. Poor little rich boy!

Kenyon Dance Weekend

By ANN SCHOENMAN

IT may be called "round robin," "party week" or "dance week-end," but it all boils down to the same thing — a week-end filled with fun and frolicking for college students.

At Kenyon college, Gambier, it's called dance week-end. The eight national and one social fraternities begin with parties at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon and continue through to the informal dance held Saturday evening. On Sunday everyone attends chapel and the division open houses until train time, when good-byes must be said until May, when dance week-end is once again held.

The young men attending Kenyon invite their girl friends from as far as New York to California to attend this gala event. The young ladies arrive all day Friday and are housed in the homes of faculty members.

This year the spirits at Kenyon were not dampened in spite of the rain all day Friday and most of Saturday. The festivities continue despite the puddle jumping that took place when couples desired to get from one end of the campus to another.

This campus in Gambier might very easily remind one of old Europe during the Middle Ages. The buildings are fashioned like castles owned by lords and their ladies.

In the top of the stately towers are the fraternity rooms.

The only thing lacking to make the "castles" authentic are the moats that were dug around the buildings of old to protect them from their enemies.

One hundred and twenty years ago the first well at Kenyon was dug. The college stands 1100 feet above the sea and 200 above the Kokosing river. The stone stairs and doorsills have been worn deep by generations of students and instructors. Four hundred and eighty-five acres of the old college domain are still in use for campus, playing fields, airport, riding paths and woodland.

Each structure put up at Gambier has measured up to the standard of taste, design and solid construction set by the first dormitory, Old Kenyon. The walls are four and one-half feet thick, made of local or Indiana stone. The interior finish of Old Kenyon is of Flemish oak with wainscoting in the halls.

Kenyon is a college for men. The number of students in residence is limited by the board of trustees to approximately three hundred.

Miss Nancy Bond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Bond, 36 Sherman avenue, is pictured with Lloyd Shawber, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Shawber, 481 Marion avenue, between parties on Saturday. Lloyd is a member of Psi Upsilon and a junior. Miss Shirley Anson, daughter of Mrs. Lois Anson, 308 Park avenue west, was the guest of Bill Coonley of Honolulu. Shirley and Bill found the out-of-doors too cold and rainy and spent Saturday afternoon in the chimney corner of the Delta Tau Delta parlor. George Porterfield, son of Mrs. Marie Porterfield, 278 West Fourth street, and Miss Lee Baum of Ashland, were caught on the stairway leading downstairs to the coffee shop. Opening the door for his date, Miss Norma Richmond of Shelby, is Allen Connelly of Shelby. Allen is a freshman student at Kenyon. Miss Richmond is a sophomore at Denison university. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Twining, 58 Marion avenue, are relaxing during a party at the Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity parlors. Donald is one of last year's graduating class who is returning for the festivities. Miss Jane Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Gibbs, 466 Overlook road, pauses during a sunset stroll with Bill Houk, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Houk, 538 West Townview circle. Bill is a senior, and a member of Delta Tau Delta. A picture of vine covered Old Kenyon is shown with its stately towers guarding over the campus with a background of blue sky.

Mansfielders Eat Out On Thanksgiving Day

IF YOU'RE one of the persons who eats all his meals out, you won't be alone today. Many Mansfielders will be following your example in this community of some six dozen restaurants.

Menus prepared by the various eating places are sumptuous, and prices will be no higher than last year. But crowds are expected to far exceed those of Thanksgiving 1947, for business has been on the upgrade in comparison with the previous year, according to Irving Chin, proprietor of the Jong-Mea Chinese and American restaurant.

Mr. Chin has prepared a menu to please the palates of those who prefer either Chinese or American food. Roast turkey with celery dressing and cranberry sauce will head the list with baked ham and prime ribs of beef holding their own.

War Hop Har and Chow Won Pon will supply the principle oriental note. The former is a butter fried shrimp cantonese, and the latter is composed of imported Chinese vegetables and meat prepared in a style similar to Italian ravioli.

For those who prefer seafood, trout, salmon, halibut, frog legs and lobster will be served. You will have your choice of salads, French fried, home fried, mashed or candied sweet potatoes and dessert. French bread and your favorite beverage will be served with every meal. Prices will range from $1.00 to $2.00.

"Reservations have been pouring in steadily for our dining room," said Joseph G. Wright, manager of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. And dinners are a little lower this year than last with prices from $2.25 to $2.75, not including steak.

As an appetizer you will have a choice of fresh shrimp cocktail, fruit cup sherbert, assorted relishes, tomato juice, oyster bisque, pineapple juice and jellied consomme. The entre will consist of broiled red snapper, with pimento butter; baked sugar cured ham, with glazed pineapple; roast Long Island duckling with cinnamon apple; roast tom turkey with chestnut dressing and giblet gravy; broiled sirloin steak and prime ribs of beef.

[illegible] etable choice will include whipped, French fried or marshmallow sweet potatoes, new asparagus, harvard beets, creamed onions, hearts of lettuce with French or mayonnaise dressing, and molded cranberry and orange salad.

A variety of desserts have been prepared including baked pudding, hot mince meat pie, pumpkin pie, fresh apple pie, chocolate butternut or caramel sundae, vanilla, chocolate or mint ice cream, raspberry sherbert, and li[illegible] camembert or blue cheese. Assorted bread, hot rolls and coffee, tea, buttermilk, milk or postum will complete your meal.

"We're expecting a full house at the Sky club," said G. K. Topper, proprietor of the restaurant "Our prices will range from $2.00 to $2.50 with a small additional charge for choice cuts of filet mignons," he added.

Soup a la Dewey, followed by roast turkey with cranberry sauce and pocahontas dressing will be the feature attraction. Tender sugar-cured ham, roast prime ribs of beef, roast Long Island duckling and steaks and seafood to order also will be served. Hearts of lettuce salad, with choice of dressing, cloverleaf rolls and assorted pies, ice cream and fruit cake as dessert complete your meal.

PROGRAM GIVEN

"My Favorite Commentator" was given by Miss Nell Carrigan at the home of Mrs. Marion Downs, Lexington road, at the recent meeting of the Little Flower Study club. Refreshments were served buffet style from a table centered with fall flowers. Candles on each side of the centerpiece lighted the table. The next meeting will be December 6 at the home of Mrs. Roger Bolin, Manchester road.

Double Wedding Held For The Misses Dillon and Fiancees

THE Misses Maxine and Shirley Dillon, sisters, were united in marriage to David A. Conner and John F. Schuttera, respectively, in a double wedding Nov. 19 at 7:30 p. m. The two couples exchanged nuptial vows before the altar of the St John's Evangelical and Reformed church

Rev J C Melchert officiated for the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with beauty baskets of assorted mums and pompons, and a background of palms Two seven branch candelabra were placed at the altar.

The brides are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dillon, Newville road, and Mr. Conner's parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Conner, Woodville road. Mr. Schuttera is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Schuttera and the late John Schuttera, Sunset boulevard.

Music, preceding the ceremony, was furnished by Arnold Lehnhart, of Chicago, a former Mansfielder, and uncle of the brides Mrs. Helen Heston was the organist

Miss Shirley wore a royel blue suit with gray accessories and Miss Maxine chose a gray suit with forest green accessories. Both young women wore a white orchid corsage.

Mrs. C. H. Dillon, mother of the brides, was attired in a brown ensemble with blue accessories, and Mrs. Conner wore a gray with brown accessories. Mrs. Schuttera chose a brown frock with gray accessories. All of the mothers wore pink carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held for 100 at Prospect park pavilion The table was decorated with two three-tiered wedding cakes which were topped with miniature brides and grooms, and an arrangement of yellow and white mums Lighted candelabra were placed at each end of the table

Presiding at the serving table were Mrs. Raymond Harnly, Mrs. James Conner, Miss June Lehnhart and Mrs. Howard Davies. Both couples left for an undisclosed wedding trip.

Out-of town guests in attendance were from Chicago, Ill, Syracuse, N Y., Cleveland, Dayton and Elyria.

MISS BARBARA ANN BAILEY

Invitations have been received for the wedding of Miss Barbara Ann Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey B. Bailey, 422 Marion avenue, and Donald Jack Sauser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Sauser, 2537 Prairie avenue, Evanston, Ill. Nuptial vows will be exchanged Saturday afternoon at the Bailey home with Rev. D. N. Roller officiating at 1:30 o'clock. The service will be for the immediate families. Miss Julia Ann Colby, a classmate of Miss Bailey's, at Northwestern university, and Harold Sauser, of Evanston, Ill., brother of the bridegroom, will be the attendants. A reception will take place from 2 to 3 p. m. at the Bailey home.

Crescendo Music Club Lists Program For Coming Year

THE SECOND meeting of the Crescendo Music club, senior high school student group, for the 1948-49 season, was held at the home of Elaine Hartley, 97 Ausdale avenue. During the business meeting, the program chairman, Betty Jane Garver, outlined the program for the coming year

At the December meeting which will be held Sunday afternoon, December 5, at the home of Betty Jane Garver, 495 Lexington avenue, Charles Green will review the book, "A Smattering of Ignorance," by Oscar Levant. Marilyn Klee will give the program notes and the Carolers, a group of high school students, will present the musical portion of the program

"Music We Live With" will be the topic of the January meeting with notes by Elaine Hartley and musical illustrations by Jean A. Robinson, voice, James Cook and Dick Butts, saxaphone duet; Betty Jane Carver and Barbara Freese, clarinet duet, and Shirley Jones, violin

At the January meeting, the club will study the form of the symphony with illustrations by club members "Music As a Career" will be the discussion topic at the March meeting with Miss Mercedes Blue, elementary music supervisor, as speaker The musical topic will be "The March—Its Form and Function"

The club will discuss opera at the April meeting Election of officers for the coming year will be held at this meeting The year's program will be completed with a musical presented by the members at the May meeting

The club plans to attend a performance of the Metropolitan Opera company when it appears in Cleveland in the spring

The organization meeting for the year was held at the home of the club president, Jean A Robinson. Other officers are Betty Jane Garver, vice president; Elaine Hartley, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs Lois McCullough, adviser

All high school students in the Mansfield or the county schools are invited to attend the meet-

MRS. WAYNE M. KINER

In a closed service at the First Lutheran church, Miss Marjorie A. Gortner, daughter of Mrs. Golda Gortner, 56 Rowland avenue, became the bride of Wayne M. Kiner, Nov. 13. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Iola Kiner, 131½ North Walnut street. At the close of the service a reception was held for 20 guests. The newlyweds left later that day for a trip to South Carolina. They are now at home at 56 Rowland avenue.

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, November 26

ALTHOUGH there is some promise of the intervention of friendly aid or interest in a critical situation or hazardous combination of circumstances, yet unless particular ingenuity, tact, diplomacy and discretion be exercised it may be difficult if not impossible to break up such disastrous impasse Rash, tempestuous impulses and emotions may precipitate a crash, radical and regrettable Possibly heeding intuitions or spiritual leads might assist.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may heed the inclination to use tact, discretion and finesse in meeting difficult and disruptive situations in which there is some hope of timely aid from those sympathetc and friendly disposed. It would be easy to alienate even this by reckless, turbulent and ungoverned emotions and impulses, with disastrous reactions on major propositions, finances, and also personal prestige and popularity. Self-restraint and rationalizing in critical situations might be effective.

A child born on this day has proclivities for rash and ungoverned impulses and emotions, turbulent and tempestuous. Friendly intervention may be forfeited unless discipline and calm reason be instilled in youth.

ASPHALT TILE IS THE BEST BUY!
INLAID LINOLEUM IS THE BEST BUY!
? ? ? ? ? ?

There's a Lot of Argument About Which of These Two Materials Is the Best Buy

WE, OF COURSE, SELL BOTH

So Our Real Interest Is to Help You Select the Floor That Will Be Best For You.

Asphalt tile usually works out to cost a little less but inlaid linoleum is quieter and more resilient

As for beauty — in our opinion — one is equal to the other

If your floor is subject to oil or grease linoleum is first choice If your sub-floor is concrete in contact with the ground, be sure to use asphalt tile

So it goes To get the floor that is best for you advantage must be weighed against advantage — and the final decision rests with you

We at Home Interiors are specialists in the execution of beautiful floors whether they be of linoleum asphalt tile, rubber tile or cork We will welcome your inquiries concerning any of these exciting materials

Early Buyer Gets That Yule Bird

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP News Features

THERE are a few obnoxious people around these days: the foresighted types who have their Christmas shopping done before there's even frost on the pumpkin.

Next to people who boast about how early they get up in the morning, they are my winter-season candidates for extinction. It's not so much that they've put the business of gift-buying behind them, it's the gentle, superior sort of way they go on. And the way they let you know right off the bat they haven't a worry in the Yuletide world except to fuss over a wreath for the front door and pick up some holly, and, darling, the holly this year seems sort of scrubby All this when I'm in a star-spangled swivet about remembering whether Aunt Emma is allergic to wool and whether little Priscilla has gone out of the toy, and into the book, age.

There aren't many of them, thank goodness. But in the interests of my own self-esteem—I'm a last-minute shopper by nature—I recently surveyed those among my acquaintances who were all finished with Christmas shopping when I was fooling around with the idea of a Labor Day barbecue

Every father's daughter among them went a-traveling this summer.

Maudie, with a three-day stopover in Paris, walked among the Seine bookstalls, and picked up a gross of those quaint old maps of the Ville Lumiere.

Joannie, on that all-expense Mexican junket, bought, out a Taxco shoppe which featured quaint, old, made-in-Syracuse pottery.

And Pattie, on her something less than A Deck Caribbean cruise, came back with a formidable sunburn and loaded down to the duty-free line with perfume.

All this is very commendable, but it's not for me, thanks. Christmas shopping is different from any other kind of shopping. It should be done with spirit, at a time when there's a feel of winter in the air, fake Santas ringing bells on corners and crowds in the stores. There should be an urgency about it, a feeling of holiday in the heart and store windows full of tinsel and soap-chip snow.

Of course, if you're going to parcel out gifts from a stock-pile, as though you were issuing ammunition to a regiment, Maudie, Joannie and Pattie are pretty smart people. But that makes Christmas quite simply a day on which presents are meticulously swapped, not a day of giving, In that case, August mark-down sales are perfect times to pick up a couple of dozen tie-dyed scarfs for a song.

Suit Toys to Tykes, Says Expert

By LAWRENCE FRANK
Chairman of the Advisory Committee to the American Toy Institute

THE SELECTION of toys you make for the youngsters on your Christmas list can play a very important part in their education for living. Shopping for toys should be preceded by some careful observation of each child's play interests, by playing with him and watching his play activities Before you buy, take advantage of informative labels and tags which American manufacturers offer, advising an age appeal of toys, based on research.

Most children will develop many different interests, if you provide them with toys that will encourage them They like active physical play; they like imitative, imaginative, dramatic play, they like manipulative, constructive and especially creative play materials. They need toys not only for these interests, but also toys that change with the changing of interests and capacities of the child at each age level

In many homes where there is an only child or several boys or several girls, a youngster may miss out on important play experience because of the mistaken, idea that sertain types of toys are only for boys or only for girls.

Boys are just as keenuy interested in family life as girls are. They need toys that are related to family life just as girls do—housekeeping toys, dolls and miniature furniture.

Girls like to make things. They enjoy pounding and hammering. They have a fundamental need for this type of play activity, but often miss out when there is no little brother in the home, because parents label such toys for "boys only."

It's important, too, for parents and children to share some playtime. Some toys should be chosen with the idea of providing mutually interesting games and recreation for both grown-ups and children.

Here are some suggestions on basic play interests at different age levels, as worked out by various studies:

For the infant to 2 years—rattles and other sound producing toys, things to grasp and pound and bang, as he begins to walk, things to push, pull and carry soft cuddly dolls and animals; rubber toys, bath toys, things to put together and take apart.

For 2 years to 4 years—push-pull toys wheel toys, climbing apparatus; dolls and simple housekeeping equipment; farm animals and zoo animals, sand toys; blocks; paints and crayons; and clay; musical instruments, etc.

For 4 to 6 years—in addition, to those of the age before, toys for store play; doctor and nurse kits; trucks and wagons; more blocks of different sizes and shapes, puzzles; games with words; numbers, time: more musical instruments; simple carpentry equipment; boats and trains, etc

For 6 to 8 years—in oddition science materials; all kinds of mechanical toys: real housekeeping things; miniatures of all kinds; paper dolls and cut-outs; dressup materials, etc.

For 8 years and over—hobby outfits of all kinds, competitive games; games of skill and information; puzzles; costumes and props for simple dramatics: model sets; puppets; construction sets, etc.

Glamor Gifts

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

YOU'LL just have to get a Christmas grab bag, fill it up with gifts, and let the recipients pick. So many delightful new things are crowding cosmetics counters that Mrs. Santa will have quite a problem deciding how to tag the loot.

Everything from inexpensive sachets to swank fitted cases will catch the eye of the Christmas shopper. It all depends on the budget, however, and every girl for herself.

Plush - lined pocketbooks can splurge on a pouch bag of black or cocoa calf with adjustable strap. An outside front pocket holds a powder compact, lipstick, coin purse and comb. Back has large flat pocket for notes and papers; perfume in fancy and luxurious packagings; an elegant kit of genuine alligator calf, fitted with a treatment tray of make-up boxes. Two jewel boxes for precious treasures, zippered waterproof sections for wash clothes, shower caps. Underneath sections for personal finery; solid gold and jeweled lipsticks.

RED, it is for the kitchen,
Combined with grey and blue;
To make a love of a workroom,
Your fondest dream come true.

OPAL, in the newest grey,
For the music room serene,
Sings out, its softest harmony,
To blend with misted green,

SPARKLING, now with opal,
A touch of elegant wine,
And lo! A room delightful
By candlelight to dine.

SUBTLE, is the charm revealed
When grey is wed to rose;
The living room invites you
Enjoy its sweet repose.

RICH turquoise, its brilliance
Alive with magical light,
Companioned with grey, to flatter
Its dazzling radiance bright.

UTTERLY lovely, is maroon,
A splash of peach and grey
Create a room so welcome
At the closing of each day.

GLEAM, of yellow sunlight,
Dancing forth so gay,
Becomes the laughing bride
Of sober opal grey.

COMES, the eve of Christmas,
Comes the Christmas day;
Time of family laughter,
Of family life and play.

OFTEN, through the season
Engraved on every heart,
Is the home. Its beauty
With the FLOORS must start.

All Dolled Up For Mr. Claus

By PAUL C. WAGNER
AP News Features

The Keenan Kids, Sweetie Marie and Sonny Boy—brother and sister dolls—are the original creations of Ann Keenan's doll family.

"Necessity is the mother of invention," said Mrs. Keenan, who now has a flourishing doll business here.

Five years ago at Christmas time, Mrs. Keenan said, she had presents to buy for nieces, but no money, The girls would want dolls. So she made them. Some cloth and cotton stuffing, a dress for the girl doll; and pants for the boy doll. A little paint here and there on a cheek and there were the dolls.

The girls began to take the dolls to bed with them, Mrs. Keenan said. They were cuddly and warm. The soft cotton wouldn't lay hard underneath the girls while they were asleep.

Friends saw the dolls; they wanted some. A salesman was among the friends, and that is how the dolls joined Santa Claus in the department stores.

A Seattle department store ordered 120 dozen. Then a Tacoma store ordered. The orders started Mrs. Keenan in a doll shop.

In 1947 Mrs. Kennan visited a toy fair in New York City and had her dolls on exhibit. A toy representative wanted to handle the sales for her. Other salesmen took the Keenan Kids to other parts of the United States. Now the dolls are numbered in the thousands.

With such success for the Keenan Kids, Sweetie Marie and Sonny Boy, requests came for other brother and sister dolls. Soon Mrs. Keenan had Dickey Boy and Betsy to join their older brother and sister.

Now Mrs. Keenan has several women helping her make the dolls.

Your Child

Noel Joy?

By DAVID TAYLOR MAKRE
AP Newsfeatures

Each year fire turns Christmas. the most joyful time of the year, into tragedy in hundreds of American homes. But if parents knew of the hazards surrounding a Christmas tree, and learning how to prevent tragic fires, says the National Safety Council they could help keep Christmas as joyful as it should be.

How can you prevent accidents from ruining your holiday? All you have to do, says the Council. is to follow some simple rules.

First, buy a fresh. green tree. Put it in water outside of the house as soon as you get it home. If you live in an apartment, place it in the coolest spot in the apartment and turn off the radiator nearest it. Then, cut off the bottom of the trunk on a slant—at an angle with the line of the trunk—and stand it in one of the special tree holders with a water cup and fill it daily.

Plain water is best, says the Council. Chemicals to be added to the water, supposedly to fireproof the tree, have not proved to be satisfactory. Some have made trees even more flammable. No firproofing done at home can be depended upon.

Be sure that your tree is fastened with wire or cord to at least two points on the wall to prevent it from being pushed over by junior.

If juionr is to help you trim the tree, reserve the lower branches for his contributions to to the artistic effect. Do not, under any circumstances, use cotton or paper for decoration on the tree or around the tree.

Get your Christmas tree lights out of storage well in advance. Do it now, says the Council. Look over the wires and examine each socket carefully. If the socket is broken, if any of its parts appear to be loose, if any bare metal is visible where the wires enter the socket, then cut the socket out of the string and replace it with a new one.

If you use metal foil "icicles," avoid the possibility of a short-circuit by being careful not to allow the metal to come in contact with any lighting sockets or fixtures.

Don't attach too many light strings to one outlet. A blown fuse is the singal of dangerous overload. Be sure fuses are the right size and never use a penny in a fuse socket.

On Christmas morning, provide a large basket, box, or carton for the gift wrapping romoved from the presents. Remove the wrappings from the room as soon as possible after the gifts have been opened.

Refrigerator Cookies Are Easy to Keep

How long can you store refrigerator cookie dough before baking? A home economist friend told us she kept some for three months—and the cookies were crisp and fresh when baked. Not that you'll ever keep cookies on hand that long! Once the family's had a taste, you'll find these cookies in demand.

Here's an idea for cookie variety. Mix two or three kinds of refrigerator cookies at one time. Form into rolls, cover with paper, covering the ends carefully, and store until needed. Then you can bake several flavors at once It's a nice tip for lunch box packers.

BRAN CHOCOLATE REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups sugar
1 egg
1 cup ready-to eat bran
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Melt chocolate over hot water. Blend butter or margarine and sugar thoroughly, beat until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Stir in chocolate and ready-to-eat bran. Add milk and flavoring. Sift flour, baking powder and salt, and work into first mixture, a small amount at a time. Knead and shape into roll about 1½ inches in diameter; wrap in waxed paper, covering ends so dough will not dry out. Store in refrigerater until firm. Cut into thin slices and bake on ungreased cookie sheet in moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 12 minutes

Yield: 4 dozen cookies (2 inches in diameter).

PEANUT BUTTER REFRIGERATOR COOKIES

½ cup shortening
¼ cup peanut butter
½ cup sugar
2 cups corn flakes
1½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup milk

Blend shortening, peanut butter and sugar thoroughly. Crush corn flakes into fine crumbs; mix with sifted dry ingredients Add to first mixture alternately with milk; mix well Shape dough into rolls about 1½ inches in diameter. Wrap in waxed paper and chill until firm. Slice and bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 10 minutes. [illegible] Tnglo-

Yield: 5½ dozen cookies (2 inches in diameter).

Put highly nutritious and satisfying sandwiches into the school lunch box. Meat and fish, cheese, eggs, and peanut butter are all fine basic fillings, and the enriched bread supplies energy, important B-vitamins, and iron A favorite "scholar's sandwich" is ham and cheese in a bun, or a liverwurst and tomato combination. Sardine, egg salad, and cream cheese and jelly sandwiches are [illegible] which [illegible] be prepared often. Occasionally, for variety, include a baked bean sandwich seasoned with chili sauce and thinly sliced onion.

Heard Any Good Rumors Lately?

Dame rumor seems to be one of the most important forces in the world—but it's high time people stopped giving rumor a feminine gender.

A quick check-back in most of our lives will show that, man or woman, we've all done some neat little jobs for the dame.

Surely you know the story—or variation thereof—of the dead man in the subway? It's a typical rumor-story that flares up with the regularity of a chain letter craze. Like all good rumors, it invariably happens to a good friend of your best friend.

This woman friend of a friend of yours was going home late one night in the subway (Metro, Paris; Underground, London) and a couple of tough-looking men came in, supporting between them a passed-out drunk. Your friend's friend buried herself in the newspaper (magazine or book) and a few stations later looked across the aisle. The two toughs had gone, but the drunk was still there, staring at her. Well, sir, just about then, the train went around a curve—and the man slid to the floor. Dead as a herring, he was, drilled neatly through the head (chest or heart.)

That's an oldy. I've told it myself—about the friend of a friend—and believed it.

The "Polish Murderers" saga is another traditional bit of rumor—and it pops up from time to time as gospel in some of our most reputable newspapers—and from a number of different countries.

That's the one about the boy who left his native land when young, came to America and made a pile of money. Finally he decides to go back to Poland (Italy, France, Spain—any place) to see his aged parents. So he loads himself with gold, returns to the old home place one evening, and—just for the fun of it—decides not to reveal who and how rich he is until he gets up in the morning. The old folks are very hospitable. That's right. During the night the poor old parents kill and rob him.

Holiday Desserts

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

IF THERE are children in your family, or if youngsters are coming to visit for the holidays, it's a good idea to plan desserts that are not only festive but also suitable for young appetites. Delicious sweets made with gelatin will do nutritious duty.

You may have noticed that more recipes call for one envelope, rather than one tablespoon of unflavored gelatin. Variations in the strength of the raw material itself have been taken into consideration. The number of grains of gelatin put into the envelope in the package is calculated to jell one pint of liquid.

Instead of sprinkling the envelope of gelatin over a quarter cup of cold liquid and allowing the grains to stand for a few minutes until they swell and absorb the liquid, it is now suggested in many recipes that the gelatin be softened in a half-cup of liquid so that when the hot liquid is added it will get to the jellying point more quickly.

Children like light and foamy whips. These clear gelatin mixtures are chilled until slightly thicker than egg white consistency, then beaten with a rotary beater until delicate and foamy.

Pineapple Cream Dessert.

Ingredients: 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 3 tablesoons lemon juice, 1 salt, 3 tablespoons lemon rind, 1⅓ cups icy cold evaporated milk.

Method: Drain crushed pineapple. Soften gelatin in pineapple sydup; place over low heat and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Mix in crushed pineapple, lemon juice and rind; chill until the mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip chilled evaporated milk until stiff; beat in gelatin mixture. Turn into 1½ quart mold. Chill until firm. To serve, unmold and garnish with citron slices cut in holly pattern and cinnamon candies. Makes 8 servings.

THIS year's crop of children's books seems better than ever, judging by the writer's two heiresses, who are just like any other average American girl with the mind of a genius, the imagination of a poet, the charm of a fairy queen.

The fact that kids' books this Christmas cost a little more didn't phase the two young guinea pigs involved. But they did relish the new books more. Perhaps it's because the publishers are using more imagination in ingenuity, more writing and artistic talent than before.

There is, for example, Toni Frissell's Mother Goose (Harper, $2.50.) Here, at last, are the old rhymes sensitively and graphically illustrated by photographs that mean something today. Miss Frissell's fine pictures should help present-day children relate the old tales to their life and not that of another century.

Books like Hustle and Bustle, by Louis Slobodkin (Macmillan, $1.50), and Big Farmer Big and Little Farmer Little, by Kathryn and Byron Jackson (Simon and Schuster, $1), also make reading to children a delight instead of a chore for adults.

Hustle and Bustle is the very funny story in pictures of two hippopotamuses at the zoo who have a falling out and how the park commissioner, police chief, mayor and city council finally mend their broken friendship.

The book about the farmers is an amusing colorfully illustrated two-in-one job. It tells of the eating problems of a farmer so big he towered over his barn and a farmer so small he slept in a matchbox. The latter's story is told in a separate smaller book attached to the cover of the larger one.

For the kids of older vintage, in fact, for children of many ages, there is the St. Nicholas Anthology, edited by Henry Steele Commager (Random House, $5). This is a handsomely bound, wonderfully varied collection of stories, poems and pictures which could be on the family shelves for years and years. The writers include Rudyard Kipling, Stephen Vincent Benet, Ralph Henry Barbour, Edna St. Vincent Millay, Cornelia Otis Skinner.

UNDER EIGHT

Cocolo, by Bettina (Harper, $2.50), The warm, lovingly told story of a donkey who is removed from the home of a poor fisherman to live with wealthy Mr. Fatimus Greedy. The pictures are wonderful — warm, gentle, funny.

The Steam Shovel That Wouldn't Eat Dirt, by George Walters (Aladdin Books, $1.50). The lively, picture-book tale of a steam shovel which suddenly decided it preferred to eat oranges, apples, bread and butter rather than the good earth.

Margaret Wise Brown's Wonderful Story Book (Simon and Schuster, $1.50), Wherein you meet a great variety of fine characters, such as the green-eyed kitten, the terrrrrible tigerrr, the ticklish spider, the fish with the deep sea smile, and the sad sliced onion.

Boo, by Munro Leaf (Random House, ($1.50). Probably more psychological help here than $1.50 will buy anywhere. It's the well-illustrated, sympathetically told story of a boy who is taught by his cat not to fear bugs, snakes, dogs, mice and, most especially, the dark.

Thidwick , the Big Hearted Moose, by Dr. Seuss (Random House, $2). With pictures and text, this is a comedy hit. It involves a generous moose who allowed all sorts of animals to make their homes in his antlers.

Good Work—What Will You Be When You Grow Up? by Dahlov Ipcar (Scott, $1.50).

Forrest Robinson and Bride Return From Wedding Trip

WILLARD—The Grace Methodist church of Willard, decorated with large beauty baskets and vases of white chrysanthemums, presented an attractive scene for the wedding on Saturday, Nov. 13, of Miss Martha Joanne Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Taylor of Willard, and Forrest Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Robinson, also of Willard.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white slipper satin. It was fashioned with a yoke of imported lace, edged with a bertha of satin, the fitted bodice was buttoned down the back with small satin-covered buttons and the sleeves came to a point over the hand. The full skirt fell into a circular train. Her veil of illusion, edged in lace and held in place by a tiara of seed pearls, was loaned to her by her cousin, Mrs. Sherman Hyde jr., of Collins, Ohio.

She carried an arrangement of white rosebuds on her white Eastern Star Bible. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

Miss Helen Taylor, sister of the bride, served as her maid of honor. Her gown was of maize taffeta styled with an off-the-shoulder neckline, short sleeves, a tight-fitting bodice, a full peplum and a circular skirt. She wore matching mitts and braided headdress and carried bronze chrysanthemums. A bronze necklace, gift of the bride, completed her costume.

Mrs. Richard Davis, sister of the groom, and Miss Barbara Shrader were bridesmaids. Their taffeta gowns were of spice and autumn brown, respectively, and were of the same style as that of the maid of honor. They carried yellow chrysanthemums and wore yellow necklaces, presented to them by the bride. Little Miss Edwina Hyde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Hyde jr., was the flower girl and wore a white satin floor-length gown with a tight-fitting bodice, sweetheart neckline and full skirt. She carried a small basket of rose petals.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Taylor chose a brown crepe gown with accessories of brown and beige. Mrs. Robinson's gown was of dark green crepe with which she wore brown accessories. Both wore corsages of yellow roses.

Preceding the double-ring ceremony, performed by the Rev. John F. Herion, Miss Ruth Marie Mehl presented a program of organ music; and Miss Mary Jane Lewis, cousin of the bride, sang "At Dawning," "I Promise You," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Serving his brother as best man was Burdett Robinson, and grooms were James Taylor, brother of the bride, and Richard Bauerle. The ushers were Kenneth Robinson and Richard Davis, brother and brother-in-law, respectively, of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 150 guests in Wesley hall. The color scheme of yellow and white was used and the tables were attractively decorated with two-branch candelabra and baskets of fall flowers. Miss Katherine Barber of Port Clinton, assisted by Miss Jean Lewis of Cleveland, served the cake; and Mrs. Jarold Shields and Mrs. George Sands poured. Miss Patty Sharrock of Mansfield presided at the table for the bridal register.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a brown and aqua plaid wool dress with brown and aqua accessories. Their trip took them to Washington, D. C., and the Smoky Mountains.

They are now at home at 148 W. Park Drive, Shelby. The bride was graduated from the Willard high school, with the class of 1946, and was employed at the BeVier Company, Willard. Mr. Robinson is a graduate also of the same class of Willard high school and a graduate of Tiffin university. He is employed by the Lumberman's Mutual Insurance Company.

Snyder-Sprang Nuptials Held

LUCAS — Mr. and Mrs. James F. Sprang are honeymooning in Pennsylvania following their November 19th wedding in the Lucas Foursquare church.

Rev. Roy Slater, pastor, officiated at the ceremony which united Miss Ruth Snyder, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Snyder, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sprang. Only the parents witnessed the service. Twenty-five relatives were received in the home of the bride's parents immediately after the nuptials.

The bride wore a pink gabardine suit, rosebud corsage and black accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. Sprang attended Lucas school where Mrs. Sprang was graduated last May. The groom is employed at the Martin Steel Products company in Mansfield. The couple, who will be at home temporarily in the McCurdy home, west of Lucas.

Newcomer to City Pays Off With Her Hobby

Exhibits Work at Display In New York

By MARIAN WEST

MRS. MICHAEL WARBY

"Something small, bright and shiny to wear on your dress?"

This might very well be Mrs. Michael Warby, 193 Carpenter road, asking passers-by on Sixth avenue, New York City, to stop and gaze at her display in one of the annual arts and crafts exhibits. And if you're no different from the typical pedestrian, you will not only stop—but probably buy.

A proclivity toward ornamentation, of almost any type, has long been a weakness of the feminine sex. Many women, however, are able to capitalize on this failing. This combines a little insight and business sense with an interesting hobby, and thus develops a profitable enterprise.

Mrs Warby, a Mansfield resident for the past six weeks, has done just that A native New Yorker, she became interested in pottery four years ago when she and a friend were vacationing at Bushkil, Pa Because of inclement weather, they were forced to seek some form of indoor recreation. They discovered an old mill which had been converted into a pottery school--took three lessons—recognized a certain amount of adaptability—and continued when they returned to New York

"Those three lessons were the only training I've ever had in flower molding," Mrs. Warby said.

Pins, with a floral design, are financially the most popular objects she creates. With matching earrings they form attractive sets.

"In shaping the pottery," Mrs Warby commented, "I strive to make each leaf as thin and lifelike as possible." According to her, the better the quality, the lighter the weight

Mrs. Warby uses a fine white porcelain clay which is her own mixture. It must be extremely pliable and fire a true white.

The process used to make these pins and other decorative items is interesting as Mrs Warby explained it The clay, bought in powder form is mixed with water and worked until it forms a solid mass Then each petal and leaf is worked individually, which takes from 15 to 20 minutes.

The shaped object is fired in a kiln at a temperature of 180 degrees fahrenheit for six hours This procedure fuses the clay and prevents the leaves from detaching.

"Glazing is an exacting process, although fun, because the result always holds some element of surprise," Mrs Warby said.

A glass silicate is used which, when fired, becomes liquid. (It is applied in powder form mixed with water) The heat causes the color to run and cover the surface of the body. This is the second firing and also takes six hours The object is not removed from the kiln until the following day. Too rapid a change in temperature causes cracks to appear.

One of the most striking qualities of these tiny, lustrous pins is the nuances in their shading The colors which are applied meticulously with fine brushes must be heavier on the edges and lighter in the concave portions in order to achieve the desired effect

Broaches earrings, pins, ashtrays, candy dishes, water pitchers, bud vases and teapots are just a few of the items Mrs Warby makes. She is particularly interested in making vases since they entail working the potter's wheel

"Once you've mastered the potter's wheel you can do anything," she emphasized "The clay will take any form or shape you desire," Mrs. Warby added.

Last spring she exhibited her wares at the Annual Greenwich Village Art show. Commercially hers was the most successful stall at the fair, which was no small achievement, considering that some of the work of the highest paid professionals in the potter business was also on display

This financial coup was preceeded by a similar experience at the Equity Guild Craft show, in September of 1946 This too was held in New York City

Mrs. Warby attributes her good fortune to the fact that her work is an exacting reproduction of natures flowers

Parties Honor Miss Mary Anita Rhoads Here

A series of parties have been held recently for Miss Mary Anita Rhoads, daughter of Mrs. Blanche E. Rhoads and the late Clarence E. Rhoads, 87 Bartley avenue. Miss Rhoads is the bride-elect of Jacques G Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs Fred F. Edwards, 277 Bartley avenue.

She was honored with a crystal shower at the home of Miss Alice Lamoreux, 167 Euclid avenue. Mrs. George Gallagher and Mrs. C. Edward Homan were co-hostesses. The evening was spent making a bride's book and a buffet luncheon was served later.

The girls at Barnes Manufacturing company, where Miss Rhoads is employed, honored her with a dinner at the Sky club restaurant. An orchid corsage and personal gifts were awarded to the honoree. Streamers, emanating from the center of the table, bearing messages to Miss Rhoads, formed the table decorations.

Both Miss Rhoads and Mr. Edwards were feted with a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Culler of Ashland. Mr. and Mrs. Culler are the aunt and uncle of Jacques Edwards.

The wedding will take place Nov. 27, at 7:30 p. m. at the First English Lutheran church. The open church custom will be observed.

Alberta Meeker Becomes Bride Of Mr. Rowan

Miss Alberta Meeker, formerly of Shelby, who was employed at the 831st AAF Depot, was wed Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. to Verner Rowan of Columbus. The wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Iva Fulgham, 62 North Ohio avenue, Columbus. The double-ring ceremony was used. Guests included Miss Verna Jean Rowan of Lewisville, Ind., daughter of the bridegroom, Harold Frye, also of Lewisville; Miss Elizabeth Rowan of Columbus, also a daughter of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Fred C. Seidel of Shelby, sister of the bride.

The bride wore a grey gaberdine suit with navy blue accessories and wore a Talisman rosebud corsage. The matron of honor was Mrs. Fulgham, who was attired in a navy blue suit dress with yellow rosebud corsage. Mrs. Seidel wore a black frock and a Talisman rosebud corsage.

George Krofta of Shelby served as best man.

A reception was held later in the day before the couple left for Shelby to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Seidel. Later they left on a honeymoon trip to Terre Haute, Ind. On their return they will reside at 62 North Ohio avenue, Columbus.

Care of Wood Surfaces Important

This is the season for indoor hospitality, a season that leads up to the wonderful big year's-end holidays. No matter how beautifully furnished a room may be, it won't be pleasing unless wood surfaces of furniture show evidence of sustained care.

The vacuum cleaner with its attachments is splendid for removing dust from furniture, but about every six weeks, or, better still, every month, it is wise to give additional attention to these wood surfaces. Mahogany and walnut wood, if not varnished, should be treated every month to a polish, a mixture of equal parts of linseed oil, turpentine and vinegar. Apply this mixture with a soft cloth and remove any excess with a second clean cloth.

Varnished wood, provided the surface is not waxed, will benefit if it is treated with this mixture once or twice a year. The vinegar will enrich the color of the wood, the turpentine loosens the dirt and also aids the oil to get into the wood and fill up the pores, which helps prevent drying.

Light woods such as ash or pine take a polish that will not darken or discolor. If varnished or oiled furniture has become soiled or very finger-marked, it could stand an annual washing. For a special furniture wash use a tablespoon of turpentine and three tablespoons of linseed oil added to a quart of boiling water. Keep the water hot in a double boiler away from the flame, and be sure not to add the turpentine and linseed oil until the double boiler has been removed from the stove heat.

Miss Betty DeLaney is shown in a gown of white slipper satin. This strictly formal gown had a bodice type shirred panel waistline. The hipline peplum is rhinestone studded in keeping with the leading designer's latest fashions.

* * *

A blue taffeta formal with appliqued velvet is worn by Miss Gizella Knefely. The shawl neckline graces Miss Knefely's shoulders. The bustle back has a bow effect.

In a gown of red taffeta Miss Betsy Clark is pictured seated at a piano. The dress has a rhinestone trim on the wide bertha, tied in a bow in the front. Her accessories are a rhinestone bracelet and necklace.

Holiday Season Highlighted By Sparkling Formals

By ANN SCHOENMAN

FOR YOUR OWN exclusive translation of "an evening into magic," a formal made just for you should be donned at the enchanting hour.

Comes the holiday season, when parties and dances are in full swing, one of the most valuable costumes in a wardrobe is an evening dress.

When the orchestra is playing soft music and the lights are a dim colored blue, girls dressed in taffetas and satins, with stars in their eyes, skim over the dance floor in the arms of boys dressed in tuxedos. This hour is the magic hour which has been planned and replanned for weeks in advance.

The first formal a girl attends holds a special place in her memory book, for she then becomes a young lady ready for festive parties. Along with the dance is usually a picture of a formal, the first formal! Perhaps a scrap of material will fall from the pages of the book and a brown rosebud or a ribbon can be found tucked away somewhere along with the memories. The rosebud or ribbon represents the corsage worn on the eventful night.

This year for the formals, girls will find dresses which have a touch of colonialism. They'll be studded with rhinestones and trimmed in velvets. The full skirts will stand out over starched crinoline petticoats and sway to the tantalizing music.

A good thing to remember on this night is that everything should glitter. Accessories worn with the gowns will be rhinestone or at least some of the diamond-like stones will stud the purses, bracelets, necklaces and earrings.

A question that is often pondered in a girl's mind, when she starts making the rounds of the stores, is, "What kind of material is best for a winter formal?"

This answer given by one the local shop owners will relieve a good many worries:

"Taffetas, satins and marquisettes are three types of material a girl never needs worry about when choosing the gown for winter wear. For the summer dance the dress should be made of lightweight material like nets, chiffons, laces, lightweight taffetas, cottons and marquisettes."

The season for purchasing formals begins when the first mention of the holidays is made. Girls usually begin hunting the dress in the early fall and continue until they locate the right one.

If the person wearing the formal has the slightest doubt in her mind that it isn't just what she wanted, but had to settle on because she was unable to find the one, the evening may as well have been spent curled up with a good book, for no matter how many compliments may be received during the dance it still doesn't hold the charm that casts the spell over the girl.

"Right now everything is more festive looking than before. Dresses are mostly in white and red for Christmas and New Year's dances. One requirement made for the 1948 and 1949 season is that some place on the dress there are rhinestones that glitter in the soft light," is a statement made by a local shop owner.

"It gives a clerk a good feeling when she can sell "the dress" to a young girl with sparkling eyes. It isn't hard to tell when you've hit the exact gown the girl has been searching for. You only need look at her face once and the expression that comes over it is like a miracle. Her cheeks begin to flush and her eyes glow with a new light," said a clerk.

Bethel Bible Club Convenes at Cranes

Mrs. Ray G. Crane, 1060 Lexington avenue, was hostess to members of the Bethel Bible club. With eight members in attendance.

Mrs. Ralph Bemiller led the devitions entitles, "For This We Thank Thee," taken from Paslm 65. During the business session, conducted by the president, Mrs. Marion Alderson, the group voted to a Thanksgiving offering for a needy family.

The lesson study of Psalm 42 and 43 was given by Mrs. C. H. Henkel.

The next meeting will be the Christmas tea at the home of Mrs Alderson, 606 Westview Blvd., December 6.

Two Honored At Shower At Au Home

Mrs. David Conner and Mrs. John Schuttera were feted recently at a shower given by Mrs. R. E. Au, Superior street. Fifteen guests were in attendance.

Games were the diversion of the evening with prizes going to Miss Ruth Bailey and Mrs. Tunis Dillon, who presented the prizes to the honored sisters.

The hostess's daughter entered the room pulling a wagon filled with gifts.

Refreshments were served at a table centered with a decorated cake with names of the wedding party inscribed on it. The color scheme used was pink and white.

Mrs. Conner and Mrs. Schuttera were married Friday evening in St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church in a double ceremony. They are the former Misses Maxine and Shirley Dillon. The Rev. John C. Melchert officiated for the closed ceremony.

Shower Fetes Bride-to-Be

Mrs. R. E. Crittenden and Mrs. Russel Dykstra were hostesses at a kitchen shower given recently for Miss Ann Crittenden, bride-elect of Camille Alacca. The party was held at the Dykstra home, guests were in attendance at the affair.

Games were the diversion of the evening with the prizes going to Mrs. Fred Wolf, who presented the prize to the honoree. The hostesses gave Miss Crittenden a set of dishes.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with an arrangement of mums and candelabra.

The wedding of the couple will be solemnized December 11, at 1:30 p. m. at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church. It will be a closed ceremony. The Rev. John C. Melchert will officiate for the ceremony.

Claims Predictions Made In 1942 Offset Election Forecast Errors

IN VIEW of the abuse of American journalism by ignorant orders of society for a small miscalculation of a tight election, I feel a desire to honor the wisdom and prescience of a great savant. A leading thinker whose courage has long withstood the hateful clamor and blighting whispers of the forces of falsehood and intimidation.

Opinion should be free, of course, but men whose great opinions have been vindicated by history deserve special respect.

On May 1, 1942, five months after Pearl Harbor, there appeared in a portion of the American press which enjoyed special grace that day, the following comments:

"Some of our best minds have been toying with a great brotherhood of people under a rule of justice to be enforced, of course, by us and our partners in the role of military victors. If our side wins the war, Russia will plan the peace of the continent. And on the basis of Russia's past performances we can confidently assume that in Germany it will be a peace not much different from that which Hitler has imposed on Poland. Russia will not be asking our advice or permission any more than she is consulting us now in the conduct of the war and our own people will pick up their marbles and come on home to be more nationalistic than ever but very militaristic, too..

"As a nation, we simply aren't inclined to world brotherhood," our learned observer continued. 'We are strictly loners, as we demonstrated after the last war when we turned our backs on Europe and Woodrow Wilson. The whole American people renounced Europe. The people were fed up on 'Europe's endless wars' but made the mistake of rejecting Wilson's alternative stated over and over in his dying effort to swing us into his dream league...

"Furthermore," this old prophecy ran, "we will have to keep tough because if our side wins that means Russia wins and there is a nation with no friends, brothers or confidants. A mysterious, mighty giant who will be shoving communism all over the place. If we can learn to be as single-minded and selfish as Russia about our own national safety we will do very well.

'Russia, like Germany, has rubber boundaries. Wherever they stretch to, there communism is. I just don't believe our people ever will go for communism (Henry Wallace's popular vote was only a little over one million, six years later) or collaborate sincerely in a world arrangement in which one of the dominant powers is communist. Collaboration has got to be reciprocal and we won't be willing to go on furnishing all the reciprocity while Russia just grunts.

"Of course this is no plan. But no plan is as good as any plan which calls on us to share world responsibility with a nation which shares nothing but her troubles with anybody.

"The immediate business is to lick Germany. This having been done, Japan will be a pushover. The future must be managed as it happens and the stronger we remain the better we will manage it from the standpoint of the only country that should matter to Americans."

The author of those sentiments was Westbrook Pegler, who thought Governor Dewey would win the election.

Hopley Bill Threatens Freedom Of the Press, Columnist Claims

MEMO TO EDITORS: The AP man at the Miami Herald phoned after the last broadcast. Said Pittsburgh, Altoona and other papers wanted to know "just where in the Hartley Bill was the press to be stifled as Winchell just warned."

We said Hopley, not Hartley. The report by the Nebraska Republican was printed 10 days or so ago by the Gov't Printing Office. G-Man Hoover (whose security powers would be crushed) was never consulted. He first learned of it when he saw the 200-page document.

It confirms the rumors (before election) that the Repubs were plotting to "take over the FBI" and fire Hoover. The Democratic Congress prob'ly will murder it.

Quick Action Dep't: "Washington, Nov. 22 (AP): The White House today announced the resignation of Russell Hopley of Omaha, as Director of Civilian Defense Planning." (Hopley is Forrestal's expendable.)

Item: "John D. Rockefeller 3rd lugs own luggage in dock strike." Next thing Jim Farley'll be writing his own books!

Irv Hoffman memos that U.S. Attorney-General Tom Clark is trying to prove that Congressman J. Parnell Thomas is 100% American less 50% kickback.

The British are complaining that Russia is supplying arms to Israeli.

"They never complained," says Art Waner, "when the Israelis were supplying legs to the British."

A German denazification court has decided Capt. Fritz Wiedeman (Hitler's big helper) was a former Nazi, but in name only.

It sounds more like the denazification court is one in name only. Headline:, "Extreme Rightists Gain in Germany."

So that's where they went!

Item: "Hang 15 more Nazis." Just in time to spoil Taft's Thanksgiving dinner.

Max Matz, hotel prop of Bluefield, W. Va., says the folks there will never forget Will Rogers. When the great wit was in Bluefield (which nestles in the heart of the West Va. mountains) he giggled: "One good thing about Bluefield is that any time you get tired of walking around it, you can always lean against it!"

Princess Elizabirth Dep't: One of the most expensive cribs in the world will be the Aga Kahn's gift. A device, we are told, will rock it when the baby cries . . . Steve Gibson's line on Philip Mountbatten and son: "The Prince and the Poppa" . . . Milton Rubin says can you imagine one of their neighbors being disturbed by the baby's crying and saying: "I'd like to crown him" . . . Best is Dorothy (Bagatelle) Ross's offering: "The Son finally set on the British Empire."

Item: "Elizabeth's son to be put on payroll at $200,000 a year." Guess they expect American taxpayers to start treating him like a king right away.

Love Letter Dep't.: "Thanks 22,000 times for the $22,000 jackpot quiz we won. We got the right answer ,"Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater") from your column in the Minneapolis Tribune. You're a sweetheart! The Harris Family, Echo, Minn."

What delights me no little, folks, is how you found it, considering how your dumbkopf editors chop the col'm to make room for those silly old ads!

The clue to the "Stop the Music mystery tune:

From a land with a famous tower
Came a lady without a man.
It's a song they sing to this hour
In Scotland, where it began.

A John Barrymore anecdote addict remembers when the star was invited to a H'wood poddy where W. C. Fields was g. of h.

Barrymore was tardy and a waiter rushed over with a rye.

"If you don't mind," said The Profile, "I'll take Scotch."

"Sorry," was the reply, "but Mr. Fields is drinking the Scotch."

Yule Rush Creates 500 Jobs In City

Pupils Help During Shopping Season

At least 500 temporary holiday workers will be employed by Mansfield stores and the Mansfield post office during the Christmas rush season, it was estimated yesterday.

Some 200 to 300 Senior high school students probably will be among the pre-Christmas workers. J. C. Stout, who is in charge of distributive education at the high school, said in the past that many have been employed and he expected little change this year.

Most of the high school students will work in retail stores, but some of the boys probably will help at the post office.

Stout said some of the students will be excused to work full time, others to work part time, and some will work only after school hours. In order to be excused from classes to work, a student must have a written request from his employer and the consent of his parents and all his teachers.

Stout said most students will not begin working until next week.

ASK EXTRA HELP

C. W. Handley, manager of the Ohio State Employment office, said the office is receiving 10 to 12 requests a day from wholesale and retail businesses for extra employes. He said he expects the number of daily requests to increase from now until Christmas. Fifty extra employes already have been hired by Mansfield stores through the employment office.

Most Mansfield merchants request older women to fill the positions of clerks, Handley said. The office also has filled several requests for men to act as Santa Claus in Mansfield department stores.

Handley said he expects requests for extra holiday employes to be about normal this year . The average store employing 65 to 68 persons usually hires 10 to 20 extra employes during the holiday season, he added. This figure does not include employes hired only for the evening hours, he said.

The Mansfield post office also is getting ready for the Christmas rush. Curtis L. Ford, acting postmaster, said the post office plans to hire more extra employes for the holiday season this year than in 1947.

Last year the post office employed 101 extra employes for the Christmas rush. This year Ford said that he expects to hire 110 to 125 additional workers. The post office is accepting applications for extra help now, but does not expect of put on additional employes until about Dec. 12, Ford said.

Speaks At Youth Rally

Rev. David D. Allen, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church in Hazel Park, Mich., will speak Saturday night to members of the "Youth for Christ Rally" at the John Simpson auditorium.

Rev. Allen will preach as a part of an "international program" from which the entire offering will be given to international work. It is planned to send 40 gospel teams abroad to more than 30 countries during this coming year. The contributions given at the youth rallies will be used for this purpose.

The meeting Saturday will open at 7:30 p. m.

Father Held On Non-Support Charge

Clarence Sublett, 33, of 316 North Main street, was arrested by sheriff's deputies yesterday on a warrant charging child desertion in Kentucky.

The warrant, issued in Rowan county, said Sublett is accused of non-support of four children, ranging in age from two to 10 years.

Pupils Brighten Holiday For Patients

Thanksgiving day will be a little brighter, a little gayer today for patients at hospitals here because Junior Red Cross members in Mansfield and the county are applying their motto, "We Serve."

Part of their service program is to fashion colorful tray favors for every patient and inmate throughout the county. This fall, Junior Red Cross members, assisted by Mansfield Girl Scouts, who "also serve," have made 435 decorative gadgets for the autumn holiday.

These gadgets range from "live" turkeys in autumn colors through bright chrysanthemums, pine cone do-dads, Pilgrim hats, harvest baskets and Indian circles to the roasted and stuffed turkey on a platter.

Ideas for these favors are provided by the teacher-sponsors in the city and county schools and the trinkets are made in cooperation with art teachers.

Each school in Mansfield and Shelby and the county has a representative teacher who directs the Junior Red Cross program in that school. All such work is under the direction of Mrs. Ephraim Brown, committee chairman, and Miss Virginia Casperson, Junior Red Cross secretary. The favor-making phase of the program is supervised by Mrs. Henry Paulsen. Mrs. E. L. Morgan directs packaging and distribution of the favors.

Seven institutions are remembered with colorful favors at eight times during the year. Thanksgiving is the second time this year that junior members have made the trinkets; the first was at Halloween.

Work of making the favors is shared by the county schools and Girl Scout troops. The Thanksgiving favors were made by Mrs. Robbins' Kindergarten, Pleasant Valley, Appleseed junior high, Carpenter, Little Washington and Hayes, in addition to the Scouts.

For Christmas, another group will make an equal number for the Chillicothe veterans, General, People's, Madison, and Shelby hospitals, the Richland County TB sanatorium and the Richland County infirmary.

"We have a display of these gadgets in my office at the Red Cross chapter house so that teachers may compare ideas," Miss Casperson said. "Next month we expect to have a larger display at the public library. This display will probably include the Christmas trinkets."

TIRE LOST

The Norwalk Trucking company reported to the sheriff's office yesterday that a tire was lost off one of its trucks in the Mansfield area.

Creek Job Rejected

Board Turns Down Rocky Fork Petition

Richland county commissioners have rejected a petition calling for widening, cleaning and changing of the channel of Rocky Fork creek, in accordance with a recommendation of County Engineer Walter E. Rusk.

Remonstrances against the improvement had ben filed by the Empire Steel corporation and the Baltimore and Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads. Land owners in the area objected that the assessments were too high.

In his recommendation for rejection, Rusk pointed ont that land owners had expressed themselves as in favor of improvements in accordance with plans in 1940. Those plans called for cleaning out the existing channel.

Rusk said officials of industries in Mansfield near the creek told him that in their opinion drainage of the creek out of the city should be improved before water is accelerated in the creek as it enters the city area.

24 Scouts Advanced

Twenty-four members of Brownie troop 55 became intermediate Girl Scouts at a fly-up and investiture ceremony held at Central Methodist church recently.

Each Brownie was sponsored by anothe Girl Scout. The girls were presented to Mrs. J. B. Noser, troop leader, by Mrs. W. B. Wert, assistant leader.

Mrs. Noser pinned wings on each girl and presented her with a Girl Scout pin.

Those who were advanced include: Mary Jo Garver, Sarah Miller, Susan Cook, Hazel Feller, Barbara Herring, Barbara Husted, Janice Stockwell, Janet Beagle, Linda Noser, Sonia Wert, Elizabeth Schaefer, Nancy Stinenger, Mary Lou Workman, Patty McIylar Barbara Spoeri, Nancy Stump, Alice Peele, Judy Watson, Joan Wetmore, Yvette Leighter, Carol Ramsey, Trudy Ropp, Joyanne Haley and Barbara Frederici.

Tyger Mentor Optimistic

Football Coach Augie Morningstar of Mansfield Senior High school, foresees good football teams for Mansfield in the future.

Morningstar told Mansfield Optimists yesterday that "despite the fact the team is losing good players by graduation, I expect the promising younger players to provide Mansfield with a good team next year."

The coach spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Optimist club in the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Morningstar said his coaching staff stresses good sportsmanship and good scholastic work as well as playing ability.

Elect Fair Directors

Society Members To Meet Dec. 4

The annual election of one-third of the directors of the Richland County Agricultural society will be held Saturday, Dec. 4, between 1and 4 p. m. The election will be held in the Common Pleas courtroom of the courthouse.

Orville Kibler, secretary, explained that at the last meeting of each year, one-third of the directors are elected to serve three-year terms. The directors comprise the Richland County Fair board of 25 members.

All persons holding membership in the society are eligible to cast votes in the election. Anyone desiring a nominating petition for director may obtain one from Kibler at his home, 134 Reba avenue.

Among the directors whose terms expire this year and are up for re-election are A. C. Weiser, Plymouth township; Clarence Tugend, Worthington township; Walter Shafer, Troy township; Lewis L. Rinehart, Sandusky township; Fred Baughman, Monroe township; Mrs. Jane Williams, who is a representative of women's groups in Mansfield, and George C. Kahl, a representative of veterans' organizations of Richland county. Kahl has indicated that he would not seek re-election, Kibler said.

Kibler said he would present a tentative report on expenditures for the Richland County Junior Fair last August.

Election of officers will be held the first Saturday in January. Present officers are: Rinehart, president; Herman Wolf, vice president; Tugend, treasurer, and Kibler, secretary.

Loudonville Man Stricken

LOUDONVILLE — William A. Long, 69, former employe of the East Ohio Gas company and a lifelong resident of Ashland county, died Wednesday noon at his home here following a lingering illness. He was born on July 4, 1879, and was a member of Zion Lutheran church.

Surviving are his widow, Anna; a sister, Mrs. Charles Bowman, of Loudonville; four brothers, John, of Ashland; Rev. S. C., of Waldo, and Frank and George, both of Loudonville.

Services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday in Zion Lutheran church with Rev. Harold T. Grabau officiating. Burial will be in the Loudonville cemetery. Friends may call at the Byerly-Banks funeral home until an hour before services.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY—

The Howard Almys will combine their Thanksgiving dinner with a birthday celebration for the "head of the house" today. At dinner will be the Almys' two children and their two grandchildren. Almy was at one time foreman of the composing room and printer for the old Mansfield Shield and later for the Mansfield News. He took his training as a printer into the Lindeman and Almy Printing company, with which he was affiliated for about 23 years. Now that he's retired, Almy spends most of his time in Masonic lodge work. He formerly headed Venus lodge, Mansfield chapter, RAM, and the Knights Templar. He also is a member of the Mansfield Council No. 94, R and SM.

SHMOOS INCREASING—

The famous shmoo of the "Little Abner" comic strip is becoming a national institution. A Mansfield department store is displaying a plastic shmoo with its Christmas toys. On the cellophane package the buyer is told that there are five shmoos inside the first one. The large shmoo is made in two pieces which come apart to reveal the smaller shmoo. The shmoos are nestled one within the other until the entire family is revealed. Also in the package are small plastic replicas of the necessities of life which the shmoo produces.

Girl Scouts Hold Party

Members of Girl Scout troop 37 entertained members of the troop committee and the troop leader, Mrs. R. J. Hartman, at a "thank turn. Holmes was thrown against school Tuesday evening.

The girls presented a program which included singing, baton twirling, poetry, and piano solos. Baton twirling was done by Sandra Weber and Sandra Hartman, accompanied by Ellen Fankhauser at the piano.

Mary Alice Boyd, Carol Jean Hurst, Vivian Gustin, Colleen Hall, Maddy Sue Lawrence, and Jane Farry sang "Now Is The Hour."

Maddy Sue Lawrence, Colleen Hall, and Sherry Pat Kyler, recited a poem, and Alice Beatty, Patricia Robinson and Ellen Jo Fankhauser played piano solos. Refreshments were served.

Drives On New Street, Fined $1

Rexford R. Scott, of Lexington, was fined $1 and costs in municipal court yesterday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of driving on a blocked highway.

He was arrested by city police on Nov. 17 after he drove on freshly-paved Fairlawn avenue, which was blocked by the street department until the concrete had "cured."

Two Bellville residents, Lowell D. Cashell and Harvey H. Smith, were fined $10 and costs for speeding. Harry B. Nelson, of Shelby, was fined $5 and costs for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Cyclist Hurt In Accident

John Q. Holmes, 29, of 323 West Third street, suffered a lacerated little finger, a sprained knee and body bruises yesterday when he was thrown from his motorcycle in a collision with a car driven by Charles Green, Mansfield, R. D. 1.

Holmes went to police headquarters to report the accident which occurred at Bowman street and Longview avenue. He was taken to General hospital where he was treated and released.

Holmes told police the accident occurred when Green made a left turn.. Holmes was thrown against the right side of the car and then to the pavement.

Kyle Promises Zoning Ordinance

Sees Bill Passed Next Year

City Realtors Back Proposal

Councilman George Kyle has promised that Mansfield will have a zoning ordinance early next year.

Expressing the belief that council as a whole favors the measure, Kyle added, "I'm very much concerned with the question and it is imperative that something be done about it in the near future."

He said architect Herbert Jones has been asked to draw up a zoning ordinance and that it may be ready early in 1949.

The issue was recently brought to a head when the Mansfield Real Estate Board unanimously endorsed the idea of a zoning ordinance.

Under a zoning ordinance the city will be divided into three zones — residential, commercial and industrial. The residential zone will be divided into single homes, double dwellings and apartments.

After the passage of the ordinance, only approved structures will be permitted in the specified zones. Existing structures will not be affected.

The commercial zone will permit all types or retail establishments, plus whatever residential building is desired. Naturally such residential units will not be as valuable as those in the restricted areas.

INDUSTRY 'BUNCHED'

Factories will be permitted only in the industrial zone.

The idea of a zoning ordinance has been in the wind for more than a quarter of a century.

Twenty years ago, after an extensive and expensive survey, a zoning ordinance was put before council. Opposition did not come from any organization, but from individuals who felt they would be damaged by the ordinance.

Those individuals who opposed the measure owned property bordering on commercial districts.

They found that because of their proximity to the commercial zones, the value of their land was decreasing. They had hopes, however, of eventually selling it to a merchant and thus realizing a profit.

But the zoning ordinace drew the line between the commercial and residential area just in front of their properties. These landowners complained because, as residential property across the street from commercial property, their land had lost value. With the passage of the ordinance, they said, the property could not be sold as commercial and hence it would remain as a deflated residential property.

Although there was no organized opposition, so many persons complained that council dropped the idea of a zoning ordinance.

Board Orders Ditch Survey

A survey by the county engineering department of the Payne ditch in Plymouth township was ordered yesterday by the county commissioners at a first hearing on the petition.

At the same time, the department will prepare a cost estimate and assessments against property owners. The petition calls for replacing of the present eight-inch tile with 12-inch tile for a 1,200-foot length of the ditch.

The petitioners are E. H. Trauger, Ira Snyder, and the trustees of Plymouth township. A final hearing on the petition was set for Dec. 22 when commissioners will determine whether to grant the petition.

Indiana Girl Runaway Held

A 17-year-old Indiana girl was in the juvenile detention home last night, held as a runaway.

Police said the girl went to 55 South Main street Tuesday night and again Wednesday afternoon in quest of a room. Mary Rizzo, of that address, became suspicious and called them, police said.

She said the girl admitted to her she was a runaway. Police took the girl to the station, where she was questioned by Police Officer Ruth Craig.

Juvenile authorities were contacted and arrangements were made to keep the girl in the juvenile home until Indiana authorities could be contacted, police said.

Salvation Army Kettles To Appear In City Saturday

The familiar Salvation Army Christmas kettles will appear on streets in the business district when retail stores open Saturday morning. The kettles will be out each day, during the hours stores are open, from Saturday through Christmas eve.

There will be three kettles for donations, Maj. William Jones, commander of the Salvation Army, said. Members of the Salvation Army will stand by the kettles to solicit contributions.

Two Salvation Army workers who will be out this year have long records of service in this annual campaign to raise funds for Christmas gifts for needy families. Mrs. Laura Dillon has served for 15 years and Mrs. Lily Evans for 12 years.

Jones said the Salvation Army here generally tries to raise $600 to $700 for its Christmas work. Last year the group raised about $600 with the kettles.

However, since prices are considerably higher this year than last, the Community Chest will help the Salvation Army with its Christmas work, Jones said.

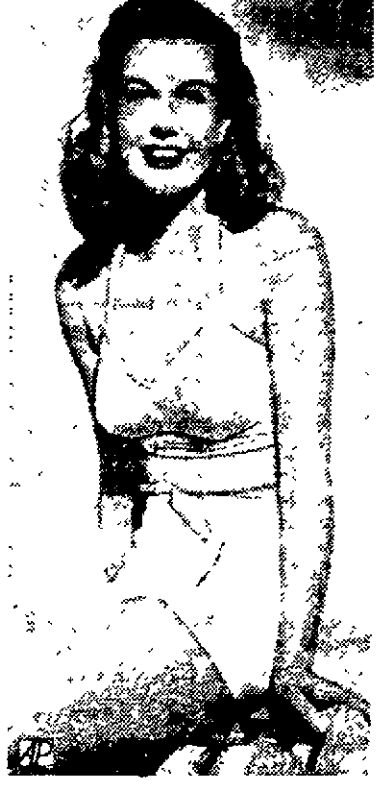
All of the money from the Christmas kettles will be used to buy food, clothing and Christmas toys for needy Mansfield families.

Holidays Boost Business For Cupid

By GEORGE COMINOS

Dan Cupid evidently works a little harder during holiday periods. That's the conclusion one reaches after checking with probate court deputies.

The number of marriage applications within the last few days has shown an increase in Richland county—possibly in anticipation of Thanksgiving holiday marriages.



THRUSH — Doris Day, radio singer, dons bathing suit to demonstrate that her figure is pleasing as her voice.

Around the country a record number of licenses were issued during the days just before Thanksgiving.

While there has been no big gain here, probate court workers who handle license applications report they have been busy for the past week. There will be another increase shortly before Christmas if past years are any indication.

Probate court officials point out that there is always an increase in the issuance of marriage licenses just before a holiday. However, in Richland county, couples have not necessarily shown a preference for Thanksgiving compared with other holidays.

Increases also are noted just before holidays that fall near a weekend.

The marriage license business wasn't too good during the first half of November and it will take a big increase this week and the first half of next week to equal the November, 1947, total of 84 licenses.

Last month 67 couples obtained licenses in Richland county as compared with 80 in that month last year.

Roaring Sirens Save Lost Child

GREENVILLE, Mich. (U.P.)—Police Chief Jerry Sage knows how to round up a posse in a hurry. When a two-year-old boy was lost and he needed a large searching party, Sage pulled the fire siren, directed the driver to drive the truck a few blocks and attracted hundred of motorists to "the fire."

He got 500 persons together and the child was found in the woods as dusk was descending.

Distribute Funds

COLUMBUS —(UP)— The state education department said yesterday $21,512,337 would be distributed among school districts this week. The department said this would be the fourth and final distribution of state funds to school districts this year.

TOO MUCH PER FOOT

SALT LAKE CITY — (UP) — Joseph L Sloan, city parks superintendent, finds the cost of living has hit even tropical boa constrictors. Sloan shelved plans for a $50,000 reptile house here when he found the price of a good boa from Bombay, India, had swelled from $1.75 a foot pre-war to $3 25.

Carpenter, 42, Prefers Work

ST. LOUIS (U P) —Rugged is the word for 42-year-old carpenter Joe Eaton. Working on a 30-foot scaffold, Eaton lost his balance and plunged to the concrete sidewalk below. Police insisted on taking him to the hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises, but within the hour Eaton was tempting fate again as he went back to work on the scaffold.

Indicted Lobbyist Maps Finish Fight

WASHINGTON, — (AP) —Roger C. Slaughter, the Missouri Democrat President Truman purged from congress in 1946, yesterday mapped a "fight to a finish" against a lobbying indictment he called "politically inspired." The 43-year-old former representative was accused by a federal grand jury yesterday of failing to register with congress as a lobbyist for grain interests who, the jury said, paid Slaughter over $43,000 for his services.

Gondoliers Learning Ways To Meet Power Boat Threat

VENICE—(UP)—Something new will be added to Venice's traditional enchantment next spring. Educated gondoliers are in the making.

The first gondoliers' school in history—and certainly the only such institution in the world—was opened this week to teach the modern masters of an ancient art a few things that will compete with streamline water taxis, multilingual guides and organized tourist trips.

"Gondoliers will surprise the world next spring," their high-floating union accounced.

"Every gondolier will be able to say yes, no, please and thank you in at least five languages—and will even converse in at least three. They will know the history of Venice. the history of every canal, the story of every bridge and stone, the romance of the gondola, the tales that made Venice great. They will be diplomats of the oars. No ferryboat ticket collector will ever come up to this. The gondolier will come back into his own."

For two sad post-war years the weary gondolier has tried to find a way to buck the speedy launches which churn up the Grand Canal and through the winding waterways of old Venice, carrying more passengers for less money—at prices the brawny man of oars can't meet if he expects to eat, too. Now the gondoliers think they've solved the problem.

Three times a week several hundred men gather in the assembly hall of the A. Scarsellini elementary school. Professors shout lessons in foreign languages at the hard-plugging students, most of them middle-aged. Lessons are hard. The professors are grim and demanding. But the students are persistent, undaunted and as determined in their quest for learning as when they lean their weight into the oars to fight the backwash of an insolent ferry-boat.

The rest of the training course is on the canals. The gondoliers go out in groups with their teachers. They are brushing up on every aspect of history, including the story of the gondola itself—back to 1000 A.D. when the canal boat was first mentioned in history, up to the 16th century when a proclamation ruled that gondolas were getting too fancy for the rich and that henceforth all gondolas would be black—"one color for all."

The gondoliers are learning things about Venice the Baedeckers don't mention. They will come up for graduation early next year, in time for the spring tourist rush. They will stand for language examinations at the school—and then, in their gondolas, tour the city to prove they know their lessons.

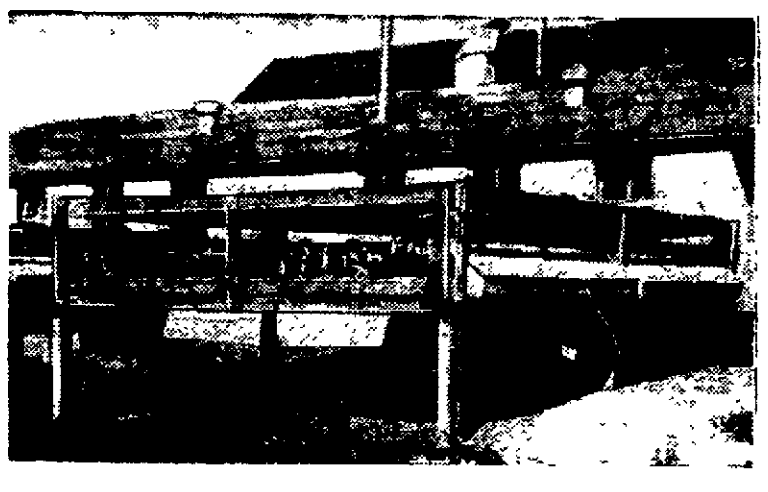
Turkeytown Thankful for Thanksgiving Bird

IT'S A SCIENCE to raise and prepare turkeys for the nation's Thanksgiving tables. The big task has made Wellman, Ia., the turkey capital of America. There the cooperative Maplecrest Farms have hatched, grown, slaughtered and shipped 350,000 prime birds this year. But it's a tricky business. Turkeys are sensitive. Disease can decimate a flock. Noise can panic the birds into suicidal stampedes. Heat and cold can kill them. Young poults must be moved in heated trucks until old enough to live on the ground. But 2,000 turkeys can be raised on 48 acres and they enrich worn-out farm land so it can produce bumper crops. When turkeys are six months old they are ready for market.

KING GOBBLER—His strutting can ruin his white meat.



YOUNG POULTS in a raised cage—They must be kept off the ground till eight week old. Ground spreads disease.

FRESHLY SLAUGHTERED birds get bath as they come from feather removing machine.

ANOTHER BATH is added to several interior rinses.

CLEANED AND SEALED in plastic, your turkey is packed in a box and frozen.

'Good Student,' Says Writer

Stalin's Daughter Is 'Mystery Girl'

Svetlana Stalin, Premier Stalin's attractive daughter, is Europe's No. 1 "mystery girl"—perhaps because the Soviet dictator wants it that way. In the following profile sketch, veteran former Moscow correspondent James E. Brown fills in some of the missing pieces in the life of the young woman who as a child watched history being made in the Kremlin.

* * *

By JAMES E. BROWN

LONDON — (INS) — Dark-haired, 22-year-old Svetlana Stalin is attending Moscow university to study the meaning of the great events she witnessed at the Kremlin through innocent childish eyes.

Premier Stalin's daughter, on whom the Soviet leader lavished his moody affection while she was growing up, is now married and the mother of a three-year-old son.

But Svetlana, the No. 1 "mystery girl" of Europe, and her husband, about whom even less is known, have found that parenthood does not occupy all of their time. Both are now history students at the university where they are learning about Stalin's important decisions and acts as they affected the rest of the world

Their son was born—and the aging Stalin became a grandfather—on Dec 19, 1945.

The slim, attractive Svetlana, whose dark eyes and coal black hair betray her Georgian origin, is said to be a good and serious student.

She does not mix much with her fellow students. But this is attributed more to inherent shyness than to consciousness of her father's position.

Svetlana's unhappy life began when her mother, Nadezhda Allilueva, died in 1932 when the child was about six.

Circumstances of the death were strange and appeared to have left their impact on the Soviet leader.

Svetlana was a lonely child. Both her step-brother, Jacob, and her brother, Vassily, were much older than she, and she had few playmates. Stalin, who is believed to have dearly loved her mother, his second wife, was morose and preoccupied. He would ignore her for days and then suddenly lavish affection upon her.

The shadow of her mother's death always hung over the family. The official announcement at the time merely said:

"Nadezhda Allilueva died in the night between November 8 and 9, 1932. She was the most faithful Bolshevik woman, and devoted aid of comrade Stalin."

But Mrs. Stalin was only 30 years old and in apparent good health when she suddenly died She was devoted to her husband, and it was known that she always tasted his food before it was served to him She feared poison.

After her death, many Muscovites interpreted the terrible purges and Stalin's cold rages against his political opponents as his revenge for her death.

It was in this strange atmosphere that Svetlana grew up She was talented and shared her father's love for good music He would lie on the couch for hours while the little girl changed recordings of "Aida" for him. Neither would speak.

Stalin obtained the services of a Frenchwoman in Moscow to teach Svetlana French. She began lessons when she was only 10, and, in two years, spoke French fluently. One day, she shyly took her teacher into Stalin's bed-room and showed her a picture of her mother which was on the dresser.

'Isn't she beautiful?" she whispered.

Just then Stalin entered the room. He was white with anger and ordered them both out. The Frenchwoman was terrified of the consequences, but Stalin never again mentioned the incident.

Svetlana's brother, Vassily, served in the Red air force during the war and won the order of the Red Banner for bravery in leading a squadron of Yak fighters outside of Stalingrad. He has now been promoted to the rank of general and recently commanded a national air force demonstration in Moscow.

Her step-brother, Jacob, on the other hand, is not in favor with her father. Before the war, he was an engineer in an obscure position in one of the outlying provinces, and he was later unconfirmedly reported as having been captured by the Germans. Nothing is known of his whereabouts today, or even if he is alive.

Lost Airmen Still Sought

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—United States Army personnel are reported by Radio Australia to be conducting a search in Queensland for American airmen lost in the war.

The project, part of wide-range search through the islands of the Pacific, has produced "gratifying" results, Capt. E. L. Harrison, in charge of the mission, said.

"Often the party only had information that a plane with so many people in it had left an airdrome for a certain destination and that it had not arrived" Capt Harrison said.

Sometimes the wreck of a plane was found unexpectedly, he added.

"For instance, recently a stockman searching for cattle near Brandenberg in Queensland found an American plane lost five years ago," Harrison said.

Rebel Vets Not Alone

Consolidation Hits Cemetery

SPRINGFIELD, Mo —(U.P.)—The burial ground of Confederate soldiers in Springfield soon will be joined to the national cemetery here, ending a separation which dates to their origin.

The Confederate cemetery was organized in 1869. It contained six acres, only three of which were used as burial places for 563 veterans of the Southern armies.

The U. S. government in 1911 assumed, through an Act of Congress, the care and maintenance of the cemetery but it respected the clause restricting the land for the burial of Confederate soldiers.

The national cemetery, just north of the Confederate cemetery, needed the three unused acres for the burial of veterans of World War II. Arrangements were completed to release the Confederate cemetery, to become a part of the national cemetery.

Walls which separated the graves of Confederate veterans from those who served under the Stars and Stripes in the nation's various wars will be torn down. But the government will plant four magnolia trees—symbols of the South — to mark the old line

Burial, he said, takes place either overseas or in the United States, according to the wishes of the next-of-kin.

Gay Nineties High Button Shoes Coming Back In Style

PARIS (U.P.)—Here's the word on Paris shoe styles for next year:

It's high button shoes, for one thing.

Of course, not all the shoes are buttoned, but the idea is the same. Pinched heels, pointed toes, and that gaiter look.

The shoes were displayed in a "shoe showing" which included amethyst and garnet-studded gold kid "chaussure d'interieur," a bedroom slipper priced at a mere $250.

Actually, few people walk aroun in these creations. They are made so that the designs can be sold to leading she manufacturers all over the world.

Here's what's new for next year.

For daytime wear: thick crepe-soled walking Oxford type shoes with flat heels, made in gay, colorful, shiny leathers. Red and kell green preferred, for wear with gray tweeds, and even (first time seen in a fashion show anywhere) with dressy dark dresses.

For afternoon wear and cocktail times, the spat shoe (or high buttoned type) came into its own. Matching plaid spats over black patent leather, pointed-toe pumps, for examle, were shown with a dressy black ensemble. Gray elastic sheaths built up over the regular shoe line and closely hugging the ankles also were shown with black and brown patent leather shoe-bases.

For dancing in the afternoon and evening, there were soft babypink, high heeled bootees. Baby blue and pink also were featured in fur lined "after ski" boots.

Dodging from the Victorian look in shoewear was one pair with the strap-button business, scandal with a rounded last made in black patent leather which was strictly 1920.

Straps of all kinds and the roman-sandal effect of latticework laces up the ankles were shown for both cocktail and evening wear, although there were no flat heels Heels in the collection, by Paris' leading shoe designers, went as high as a little over three inches.

Faces Asylum After Attack

JACKSON — (INS) — An anguished young mother was sent to the Athens state hospital today to the Athens state hospital yesterday because she tried to kill her two daughters and herself with a razor.

Probate Judge M. D. Slavens pronounced Mrs. Marcella Hudson, 27, of Wellston insane several hours after the attacks.

The young woman apparently was driven out of her mind by a fire that destroyed her family's home Monday night. Her husband, Robert, an attendent at the Chillicothe Veterans' hospital, said she seemed normal before the blaze.

Mines Still Exact Toll In Germany

Hidden Death Lurks In Fields

By RUDOLF E. JOSTEN

AACHEN, GERMANY, — (AP) —A grim but silent battle still is being fought on the bloody ground where the American army won its first foothold on German soil four years ago.

The fight is against mines, booby traps and other high explosive missiles. German bomb disposal squads estimate 2,000,000 of them have been removed in the German-Belgian border region since the end of the war. German authorities at Aachen say 9,000 people have been killed by explosions in this area in the same period.

Lt. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner led the American First Division through the "Huertgen Forest" as this mine-infested hot spot became internationally known in war communiques. The German Wehrmacht put up a desperate stand here in the last phase of the war late in 1944 and early in 1945.

When the Germans ultimately were pushed back the ground was literally honeycombed with high explosives. German bomb disposal and mine detecting squads were put to work in this bomb-plowed, shell-torn and mine-laden two and a half square mile forest region just outside this westernmost German city near the Belgian border.

Several hundred squad members were killed and a similarly large number wounded in the dangerous task. They announced that thus far they have removed about 200,000 mines from this battlefield alone. All approaches to the forest are still lined with danger signs warning "Beware of Mines."

The work of the mine diggers is by no means finished. Nobody knows how many were planted in this area, sometimes referred to was the "Verdun of World War II" The population calls the Huertgen forest area the "tortured earth" and it still looks like the war had rolled over it only yesterday. Rusting tanks and guns and other rotting war equipment lie everywhere.

But the Huertgen forest is only one part of the war-ravaged Aachen district which bore the brunt of fighting for more than five months. There are numerous smaller, less-known battlefields. Farming in this area is a dangerous occupation. Hidden death still lurks in the fields.

There are brief notices in the German newspspers of this border region that farmer X was killed by an explosion as he was plowing his field, or that a child was injured by a hand grenade it had found in a bush.

An official announcement said 21 persons, including seven children were killed and 19 others were severely wounded during the last two months in the Duesseldorf area alone.

Bomb and mine disposal squads also are busy in the bomb-damaged cities, digging through rubble piles for any hidden duds. Just recently a 1,000-pound air bomb was discovered only a foot under the pavement of the busiest square in Nuernberg after a water main had burst. Heavy traffic had rolled over it for four years.

Stores Show Ample Supply of Gift Articles

Shoppers Will Find Few 'Scarce' Items

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Broad smiles are replacing those post-war-shortage frowns on Mansfield merchants' faces this year.

"How's the selection," you ask. "Fine!" they pop back. And they've got the proof to back them up.

"Quality's better, too," they maintain. "And," they quickly add, "prices are just about the same."

With the exception of a few electrical appliances, Christmas gifts abound and almost overflow in local stores.

For instance, if you're looking for luggage for that son or daughter in college, the clerks will tell you you're choosing from a "100 per cent better selection" than you had last year. The appearance of plastics in the luggage line also has shaved off 20 to 30 per cent of the price you would have paid for leather.

One of the major reasons for the absence of frowns this year is that there are no waiting lines for refrigerators, ranges, sandwich grills, waffle irons or coffee makers.

PLENTY OF RANGES

"We've plenty of refrigerators and ranges; let the customers come," a clerk in an appliance store sighed happily.

For the most part, early shoppers will get what they are looking for. Electric roaster ovens, pop-up toasters, and electric mixers, however, are still a little scarce

So if you're content to use the egg beater a little longer, turn a knob and let your toast fall out and make the range oven do, there's hope that next Christmas may bring a larger supply of these time with their Christmas shop-

There's no end to practicality in the electric line. One gift that will gain merit with its repeated use is an electric sweeper. And in this line prices are at pre-war level.

Although there's a 10 per cent mark-up on most electrical goods this Christmas, clerks are confident that the selection and ready merchandise will offset the increase.

Included in the higher priced merchandise are the popular electric blankets and electric sheets which come in a variety of colors and sizes.

SOME PRICES DOWN

If you're thinking of adding to a lucky person's silver service, you may happily find that silver plate has dropped in price in some lines. Some sterling houses have raised their prices slightly, but you can still buy the choice pieces at the same rate as last year. Crystal and silver combinations also are staging a strong comeback this year.

For the woman who "has everything," cosmetics offer a bright gift note this year. Imported perfumes, an almost unobtainable item in the past few years, are back in a variety of scents.

"Imported" can also be found in china shops again where real English bone china and pretty ceramics and hand painted items are on display.

All in all, merchants predict that Mansfielders will have a much easier and more enjoyable time with their christmas shopping this season.

Sardines and Seals Returning

SAN PEDRO, Cal. (U P.)—The sardines are back, but so are the seals, San Pedro fishermen cruising at night after schools of the silver fish often lose catch after catch to the destructive seals

Working out of Los Angeles harbor, about 200 seiners are making tremendous hauls but often work all night, time after time having to open their purse seine nets while a school dives for the bottom when thrashing seals frighten them.

At regular intervals the sardine schools disappear from the local waters and canneries are nearly forced to close down, but this year they are found again in great numbers off the coast

About 1,500 fishermen are employed at sardine fishing in southern California and Los Angeles harbor has become the greatest commercial fishing port in the world, catching two and a half times as much fish as all the New England states combines.

Sardine fishermen usually work at night, tracing the schools by the milky, phosphorescent pools of light which their silvery bodies reflect.

It's No Use

Vote Victor To 'Doll Up' Private Car

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — (UP)—Harry O. Tinklepaugh made probably the shortest "acceptance" speech on record.

Tinklepaugh went to vote. Renz Edwards, long-time friend, told him he proposed to vote for him for constable.

Tinklepaugh said: "Fine."

Edwards did some quick campaigning. He lined up four votes fo[illegible]s friend Tinklepaugh t[illegible] ro more of the "joke."

When the counting board fin[illegible] it certified Tinklep[illegible] as constable on the basis of those four write-in votes.

There were no candidates on the ticket for the no-fee-no-office job So there were 61 write-ins And Tinklepaugh's four votes top[illegible] e cld

For the surprised Tinklepaugh, there was some satisfaction.

"Now I can put a red light and siren on my car," he grinned.

LOS ANGELES juvenile authorities are pondering the story of 16-year-old James A. Thompson, who says 36-year-old Leitha Marie (Margie) Truax lured him into an elopement to Yuma, Ariz. Gin she gave him, he says, made him agree to wed.—(International)

IS UNWANTED HAIR HIDING YOUR NATURAL BEAUTY AND CHARM?

Superfluous hair causes so much unhappiness that it changes the mental attitude of those that have it—gives them a dark outlook on life—changes them from a carefree person to a nervous, shy person, because they are always trying to hide their face from the people that they meet. No matter how well you are dressed, or how you apply your make-up, you cannot keep superfluous hair from being seen. No case is too far advanced, if you tweeze, shave, or use other methods to remove the hair temporarily, you owe it to yourself, your family and friends to have the hair permanently removed by electrolysis, the only method endorsed by physicians everywhere

All work is done by appointment, from 1:30 to 9 P.M. Phone 5325 during these hours for appointment or write for free information. There is no charge for private consultation. I use the Brantronic Short Wave system on the legs and arms and it removes around 1,000 hairs per hour. On the face, I use the Kreeten needle machine for coarse hairs, and removes around 120 hairs per hour. The charge for either machine is $5 per hour. Work is done for men and women

Why go through your life being unhappy because you have superfluous hair when you can have it permanently removed?

Cities Join Ban Against Comic Books

Civic Groups Force Action

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The American Municipal Association reports that nearly 50 cities have banned the sale of certain comic books.

The books were declared objectionable by various civic groups.

Los Angeles and Terre Haute, Ind., are the first localities to pass ordinances placing the bans in effect. In Los Angeles County, the ordinance prohibits the sale of comic books dealing with murder, burglary, kidnaping, arson or assault with deadly weapons.

County Supervisor Leonard J. Roach of Los Angeles seeks to have the ban adopted by the California Legislature to cover the entire state.

Terre Haute's ordinance bans the sale, display, printing and distribution of undesirable comic books. A 10-member civic board will decide which are undesirable.

Many other cities are setting op censorship committees. Among the most recent to do so are Oneida City, N. Y., and East Hartford, Conn. In both cities dealers promised co-operation.

Indianapolis has removed 52 "objectionable" comic books from the market through co-operation with distributors.

In Racine, Wis., comic book dealers are doing their own censoring, in co-operation with city officials and civic groups.

Twenty states have laws forbidding the sale of obscene, indecent, harmful or immoral literature. These statutes could be applied to comic books. In Detroit, the county prosecutor held that certain comics violated Michigan statutes, and Detroit distributors banned the books from circulation.

However, the validity of such state laws is being questioned. A recent decision by the U. S. Supreme Court held a New York law unconstitutional. The law prohibited distribution of magazines composed principally of crime news or stories of bloodshed and lust.

In Illinois, lower courts have a case pending in which the city of Chicago has been challenged for interfering with distributors of comic books under a state law.

Old Grad, 86 Stays Young

ALFRED, N.Y. (U.P.)—Former State Tax Commissioner John J. Merrill, 86, is attending Alfred university football games again for the first time in five years.

But Merrill, referred to as "the grand old man of Alfred athletics," was never too far from the Alfred gridiron. During his illness, he watched the squad from his bedroom window through a pair of binoculars.

A member of Alfred's class of 1884, Merrill served as state tax commissioner until his retirement in 1939. He was elected to the Alfred board of trustees two years before the football field, later to be called Merrill Field, was constructed.

Despite his age, Merrill is still full of ideas for improvement of Alfred's athletic facilities.

"I'd like to see the Kanakadea Creek straightened below the football field and an ice rink put in," he said.

By JOHN CREECY

Central Press Correspondent

DETROIT— A gangling young man known to his friends as "Soapy" is governor-elect of Michigan, to the considerable astonishment of his election opponent, Gov. Kim Sigler, and virtually everybody else in Michigan, including Soapy himself.

Formal name of the new governor, a bow-tie addict who has been likened in appearance to a well-nourished Frank Sinatra, is Gerhardt Mennen Williams. He shortens the Gerhardt, however, to the initial G.

Williams is named for his grandfather, Gerhardt Mennen, a German immigrant who founded the huge soap and talcum powder business bearing the family name.

The governor-elect is a director of the firm, and is slated to inherit a substantial share of the Mennen fortune. Right now, however, his only income from this source is $100 a month from a trust fund.

Williams' mother and other relatives are staunch Republicans and did not rush to Soapy's support with check books in hand when he announced himself as a Democratic candidate for governor. Nor, for that matter, did the state Democratic organization.

As a result, G. Mennen had to plaster a mortgage on his seven room $22,000 home in Gross Pointe Farms, a fashionable suburb of Detroit.

★

WILLIAMS and his wife, Nancy, stumped the state in a rattletrap convertible. His entire campaign was made on a budget of about $15,000, plus the support of the CIO-PAC and AFL political agencies.

There were no "Williams for Governor" buttons, no bunting, no banners, few billboards, circulars and radio speeches.

Gov. Kim Sigler, the former Nebraska cowboy who won a rousing victory at the polls two years ago on the strength of his reputation as a prosecutor of grafting legislators, was supremely confident that he would be easily re-elected.

In f: t, he estimated his margin of victory at 350,000 votes. He was wrong by about 500,000.

Williams, showing far more strength than anybody else on the Democratic ticket, defeated him by approximately 150,000.

G. Mennen's showing is the more remarkable in view of the fact that Governor Dewey carried the state by 34,000 votes over President Truman, and most of the races for state offices were won by Republicans.

FOOLED 'EM—G. Mennen Williams.

At 37, Williams is the third youngest man ever elected governor of Michigan. Wilbur M. Brucker was 36 when he was elected in 1931. Michigan's first governor, Thaddeus T. Stevens, was only 24.

At prep school in Salisbury, Conn., young Soapy (the nickname comes from the family business) astonished his teachers with his scholastic brilliance. He got the highest marks in the history of the school.

Williams' activities weren't confined to books. He was on the ski and basketball teams and won two letters as center on the football squad. He also was chosen as head of the student council.

He first was tagged with his nickname, Soapy, while vacationing on a dude ranch in Dubois, Wyo., in 1926.

At the ranch Williams also met Elliott and James Roosevelt. As result, when entering Princeton university in 1932, he became deeply intrested in the political philosophies of President Roosevelt.

At Princeton, Williams boxed, played intramural football and squash, and was stroke on the junior varsity crew. He graduated as a Phi Beta Kappa, then entered the University of Michigan to study law.

GRADUATING as one of the top 10 men in his class, he became more and more imbued with . Deal philosophies. On his return home after graduation he announced his intention of ojining the Democratic party.

His parents were not pleased, but they did not argue. "They nounced his intention of joining he recalls.

In 1937, Soapy was married to Nancy Quirk, whom he had met on a blind date while both were attending the university. Nancy's family were Republican leaders in their home town of Ypsilanti, and her brother, Daniel T. Quirn, is now mayor of the city.

Nancy, 33, and the mother of three children, recalls that she almost choked over her engagement ring. "Soapy put my ring in the bottom of a full loving cup and when I took a drink I almost swallowed it," she says.

Young Williams got into politics the year of their marriage by accepting an appointment as an attorney with the Social Security Board in Washington.

He helped prepare the brief for the government's successful fight to have the Supreme Court rule the Social Security Act valid.

In 1938 Williams returned to Michigan at the budding of Gov. (now United State Supreme Court justice) Frank Murphy, as an assistant attorney general.

Murphy was defeated for re-election in 1939, and Soapy and Nancy went to Europe. First, however, Williams had aided his brother, Henry, who owns a Colorado cattle ranch, in organizing the Western Rockies Dairymen's association.

On his return from Europe he was met by a messenger from Murphy, who in the meantime had been appointed United States attorney general. Murphy made him an executive assistant.

"Murphy paid me $4,800 a year," Williams recalls, "He said I was too young to be making $7,500, the going rate for executive assistants."

★

WHEN MURPHY was appointed to the Supreme Court, Williams joined the criminal division of the department of justice. In May, 1942, he was commissioned a lieutenant (j. g.) in the Navy.

As air combat intelligence officer aboard the carriers Bunker Hill, Essex, Hornet and Yorktown, Williams took part in 10 major battles.

After four years, he emerged as a lieutenant commander, with the Legion of Merit and a presidential citation with three stars.

Williams was deputy director of the OPA in Michigan in 1946 and 1947. Governor Sigler, hunting for a Democrat to fill an vacancy on the state liquor control commission, appointed him at the suggestion of newsmen.

Last May, after a series of disagreements with Sigler over liquor control policy, Williams resigned. He then announced his own candidacy for governor with this blast at Sigler:

"The situation in Michigan is ripe for a change," he declared. "Our people are sick and tired of bossism.

"We are sick and tired of a Republican governor wrangling with his own Republican officials and with his Republican legislature. We are fed up with Republicans fiddling while the state goes to pot."

When Williams won the Democratic nomination, Sigler announced that he was "delighted," because it would give him intense personal pleasure to defeat Williams at the polls.

However, the pleasure turned out to be all Soapy's.

Takes Wrestler-Whittler To Slice Bird

World's Champ Carver Says 'It's Easy'

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON —(UP)— If you know how to sit and whittle, you can carve a turkey.

So says H. L. Shrader, a pleasant little sandy-haired fellow who works for the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Mr. S. is billed by his friends as the world's champion turkey carver. Which brings us up to date, this being the season for such.

If you have ever chased a 20-pounder through the giblet gravy, you know what I mean. It's not easy.

First, according to Shrader, you hone the blade and get the kids set in T (for turkey) formation around the platter. Then you charge.

Unless the blueprint is followed to the letter, the whole family winds up finger-nailing the fowl to pieces.

Here is the way the champion does it.

"First get the annmal on a platter and remember — the guy who carves in the kitchen is cheating.

Place the turkey on a platter with the feet pointing toward you. Block the sides so that they won't roll. Put a wedge in there. Eihter an apple or a couple of carrots on each side.

Then clear the deck. Get the tumblers and the high-ball glasses out of the way so you won't make any clatter or confusion.

Grab a drumstick with the left hand and cut straight down—between the body and the leg. Next to the body. Twist until it comes off at the joint and place the leg on a serving plate.

Put the knife in between the first and second joint of the drum stick and if you want to do a little carving on same, go ahead for the folks who want the dark meat. If one of the kids start to howl, forget everything and pass him the whole leg.

This is important: take a fork and hold it astride the breast bone and then reach in with the knife and whack off the wing. Or almost. At least cut in a little over an inch until you hit the wing joint.

The wing then will come down out of the way.

Next, you can start slicing the breast—with a downward, sawing motion, like you were whittling. Do the whittling away from you, if you want to survive.

Most choice part of the turkey, by the way, is what we in the poultry business call the 'oyster'. That's below and behind where the leg is joined to the body. Four or five good bites on each side. It's in the hollow of the back bone and you can find it if you look real hard. Neither light, nor dark meat.

The neck?" That goes into the giblet department in the modern turkey.

The tail — or the part that went over the fence last? That's for the carver who is not smart enought to lay a little by for himself while he's carving."

Wild Ride For Boy, 2

ST. LOUIS — (UP) — A two-year-old lad discovered recently that he wasn't quite ready for a solo jaunt in an automobile.

James McCaleb's first attempt to drive landed his sister in the hospital and resulted in damaged fenders to two autos.

Climbing into his father's auto, the youngster released the brake, allowing the car to roll down the street—backwards.

His six-year-old sister tried to rescue the boy, but was knocked down by the car, suffering cuts and bruises.

Jimmy's ride came to an end after half a block when his auto smashed into a parked car on the other side of the street. The young driver was uninjured.

Stores Show Ample Supply of Gift Articles

Shoppers Will Find Few 'Scarce' Items

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Broad smiles are replacing those post-war-shortage frowns on Mansfield merchants' faces this year.

"How's the selection," you ask. "Fine!" they pop back. And they've got the proof to back them up.

"Quality's better, too," they maintain. "And," they quickly add, "prices are just about the same."

With the exception of a few electrical appliances, Christmas gifts abound and almost overflow in local stores.

For instance, if you're looking for luggage for that son or daughter in college, the clerks will tell you you're choosing from a "100 per cent better selection" than you had last year. The appearance of plastics in the luggage line also has shaved off 20 to 30 per cent of the price you would have paid for leather.

One of the major reasons for the absence of frowns this year is that there are no waiting lines for refrigerators, ranges, sandwich grills, waffle irons or coffee makers.

PLENTY OF RANGES

"We've plenty of refrigerators and ranges; let the customers come," a clerk in an appliance store sighed happily.

For the most part, early shoppers will get what they are looking for. Electric roaster ovens, pop-up toasters, and electric mixers, however, are still a little scarce.

So if you're content to use the egg beater a little longer, turn a knob and let your toast fall out and make the range oven do, there's hope that next Christmas may bring a larger supply of these time with their Christmas shop-

There's no end to practicality in the electric line. One gift that will gain merit with its repeated use is an electric sweeper. And in this line prices are at prewar level.

Although there's a 10 per cent mark-up on most electrical goods this Christmas, clerks are confident that the selection and ready merchandise will offset the increase.

Included in the higher priced merchandise are the popular electric blankets and electric sheets which come in a variety of colors and sizes.

SOME PRICES DOWN

If you're thinking of adding to a lucky person's silver service, you may happily find that silver plate has dropped in price in some lines. Some sterling houses have raised their prices slightly, but you can still buy the choice pieces at the same rate as last year. Crystal and silver combinations also are staging a strong comeback this year.

For the woman who "has everything," cosmetics offer a bright gift note this year. Imported perfumes, an almost unobtainable item in the past few years, are back in a variety of scents.

"Imported" can also be found in china shops again where real English bone china and pretty ceramics and hand painted items are on display.

All in all, merchants predict that Mansfielders will have a much easier and more enjoyable time with their christmas shopping this season.

Sardines and Seals Returning

SAN PEDRO, Cal. (U.P.)—The sardines are back, but so are the seals, San Pedro fishermen cruising at night after schools of the silver fish often lose catch after catch to the destructive seals.

Working out of Los Angeles harbor, about 200 seiners are making tremendous hauls but often work all night, time after time having to open their purse seine nets while a school dives for the bottom when thrashing seals frighten them.

At regular intervals the sardine schools disappear from the local waters and canneries are nearly forced to close down, but this year they are found again in great numbers off the coast.

About 1,500 fishermen are employed at sardine fishing in southern California and Los Angeles harbor has become the greatest commercial fishing port in the world, catching two and a half times as much fish as all the New England states combines

Sardine fishermen usually work at night, tracing the schools by the milky, phosphorescent pools of light which their silvery bodies reflect.

It's No Use

Vote Victor To 'Doll Up' Private Car

KANSAS CITY, Kan. — (UP)—Harry O. Tinklepaugh made probably the shortest "acceptance" speech on record.

Tinklepaugh went to vote. Renz Edwards, long-time friend, told him he proposed to vote for him for constable.

Tinklepaugh said: "Fine."

Edwards did some quick campaigning. He lined up four votes for his friend. Tinklepaugh [illegible] no more of the "joke."

When the counting board fin[illegible] it certified Tinklepaugh as constable on the basis of those four write-in votes.

There were no candidates on the ticket for the no-fee-no-office job. So there were 61 write-ins. And Tinklepaugh's four votes top[illegible].

For the surprised Tinklepaugh, there was some satisfaction.

"Now I can put a red light and siren on my car," he grinned.

LOS ANGELES juvenile authorities are pondering the story of 16-year-old James A. Thompson, who says 36-year-old Leitha Marie (Margie) Truax lured him into an elopement to Yuma, Ariz. Gin she gave him, he says, made him agree to wed.—(International)

IS UNWANTED HAIR HIDING YOUR NATURAL BEAUTY AND CHARM?

Superfluous hair causes so much unhappiness that it changes the mental attitude of those that have it—gives them a dark outlook on life—changes them from a carefree person to a nervous, shy person, because they are always trying to hide their face from the people that they meet. No matter how well you are dressed, or how you apply your make-up, you cannot keep superfluous hair from being seen. No case is too far advanced, if you tweeze, shave, or use other methods to remove the hair temporarily, you owe it to yourself, your family and friends to have the hair permanently removed by electrolysis, the only method endorsed by physicians everywhere.

All work is done by appointment, from 1:30 to 9 P.M. Phone 5325 during these hours for appointment or write for free information. There is no charge for private consultation. I use the Brantronic Short Wave system on the legs and arms and it removes around 1,000 hairs per hour. On the face, I use the Kreeten needle machine for coarse hairs, and removes around 120 hairs per hour. The charge for either machine is $5 per hour. Work is done for men and women.

Why go through your life being unhappy because you have superfluous hair when you can have it permanently removed?

Cities Join Ban Against Comic Books

Civic Groups Force Action

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The American Municipal Association reports that nearly 50 cities have banned the sale of certain comic books.

The books were declared objectionable by various civic groups.

Los Angeles and Terre Haute, Ind., are the first localities to pass ordinances placing the bans in effect. In Los Angeles County, the ordinance prohibits the sale of comic books dealing with murder, burglary, kidnaping, arson or assault with deadly weapons.

County Supervisor Leonard J. Roach of Los Angeles seeks to have the ban adopted by the California Legislature to cover the entire state.

Terre Haute's ordinance bans the sale, display, printing and distribution of undesirable comic books. A 10-member civic board will decide which are undesirable.

Many other cities are setting op censorship committees. Among the most recent to do so are Oneida City, N. Y., and East Hartford, Conn. In both cities dealers promised co-operation.

Indianapolis has removed 52 "objectionable" comic books from the market through co-operation with distributors.

In Racine, Wis., comic book dealers are doing their own censoring, in co-operation with city officials and civic groups.

Twenty states have laws forbidding the sale of obscene, indecent, harmful or immoral literature. These statutes could be applied to comic books. In Detroit, the county prosecutor held that certain comics violated Michigan statutes, and Detroit distributors banned the books from circulation.

However, the validity of such state laws is being questioned. A recent decision by the U. S. Supreme Court held a New York law unconstitutional. The law prohibited distribution of magazines composed principally of crime news or stories of bloodshed and lust.

In Illinois, lower courts have a case pending in which the city of Chicago has been challenged for interfering with distributors of comic books under a state law.

Old Grad, 86 Stays Young

ALFRED, N.Y. (U.P.)—Former State Tax Commissioner John J. Merrill, 86, is attending Alfred university football games again for the first time in five years.

But Merrill, referred to as "the grand old man of Alfred athletics," was never too far from the Alfred gridiron. During his illness, he watched the squad from his bedroom window through a pair of binoculars.

A member of Alfred's class of 1884, Merrill served as state tax commissioner until his retirement in 1939. He was elected to the Alfred board of trustees two years before the football field, later to be called Merrill Field, was constructed.

Despite his age, Merrill is still full of ideas for improvement of Alfred's athletic facilities.

"I'd like to see the Kanakadea Creek straightened below the football field and an ice rink put in," he said.

Michigan Man, 'Who Could Not Win,' Governor at 37

Central Press Correspondent

DETROIT—A gangling young man known to his friends as "Soapy" is governor-elect of Michigan, to the considerable astonishment of his election opponent, Gov. Kim Sigler, and virtually everybody else in Michigan, including Soapy himself.

Formal name of the new governor, a bow-tie addict who has been likened in appearance to a well-nourished Frank Sinatra, is Gerhardt Mennen Williams. He shortens the Gerhardt, however, to the initial G.

Williams is named for his grandfather, Gerhardt Mennen, a German immigrant who founded the huge soap and talcum powder business bearing the family name.

The governor-elect is a director of the firm, and is slated to inherit a substantial share of the Mennen fortune. Right now, however, his only income from this source is $100 a month from a trust fund.

Williams' mother and other relatives are staunch Republicans and did not rush to Soapy's support with check books in hand when he announced himself as a Democratic candidate for governor. Nor, for that matter, did the state Democratic organization.

As a result, G. Mennen had to plaster a mortgage on his seven room $22,000 home in Gross Pointe Farms, a fashionable suburb of Detroit.

★

WILLIAMS and his wife, Nancy, stumped the state in a rattletrap convertible. His entire campaign was made on a budget of about $15,000, plus the support of the CIO-PAC and AFL political agencies.

There were no "Williams for Governor" buttons, no bunting, no banners, few billboards, circulars and radio speeches.

Gov. Kim Sigler, the former Nebraska cowboy who won a rousing victory at the polls two years ago on the strength of his reputation as a prosecutor of grafting legislators, was supremely confident that he would be easily re-elected.

In fact, he estimated his margin of victory at 350,000 votes. He was wrong by about 500,000.

Williams, showing far more strength than anybody else on the Democratic ticket, defeated him by approximately 150,000.

G. Mennen's showing is the more remarkable in view of the fact that Governor Dewey carried the state by 34,000 votes over President Truman, and most of the races for state offices were won by Republicans.

FOOLED 'EM—G. Mennen Williams.

At 37, Williams is the third youngest man ever elected governor of Michigan. Wilbur M. Brucker was 36 when he was elected in 1931. Michigan's first governor, Thaddeus T. Stevens, was only 24.

At prep school in Salisbury, Conn., young Soapy (the nickname comes from the family business) astonished his teachers with his scholastic brilliance. He got the highest marks in the history of the school.

Williams' activities weren't confined to books. He was on the ski and basketball teams and won two letters as center on the football squad. He also was chosen as head of the student council.

He first was tagged with his nickname, Soapy, while vacationing on a dude ranch in Dubois, Wyo., in 1926.

At the ranch Williams also met Elliott and James Roosevelt. As result, when entering Princeton university in 1932, he became deeply intrested in the political philosophies of President Roosevelt.

At Princeton, Williams boxed, played intramural football and squash, and was stroke on the junior varsity crew. He graduated as a Phi Beta Kappa, then entered the University of Michigan to study law.

He helped prepare the brief for the government's successful fight to have the Supreme Court rule the Social Security Act valid.

Tiro Couple Marks 52nd Anniversary

Benjamin Oggs Still Partying

TIRO—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Ogg observed their 52nd wedding anniversary yesterday in their South Main street home but a big celebration is set Sunday at the home with a family dinner. Open house will be held from 2 to 4 p. m. Sunday. The dinner will be prepared by Mrs. Martha Lafollette, a sister of Mrs. Ogg and Mrs. L. O. Graham.

Rev. Sherbern of the Free Methodist church in Summerfield married the couple on Nov. 24, 1896. The pastor, now 82, resides in Barnesville and himself recently married a bride in her seventies.

The Oggs started housekeeping on North Chestnut street in Barnesville where they resided with the exception of a few years in Akron and 12 years in this community. He has been a farmer most of his life although operating a boarding home in Akron for two years.

They never had any children but acted as parents to three children. L. O. Graham, of this community, was reared by the Oggs after his mother died when he was 20 months of age. A niece, Ms. William Powell, was reared by the Oggs as was another relative, now deceased.

Mrs. Ogg, the daughter of John and Martha Barr, was born Nov. 30, 1868 at Summerfield in Noble county. Benjamin Nelson Ogg was born Aug. 15, 1868 at Barnesville, the son of Robert and Rachel Ogg. The couple became acquainted while attending the Free Methodist Sunday school at Trotts school near Summerfield.

They well remember farming before the mechanical age and the first steam threshing machine which looked like a big stove and had to be pulled from farm to farm by horses. They're certain modern methods is less tedious and bigger crops result.

The Oggs have participated in church activities all their lives and are members of the Evangelical United Brethren church here.

North Fairfield Club Lunches, Has Meeting

NORTH FAIRFIELD—The For Efficiency Farm Women's club met last week at home of Mrs. Donald Lee. Mrs. Roy Lee, Mrs. Adin Woodworth and Mrs. Thomas W. Bond were assistant hostesses for the luncheon. Mrs. Wayne McPherson presided with Mrs. Phillip Lewis presenting the devotions.

Miss Anna Roe gave a 35-year history of the club and future plans were given by Mrs. Richard Easter. A donation was voted for the school hot lunch project. The Dec. 15 meeting will be held at Mrs. Harry Woodruff's home.

Two Suits Dismissed In Crawford Court

BUCYRUS — Dismissal of two suits filed in Crawford county common pleas court here against George P. Markley, Bucyrus justice of peace, was reported yesterday by Court Clerk Joe Royer.

In one action Opal McCracken asked $5,000 judgment from Markley for injuries allegedly received in an auto collision here while her husband had sought $650 for damages to his automobile. Both actions were dismissed because of failure to secure court costs.

Sound Film Job Confronts Venezuelan-Bound Flxible

LOUDONVILLE — A Flxible Land Cruiser has returned from its initial shakedown cruise prior to joining an eastern film concern's fleet built to operate throughout Venezuela. It will operate there for a year, filming sound motion pictures of many heretofore unphotographed phases of South American life and customs.

It has been designed and built to conform to other equipment and facilities of the eastern firm for making motion pictures on foreign locations.

The films made on this year's tour are intended primarily for showing on the Venezuelan screen but it is expected English language versions will be produced for use in the United States.

The Flxible mobile dormitory is equipped with radio-telephone, bottled gas range and electric refrigerator, heater, berths for 10 persons, automatic hot water, indirect lighting, shower, sanitary disposal system with septic tank, complete air conditioning and automatic gasoline engine electric plant.

The interior has been finished in cool green plastic tile while the exterior is a pleasing shade of gray. A number of these custom-built landcruisers are in the process of manufacture at the Flxible plant here.

Quartet Tickets On Sale Friday

Word of mouth reports on the Harvest of Harmony which will bring championship quartets to Mansfield on Dec. 4 have brought ticket orders from a dozen Ohio communities, H. H. Clingan stated today.

Clingan, president of Mansfield chapter of the Society for the Encouragement and Preservation of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America, Inc., announced that tickets will officially go on sale Friday at Tawse's Drug store, Martin Hardware company and Drumm Color service.

The parade of quartets, which will bring the major U. S. champions to the city, will be held at Mansfield Senior high school and John Simpson Junior high.

Non-Support Charge Brings Continuance

ASHLAND — Arthur Emery, Mansfield, has been granted a week's continuance by Ashland county common pleas court to allow him to find work before his hearing on non-support charges filed here.

Emery received a suspended workhouse sentence May 29 last year, the suspension conditioned on his payment of $10 weekly support for four minor children and payment of back alimony. Records show he has paid $1,003 since then but one of the children is in hospital and additional aid is required.

BLAME MINE OWNERS

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— The U. S. Bureau of Mines blames failure of mine owners to correct "dangerous" working conditions for the 1945 mine explosion at Fourmile, Ky. The blast killed 25 miners.

90th Birthday Anniversary Brings Week of Celebration

TIRO — A week of festivities ended today for Mrs. J. C. Miller, who observed her 90th birthday anniversary last Thursday. She resides with her sons, Lloyd and Oliver J., on North Main street.

The big celebration was held Sunday when more than a score of children, grandchildren and their wives gathered at the Miller home. A gaily decorated birthday cake served as the center piece. A family reunion followed the repast.

Mrs. Miller has lived here 64 years and in Ohio her lifetime. A slight hearing impediment and a broken hip, suffered last year, mar her otherwise good state of health.

She recalls there were but 30 houses in tthe village when she and her husband moved here from Brandywine. Her late husband was a blacksmith and served as fire chief here for many years. They were married in Bucyrus on July 4, 1877, and she recalls the shooting of fireworks after the ceremony.

They started housekeeping in New Washington then moved to Canton, Bucyrus and Brandywine before coming here in 1884. Mrs. Miller recalls many many village history incidents, including a fire that destroyed several homes on North Main street and threatened the Miller residence.

At that time five members of the family were ill with typhoid fever and were taken across the street to another home which also was stricken with the disease. As a young woman Mrs. Miller had poor health and never expected to mark her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Miller was born in New Washington, the daughter of Jacob and Mary Anne Seydel Stoutenour. A brother, George Stoutenour, of Elkhart, Ind., was unable to attend Sunday's dinner. Six children, six grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren were in attendance.

Barber Shop Singers Plan Show In Tiro

Galion Group Booked Tuesday

TIRO — The Galion Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America will present a program at 8:15 p. m. Tuesday in the local school auditorium.

Two quartets and chorus numbers will be featured along with the Galion Clippers, Alpagora Four, Ronald Myers, Galion scholastic magician, comedy and blackface acts. The Buckeye Ragtimers And the Andrewski Sisters also will share the spotlight.

Proceeds from the program will go to the school typewriter fund. It is being sponsored by the school's commercial department which is headed by Miss Helen Jean Weidemaier. The auditorium recently has been refinished.

Lester Tupps, president of the Galion organization, will be emcee with Charles Line directing the chorus and Tom Hobson leading community singing. Solo numbers will be given by Elmer Phillips, Willard Chambers and Don Tupps.

Bill Blashfield and Tom Hobson will play piano solos while Les Hildebrand will give a guitar solo. There also will be readings, blackface acts and other specialty numbers.

HEAP BIG PALEFACE — One of the most picturesque arrivals in many moons at LaGuardia Field, New York, is Jorgen Matthiessen, 5, who hails from Denmark. Apparently he heard that the Indians still roamed the American plains because he came equipped with a coonskin cap. His little brother, Hans, seems to be imploring him to keep an eye peeled for the redskins. They're headed for "frontier" territory in Spencer. Iowa, where their dad has a bricklaying job. Yule Look Takes Over In Ashland

Business Area Now Lighted

ASHLAND — Ashland's downtown section is taking on a Yuletide atmosphere with the installation of 33 strands of lighted evergreens in the business section and on streets leading into the business part of town.

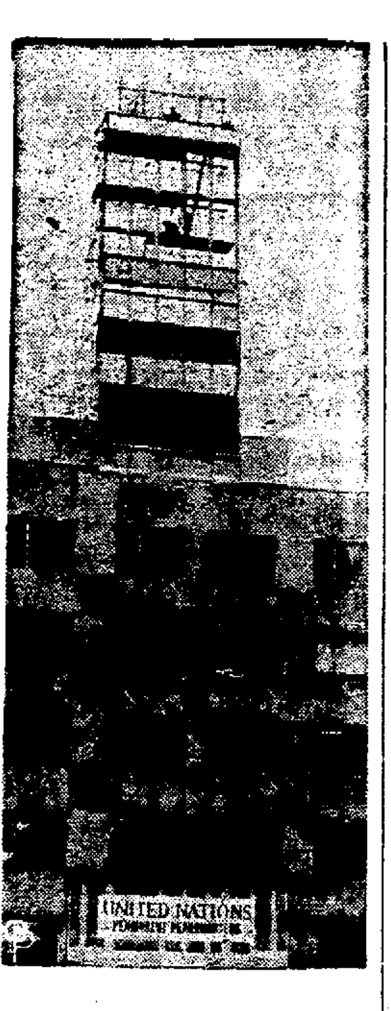
A total of $1,600 is being spent on the decorations which will add a festive air to the area in which Christmas shoppers will make their holiday purchases.

Three large Christmas trees are to be erected in the downtown section, while entrances to the city on nine routes will be decorated with laurel on which signs reading "Merry Christmas" and "Season's Greetings" will be hung.

Sponsored by the Ashland Chamber of Commerce, the decorations will be lighted in the downtown section so long as the power situation does not become acute. Lights will be turned on at 7 p. m. each night beginning last night after the peak load on electric power is ended, according to Joseph F. McClure, executive secretary of the C. of C.

Submits Low Bid

MILLERSBURG—A low bid of $48,023 was turned in yesterday by the Wendling Brothers company, of Dover, to rade, drain and pave .241 mile of State Highway 241 in Hardy township in Holmes county. The original estimate on the project was $50,450, the State Highway department announced in Columbus.



U.N. BUILDING MODEL — Workmen are pictured putting the final touches on the 50-foot high model of the facade of the projected U.N. Secretariat Building to be erected in New York. The facade, termed a "mock-up" by architects, is made of wood and glass and is being constructed on the roof of the United Nation's Manhattan Building in New York. (International.)

Milk Cows, Too, Need Haircut

Dairymen Told Of Cleanliness

COLUMBUS—Clean milk, the kind city consumers want, comes only from clean cows. How it is handled after it leaves the cow is a factor in keeping it clean. Dairy specialists constantly advise dairymen on ways and means of producing quality milk and products of milk.

The usual recommendations are brushing the cow's flanks, sides and udders, washing her udder and teats with a disinfectant solution, milking with clean hands into clean utensil, then cooling the milk quickly and keeping it cool until delivered.

During the fall and winter months, when the cows are stabled much of the time, and when the animals' hairs become long, they are apt to become caked with mud, dirt and foreign matter. Clipping the flanks and udders of the cows is then in order, says R. R. Starbuck, extension specialist of Ohio State university.

He points out the foreign matter that collects on the long hairs teem with millions of bacteria and when it gets into the milk, is a common source of excessive sediment and the cause of rapid deterioration of quality. Straining will take out some of the sediment but it will not remove the bacteria.

Four advantages of clipping cows are mentioned by the specialists: It reduces the labor of keeping the cows clean; lowers the bacterial count in the milk; improves the flavor of the milk and increases its keeping quality.

Farewell Party Given Officer

BUCYRUS — Wesley Crum, Bucyrus, who is returning to service in the U. S. Army as a first lieutenant this week, was honored by Bucyrus Knights of Columbus lodge with a farewell party.

Lieut. Crum held the post of grand knight in the local lodge and was presented with a billfold by Bernard Walters, representing the lodge. Succeeding him as grand knight will be Robert Breymaier.

The returning army officer, who served 13 months overseas during World War II, will report at Fort Lewis, Wash. His wife and daughter Carol will join him later.

Civic Affairs Topic Of Crestline Chamber

CRESTLINE — A round table discussion of civic affairs was held at a dinner meeting Monday of the local Chamber of Commerce presided over by the new president, Edward Boyer. Short talks were given by Ted Hoffman, vice president, and Robert Dauber, secretary.

A business meeting was scheduled Dec. 15 and a dinner meeting in January.

Bucyrus Suit Asks Judgment of $408

BUCYRUS — Judgment of $408 is asked in an action filed in Crawford County Common Pleas court here by Walter F. Tobin, Bucyrus, against Ralph L. and Marian Patterson.

Tobin alleges he loaned the defendants $408 on Aug. 9, 1947, which they were to repay with interest in 12 months. The petition states that no payments were made and asks that a decree to impress a lien upon propery of the Pattersons be granted.

Yule Mail Speed Urged In Shelby

Dec. 10 Deadline Conformity Sought

SHELBY — Early Christmas mailing was urged by Leo A. McGaw, local postmaster, as a new record of postal handlings is anticipated. Last year a total of 295,960 pieces of mail were cleared through the local office to shatter previous marks.

"If you postpone mailing to the last minute, this year," he warned, "you risk disappointing your friends. Your holiday messages and gifts may be caught in the rush and perhaps not delivered until after Christmas."

All packages should be mailed before Dec. 10 to assure delivery before Christmas day, he said. Christmas cards for out-of-state delivery should be mailed by that date and cards for local addresses should be in collection boxes at least a week before the holiday.

The post office has prepared for the rush by adding extra clerks and carriers, overhauling delivery trucks and even putting new pen points in the office pens.

HOLD TURKEY DINNER

BUCYRUS—Approximately 325 members attended the annual turkey dinner held Monday night by the Bucyrus Moose lodge at its home here. Following the banquet, initiatory ceremonies were held for 14 new members, Earl Leonard, lodge secretary, reported.

Falcon Choirs To Present Two Dec. 1 Concerts In Area

SHELBY—The Treble Clef and Men's Glee club of Bowling Green State university will combine to present two Christmas concerts in the Mansfield area on Wednesday, Dec. 1.

The afternoon concert will be given in the high school here while the evening concert will be presented in Grace Methodist church in Willard.

The choirs will give a program of both sacred and secular numbers. The concerts are in preparation for the annual concert tour of the group that is scheduled next spring to the southern and northwestern states.

Dr. James Paul Kennedy, pianist, arranger and composer, is director of the group. Dr. Kennedy has directed the two units since 1936, when he came to Bowling Green State university.

He received his A. B. degree at Penn college; his B. M. Ed. and M. A. degrees at Northwestern university and his Ph. D. degree at the University of Iowa.

DR. JAMES P. KENNEDY

He also has studied at Matthay Pianoforte school in London, England.

Cleveland Pythians To Honor Crestliner

CRESTLINE—An outstanding worker in the Knights of Pythias lodge here, A. L. Wright of North Henry street, will be honored at a dinner and ceremonial in Cleveland's Hotel Allerton on Saturday, Dec. 4 by Jan Ben Jan Temple.

A large number of local residents are planning to attend the ceremonial. Cleveland is known as the playground of the Pythian order.

Lodge Sets Reception In Bucyrus

Eastern Star Chapter Active

BUCYRUS — Approximately 200 are expected to attend the reception tomorrow night given by Bucyrus chapter of Order of Eastern Star for the new district deputy grand matron, Mrs. H. R. Kiess, a member of the local chapter.

An invitation has been extended to all grand officers, state deputies and members of Bucyrus chapter living out of town, as well as husbands of chapter members.

Mrs. Walter Etsinger is in charge of entertainment and Mrs. Rollen Koons is refreshment committee chairman. The affair will be held at the Masonic Temple here.

Baptist Church In Shelby To Mark 50th Anniversary

SHELBY — The First Baptist church here will hold its 50th anniversary and homecoming services Saturday and Sunday. A covered dish fellowship supper will be held at 6:30 p. m. Saturday in the basement at which time former pastors and members will be introduced.

Services will be held at 7:45 p. m. Saturday with singspiration with Miss Ellen Haas at the piano, special music and a message by Rev. Ralph Zundel, of Troy, a former pastor.

Anniversary services start at 9:30 a. m. Sunday with the choir and Mrs. Liversay, soloist, being featured. Rev. W. L. Martin, field secretary of the Southern Baptist convention and a former pastor, will bring the message. Then follows Communion.

At 2:30 p. m. Sunday a memorial service will be held and the church history read. Special music will be furnished by Harry Fagan and a duet by O. G. Oster and Miss Lucille Laser are scheduled. Letters and greetings from former pastors, members and students will be read.

The anniversary services will conclude with a 7:30 p. m. singspiration, special message and the concluding message by Rev. T. F. Sowers, pastor of First Baptist church of Hutchinson, Kan., also a former pastor.

An anniversary booklet, containing the church history, will be distributed at the Sunday services.

Says Factory-Made Cookies Beat the Home-Made Article

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The American housewife isn't above passing off factory-made cookies as her own, a cookie manufacturer told the annual convention of the biscuit and cracker association in Chicago.

Agard Billings, who learned to make cookies in Sweden and started his own factory in Chicago in 1917, said the ladies had given up making cookies because professionally made cookies are cheaper and better.

"Our cookies taste the same each time," Billings said. "We don't have good results one time and bad results another."

He said his cookies are cheaper because manufacturers buy in quantity and probably better because a quantity buyer can demand quality.

ies. "We use assembly line meth-costs of her ingredients she would see our cookies are money-savers," he said. "But most ladies are too proud to admit they aren't economizing."

Billings said that there had been no great change in making cookies. "We use assembly line metods," he said, "but it's still the same cookie that grandmother made in her kitchen.

"There's no substitute for quality. I don't think you can fool your stomach, no matter what the chemists say," Billings concluded.

TOO MANY FINGERS

TACOMA, Wash. (U.P.)—Police were thrown into a dither here recently when they attempted to fingerprint a waman arrested on a morals charge. They found she had five fingers and a thumb on each hand. Sgt. R. K. Henderson solved the puzzle by recording the extra print on the back of the record card.

County Forces Improve 49 Miles of Highway During Year

Crews Near End of Big Program

Ditches Built, Berms Repaired

CLOSE BUSY YEAR—A successful berming and ditching program has been nearly completed by the county engineering department, County Engineer Walter E. Rusk reported. He paid tribute to the work of the berming and ditching gang. Pictured here are members of the crew.. Left to right, they are George Meyers, dirt-loader operator, Paul Koons, Frank Evel and George Logan, maintenance operator.

Since early May the county engineering department has taken care of berming and ditching of 36 miles of county and 13 miles of township roads.

One crew has been steadily engaged in that work. County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said this has been the best year in some time on berming and ditching.

The machinery used includes a maintainer and a dirt loader. The maintainer is used to level off high spots on the berms and then used in cleaning out the ditches. The dirt loader then comes along and loads the dirt and brush cleared out of the ditches into trucks.

One of the chief results of berming and ditching is the expediting of drainage.

ROADS LISTED

Berming and ditching of the following county roads was completed during the past summer:

Amoy West, two miles, Cider, two and one-half miles Cook, two miles; State Route 13, four miles; Kuhn, four and one-half miles; Crum, three and one-half miles; Hanley, seven miles Millsboro west, four and one-half miles; Xoogle-Harlan, four and one-half miles; Crestline - Bloominggrove, two miles.

Berming and ditching work was done by county forces on the following township roads:

Amstutz, one-half mile, Lattimer, three miles: Bloominggrove, one-half miles, all in Bloominggrove township.

Barnes (Cass township) one mile; Preston, one and one-fourth miles, and Shoup, one and one-fourth miles, both in Plymouth townships; Hawk (Jackson township), one and one-half miles; Chesrown (Franklin) two and one-hald miles; Graham, one and one-half miles, and Gass, one mile both in Troy township.

Rusk said the berming and ditching project would be continued on hard-surface roads as long as the weather permits.

He said berming and ditching in the three southern townships in the county, Perry, Jefferson and Worthington, was a continuous operation as part of the maintainence and repair program of the Bellville outpost garage.

Township crews went over roads in their areas, which were bermed and ditched, putting on a light coat of gravel.

Rusk pointed out that the townships pay the county for the berming and ditching work, but the charge is the actual cost of the work.

Rusk said a survey has been made of the Lexington-Ontario road, with a view to widening it, putting on a coat of gravel and straightening monor curves. The work is expected to start early next year, Rusk said, as this road is expected to take much of the traffic from State Route 545, which will be flooded by the Clear Fork dam.

Rusk said berming of the following roads was completed recently: Bowman road for 14.7 miles; one-half mile of the Upper Lucas road; and three miles of the Mansfield-Little Washington road.

By lowering high spots in the berms, snow plows can function better. Berming work helps minimize the damages from the elements during the winter months.

"The indians dutifully mumbled in the first rehearsal. Walsh called an assistant and asked for more action.

"Tell 'em to forget they're being photographed," he said. 'Tell 'em to talk about what crazy people the picture-makers are.'

"That did it. The Indians grinned, and then started gesturing as they chatted about the guys from Hollywood who paid them so much dough just for sitting in the sun!"

Water Witch Aids Doctor

ORCHARD PARK, N. Y. (U.P.) —Scoff if you wish, but Dr. Herbert C. Mann, a 61-year-old local physician, claims he can locate hidden water with nothing more than a plain Y-shaped twig.

Dr. Mann, a confirmed scoffer himself until three years ago, had his viewpoint changed at a party given by a friend.

"We went to a well that already existed," he recalled. "It worked for two of use, including myself, but not for the others."

To "water-witch or "water-douse," Mr. Mann explained, you merely grasp two ends of the twig and walk slowly over the ground to be tested. When the third end suddenly points earthward, seemingly of its own accord—you've struck water.

Just how the twig is drawn to water, Dr. Mann admits he's unable to explain.

Whether the witching-rod can be used to locate other substances like oil or uranium is also unknown to the doctor but he admits he doubts it.

State Head Says Father Hit Politics

Missouri Voters Prefer Smith

JEFFERSON CITY,Mo.,—(AP) Back in 1912 School Teacher Forrest Smith decided to run for county clerk in Ray county.

His father didn't think it was such a good idea. He said he never had known a politician who amounted to anything.

But next January the man who disregarded his father's advice will be inaugurated as governor of Missouri. A Democrat, he swept into office with a thumping majority.

Smith has been a public office holder for 35 of his 62 years. The past 16 he has been state auditor of Missouri, the only state official to be elected to four terms. He campaigned with the slogan: "There is no substitute for experience."

The incoming governor has a frame and features that combine to make a political asset. He is six feet tall and 200 pounds. His face is easy for voters to remember—heavy black eyebrows overhanging rugged features, topped by greying black hair with cowlick tendencies.

Smith's campaign platform pledged better pay for teachers, better roads for farmers, more aid for the needy, increased funds for a modern health program, along with an efficient administration and"lower taxes at every oportunity."

When not working they say there are three places you can find him: At a football game, fishing or hunting or at his 120-acre farm near his home town of Richmond, Mo.

Proud of her husband is Mrs. Mildred Smith. Theirs was a school room romance. She taught the primary grades in the school of which Smith was the principal. They have two married daughters.

Ad Answerers Irk Widow

ST. LOUIS — (UP) — Mrs. May Edgar, white-haired widow in her fifties, is not in favor of the advertising-for-a-husband stunt.

A practical joker, believed by Mrs. Edgar to be a suitor she had rejected, inserted such an ad in a newspaper here giving her telephone number.

Mrs. Edgar groggily said she had received 186 calls.

The widow explained she was not in the market for a husband, "and anyway, I think I could get one without putting an ad in the paper."

Botanist Finds 3 Rare Flowers

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col. — (UP) — A botanist, Dr. C. William T. Penland of Colorado College, has discovered three flower species in Colorado's mountains that never before have been found in the state.

The armeria was found in the Hoosier Pass area near Breckinridge. Heretofore the nearest to Colorado it had been found growing wild was in Labrador. 2,000 miles east.

At the same elevation, 12,800 feet, Dr. Penland found the saussaurea alpina, whose closest relative is found in the, Canadian Rockies, 1,500 miles north.

And the third new Colorado flower was the cyctopteris Montana, which is reported in Glacier Park, Mont , 800 miles north.

ARRESTS HIMSELF

TACOMA, Wash. — (U.P.) — Police, who are used to persons objecting to arrest, were amazed here when a Tacoman arrested himself. Officers received a call to a house to investigate a report that a man was beating his wife. The report proved true Officers said the man looked at them, said, "I'm under arrest," and walked to the paddy wagon. He let himself in, closed the door, and said, "Police station, please."

ARMY TESTS PREFABS

COLUMBUS, O — (U P) —The Army will test a new type of all-steel factory-built house under Arctic weather conditions this winter. Carl Strandlund, president of Lustron Corporation here, said that two houses were purchased by the Army Engineering Corps and flown to Alaska, where they will be erected in Fairbanks and Anchorage. All parts of the seven-ton porcelain enamel steel house, except the foundation pieces, were transported in one plane load, Strandlund said.

'Poor Old Army' Worried Over Navy Game

Cadets Fear Recurrence Of '46 Game

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—(UP)—The warning shades of Davis and Blanchard hung over the grim, gray battlements at West Point today as the Army's undefeated football forces vigorously "feared" an all-losing Navy team they are favored to defeat by 20½ points in Saturday's service classic.

Army having won eight in a row, and Navy having dropped eight straight, the watchword on the heights above the Hudson is: Remember 1946.

That was the year, you'll recall, when Army's mythical national champions, spearheaded by Davis and Blanchard, were lucky to escape with a 21-18 verdict as the clock ran out with Navy inside the Cadet five-yard line.

SCOUT IS SCARED

The Cadet coaching staff still trembles when it thinks of that one and it has had Johnny Mauer, the plebe football and varsity basketball pilot, scouting the Middies all season. Mauer once ran interference at Illinois for Red Grange and his charts at the moment are required reading at the military academy.

Considering that Navy was knocked off in order by California, Cornell, Duke, Missouri, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, Michigan and Columbia, it is surprising how many reasons Mauer can find to tremble at the thought of Saturday's conflict.

Add to that the fact that Army beat two common opponents, Cornell and Pennsylvania, and it is even more amazing. But Mayer checks them off in this order:

1. Navy had an "unfortunate" schedule.
2 Navy never before had two weeks of rest between games.
3 The Navy personnel "is not bad."
4 "If Navy comes up with a good game it could give anybody trouble.
5 This is "entirely different" than an ordinary game
6. Eetc, etc, etc.

Mauer moans that there isn't an optimistic coach on the Army staff."

"Until Navy played Columbia in its last game it met an undefeated team every Saturday," he explained with something suspiciously resembling a tear popping from the corner of his left eye. "And most of them ranked among the first 10 in the country."

COLUMBIA BEAT NAVY

The Army coaching staff overlooks the fact that Navy was boffoed, 13 to 0, last time out by a Columbia team which also took its share of lumps this season.

"It stands to reason," he said sorrowfully, "that a team can't get batted around week after week and not learn a lot of football—if it stays in one piece."

Navy, at last report, was in one piece. But it took a few miles of scotch tape to account for this miracle.

Mauer, all in all, proved a good emissary for Army Coach Earl (Red) Blaik, who out of sheer habit would "fear" P. S. 196 if the grammar school gridders were going to scrimmage his pachyderms of the Plains Blaik's boys don't play Notre Dame anymore, but he'll give Frank Leahy a tussle for crying towel honors anytime, anywhere.

Climaxing his report, Mauer announced that Navy had "adequate weapons." His tone indicated that each Middie would go into the game armed with brass knuckles and a hatchet. And his parting shot was.

"But we'll be there!"

That's probably news everywhere but in Annapolis.

Shelby Ends Season Today

SHELBY—The Shelby Blues and Marion Angels will wind up the 1948 football season here at 2.30 this afternoon.

The Blues have been out of action for several weeks but have been holding concentrated practices to get in shape for the final contest. Marion played the Shelby eleven to a 14-14 tie early in the season.

One of the best games seen on local gridirons is expected as the feeling between the clubs is such that Marion, having already completed its season, voted for one more game to attempt to make up for the earlier tie.

Joe's Crown Safe In Cincinnati Bout

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Not that anyone is much worried about such a thing happening, but heavyweight boxing Champion Joe Louis can not lose his title when he meets Oakland Billy Smith in an exhibition bout here next Monday night.

Promoter Sam Becker wanted a ruling that the championship would change handes if—and that's a big word—Smith knocks out Louis. The Cincinnati boxing and wrestling commission said "no," however, so the exhibition will be just an exhibition.

Ol' Case Never Had a Chance as Pilot

(AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor)

NEW YORK—Casey Stengel's ears must be ringing. When the New York Yankees recently appointed the 57-year-old former Giant and Dodger as their manager, some of the boys had harsh things to say about Ol' Case's managerial background That was after Casey went back to relax around his Glendale, Calif., home

They wrote that Stengel in his three years as Brooklyn manager finished fifth, sixth and seventh. They wrote that he put in six years as the Boston Braves' pilot and finished fifth once, sixth once and seventh four times He never once made the first division.

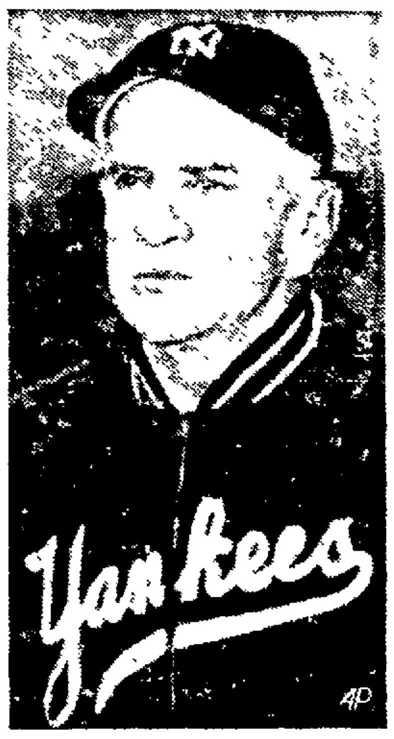
But they forget to mention that Ol' Case never had a chance with what the Dodgers and Braves had in those days. Both clubs were on their last legs financially and they had no farm systems as we know them today.

Stengel had more washed up ballplayers than a laundry has washing machines.

When he was managing the Dodgers and Braves—this is a tribute to the present owners—he was in the same position as Joe Kuhel is today as Washington Senator manager Kuhel is a member of the American Society of Amateur Magicians. He is expected to do miracles Maybe the old Dodger and Brave bosses expected the same of Ol' Case. After all, it was Stengel who took his cap off in the Polo Grounds one day and out flew a sparrow. It was Stengel's way of giving the umpire the bird.

Stengel talks to Zack Taylor when Casey was Brooklyn pilot.

. . . nothing helped at Boston.



. . . Case's a Yankee, now.

The stories about Stengel are legion. He is the senior Lefty Gomez. Only Stengel tells most of his yarns with gestures One time he showed a player how to slide. He did it in a hotel lobby

When Gomez sought to hang on in the majors with a sore arm, Stengel gave him a chance with the Boston Bees

"Everything was going fine," says Gomez, "until Stengel told me he would make a pitcher out of me He told me this and he told me that about John McGraw He always called him 'the old man One day Casey asked me what I thought of 'the old man' I said 'In this league I don't think you know "the old man" is dead' The next week I was released"

Stengel's easy-going manner keeps his players happy. Last season he entertained his Oakland Oaks to such an extent that they won their first Pacific Coast League championship in 21 years.

When the team won an important doubleheader Stengel went into his own pocket and bought each player a $3 steak dinner. In the final week, with Lefty O-Doul's San Francisco team about to challenge Stengel's Oaks, Casey's charges won an important game. He raised the ante to a $5 steak dinner.

When Oakland crushed Los Angeles, 23 to 15, in one of the Governors' Cup playoff games after the Angels were leading, 9-2, Stengel declared:

"Guess this rates a $10 steak dinner."

Twenty-seven Oakland players lined up and Stengel peeled off $270 from his roll

Casey is going to find the Yankees mighty expensive when it comes to buying steak dinners, especially if the 1949 season is anything like the 1948 dogfight between the Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and New Yorkers

Oregon–Snubbed By Coast –Is Popular Bowl Choice

NEW YORK—(UP)—Defeated in the balloting to name the western Rose Bowl team, Oregon today nevertheless was winning a popularity poll among promoters and would-be promoters of bowl games from one end of the nation to the other.

The once-defeated Webfoots, who took their ballot loss to California hard, turned down two invitations yesterday—one to play in an American Legion game at Los Angeles Dec. 18 and another to play in the Harbor Bowl at San Diego, Cal, New Year's Day.

But that didn't discourage anybody Honolulu quickly checked in with an invitation from the University of Hawaii to play a Dec 17 game there. School officials took that one under advisement

Oregon Athletic Director Leo Harris intimated that his Webfoots would be interested only in a "major bowl" game—presumably, the cotton sugar or orange bowls. And even then, Oregon would need Pacific Coast conference permission to play such a game

There was no indication from either the cotton, sugar or orange bowls how they felt about the matter, but Oregon definitely was in the races today.

Oklahoma, meanwhile seemed earmarked for the sugar bowl. The Sooners, in an informal poll conducted by local newspapers, expressed the desire to go to the New Orleans game, and the sugar bowl people already have indicated they want Oklahoma if it beats Oklahoma A. and M. Saturday

Georgia almost surely will get the other sugar bowl bid if it beats Georgia Tech this week. But what if Tech pulls an upset?

That's what North Carolina was wondering. It was pretty definite that Carolina already had a cotton bowl invitation, but an informed source said the Tar Heels may gamble and wait for a possible sugar bowl invitation where there's more money. The cotton bowl said it expected to hear from its number one choice today. That presumably was Carolina, although the Dallas officials refused to identify the team.

Meanwhile, the smaller bowls were making matches faster than the football fans could light on them.

Wharton, Tex, Junior college agreed to play in the oleander bowl at Galveston, Tex., Dec. 29, and the raisin bowl at Fresno, Cal, paired undefeated, untied Occidental college against Colorado. A. and M.

The sun bowl at El Paso, Tex, however, received a "no thanks" from Lafayette. Lafayette President Ralph Hutchinson said that the team's negro halfback, Dave Showell, would not have been permitted to play the game against Texas Mines, and so he rejected the bid.

Pitt's Tackle Star Is Given More Honors

NEW YORK—(AP)—Nick Bolkovac, Pitt tackle who startled the football world with the touchdown run that upset Penn State, gained further honors today. He was named lineman of the week in the Associated Press poll.

Bolkovac, a 210-pound sophomore from Youngstown, O., did himself proud against Penn State.

This is how he brought about the downfall of the Nitanny Lions, previously unbeaten in two years, as told by Ray Kelly, of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin, who covered the game at Pittsburgh.

"Bolkovac, who is getting billed as the best lineman to hit Pittsburgh since the Sutherland era, made himself the best-known player in the country by intercepting an Elwood Petchel pass and running 23 yards for the fourth period touchdown that won the game.

"That alone was enough to put the Youngstown husky at the top of the town's popularity list, but he was having a day and he did it up proud by making a terrific goal line tackle of State's bruising fullback, Franny Rogel, on the very last play of the game to avert a possible deadlock. It was the only time Rogel failed to gain during the game. No Hollywood scenario writer could have dreamed up a more exciting finale for this tussel between old rivals."

Urschel Plays Benefit Game

Mansfield Urschel Insurance plays the Ashland Myers Pump basketball quintet in a benefit contest Friday on the Ashland high school court.

Proceeds of the contest will go to Russ Cooke, Mansfield football center, who was injured while playing center for Ashland college against Hiram. Cooke suffered a broken vertebra and is now recovering in Crile hospital, Cleveland.

Nine West High Players Banned

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Nine members of the West high school football team, Columbus city champions, were suspended from school yesterday for allegedly breaking training rules after the final game of the season with Cincinnati Hughes last Friday.

School officials declined to discuss the matter pending talks with the boys' parents. Five of the boys are candidates for the high school basketball team.

Cage Replaces Grid on High School Roster

Senior High Court Team Opens Drills

Only three lettermen are on the 30-man squad trying for places on the 1948-49 Senior high school basketball quintet.

Two of the trio—Norb Shibinski and Paul Ferguson—were regulars on the 1947-48 combination which bowed to Mansfield Madison in the district tournament at Sandusky. The third—Ken Carver—was a first-line substitute.

Last year's Tygers won 16 of 22 games for Coach Vern Hoffman. Gone from that aggregation are such performers as Nick Cagich, Burt Lindsay, Shelley Swank, Ed Demyan, Bernie Weaver, Rod Blahnik and Dave Marks. All except Demyan, 6-2 junior, and Weaver graduated last spring. Demyan is ineligible for Tyger athletics this school year since he missed a football practice session. Weaver has not reported.

LOSE ALL-OHIO

All of the "lost" players stood over six-foot except Gagich, a unanimous choice for All-Ohio honors. The burly guard was the greatest point-producer in Senior high annals. In the 20-game regular season he poured 406 points through the mesh, an average of a little better than 20 a game. He added 23 in tournament play.

Gagich also set an all-time single game mark of 34 points against Tiffin Columbian and duplicated against Norwalk. He had 33 in a [illegible] with Lima Central.

Second scoring honors went to [illegible] who scored 182 points. Lindsay had 178, Swank, 123; Ferguson, 64; Demyan, 33, and Carver, 21.

ANOTHER NICK

Hoffman's biggest job will be, of course, to find a replacement for Gagich before the season opens Dec. 3 at Elyria. He has had several boys working out for nearly a month but the football players just joined the squad this week.

Non-football playing juniors — Willie Fowler, Ed Schmitt and James Anderson—have had the benefit of the extra drills and will make a strong bid for starting berths. Only Shibinski and Ferguson seem sure of first team jobs.

Fowler, Anderson and Schmitt won reserve letters last year with Fred Staub's sophomore team. Other reserve letter-winners are: Jack Bargahiser, Don Cline, A. C. Jenkins, Charles Marchant, Howie Tipper and Jack Wise.

EXPECTS MORE

Hoffman expects several additions to the squad before next Monday. He is being assisted with the varsity by Mike Byelene, assistant baseball and football coach.

Completing the squad are: John Crouse, Darrell Ewers, Eugene Fidler, John Fowler, David Guy, Jim Hager, Clifford Hammer, Fritz Haring, Arthur Hartig, Dave Hess, Esker Jordan, Richard Kent, Philemon Lindsay, Kenneth McCally, James Middlebrook, Charles Nail, William Reale and George Shoulders.

The Tygers will play in the Lima Central basketball carnival Dec. 29 and 30. Senior high will meet Greenfield McClain the first night and Central the second. Findlay, 1948, state champion, is the fourth team in the competition.

The schedule follows:

Dec. 3—At Elyria.
Dec. 10—Cleveland Collinwood, here.
Dec. 14—Tiffin Columbian, here.
Dec. 17—At Bexley.
Dec. 21—Alliance, here.
Dec. 29—At Lima.
Dec. 30—At Lima.
Jan 7—Ashland, here.
Jan. 14—At New Philadelphia.
Jan. 15—Springfield, here.
Jan. 18—At Bellevue.
Jan. 21—Open.
Jan. 25—At Fremont Ross.
Jan. 28—Columbus East, here.
Feb. 4—At Ashland.
Feb. 11—At Sandusky.
Feb. 12—At Norwalk.
Feb. 15—Lorain, here.
Feb. 18—At Massillon.
Feb. 25—Canton McKinley, here.

State Wrestling Squad Works Out

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Ohio State university's wrestling squad continued daily workouts today in preparation for the opener of the nine meet winter season against Bowling Green State university Jan. 15.

Coach Casey Fredericks has eight holdovers from last year's squad that split even in eight matches and finished sixth in the Western conference with 18 points.

Snavely Goes for Single Wing

By KEN ALYTA
(AP Newsfeatures)

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.—Coach Carl Snavely says he is not crusading on behalf of the venerable single wing formation, but his University of North Carolina football team seems bent on asserting superiority over the increasingly popular T.

In sweeping their first five games the Tar Heels whipped four teams employing the T—Texas, Georgia, Wake Forest and LSU.

"I don't go all out to beat a team simply because it uses the T," he says. "As a matter of fact, we've had a T team of our own here at Carolina right along, running an offense against us since last spring practice. Whenever we hear of something new in the T system we give it a try in practice to see if it might be fitted into our attack.

"I'll tell you this much: In the spring the T team was given a week to prepare its plays before we sent a defensive unit against it. The T club went well the first week of work, but thereafter our defense gradually caught up with the offense and had it pretty well checked. We just don't think we've yet seen a T that would give us the results we get now.

"We've found that the single wing style enables us to make more yardage, keep the ball longer and make more points than any other offense. It is best suited to our personnel.

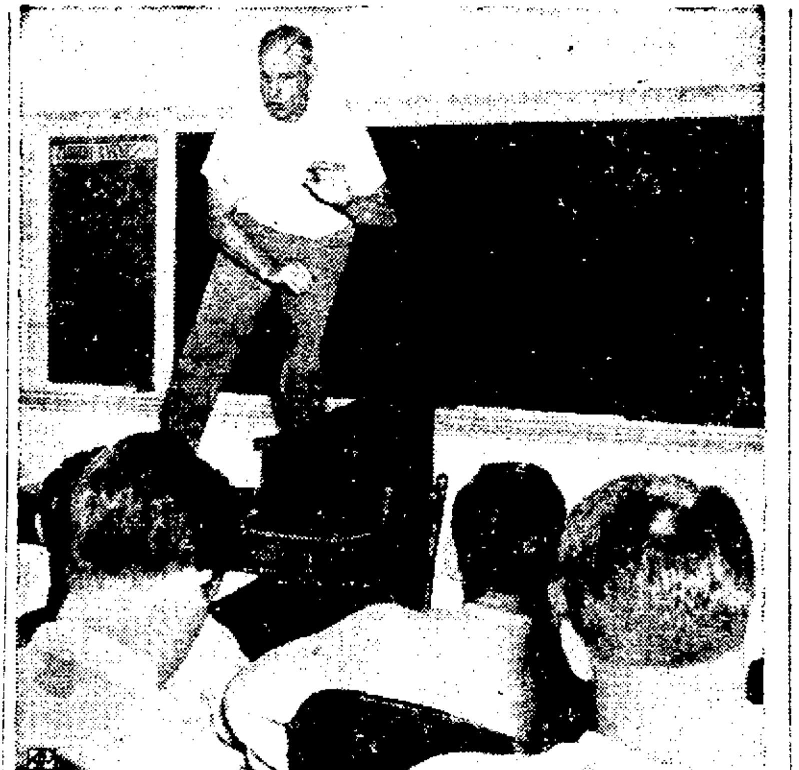
"Furthermore, I believe the single wing teams are stronger now because, with the growth of the T teams are becoming less accustomed to defending against the single wing.

Statistics I kept last year show that among 50 representative teams in the country, single wing teams averaged about six points more per game than those using other systems."

Snavely disagrees with critics who say using a player chiefly on offense and another to replace him on defense, as has been done at North Carolina since early last season develops only half a player.

"We are not interested in developing All-Americas for the pros to play," the gray fox declares.

"We are more concerned with winning games and seeing that the boys derive the benefits of good competition. We'll use any boy in his specialty if he excels in any one phase of the game.



Carl Snavely gives North Carolina squad some pointers.

"Of the two units with which we started the season about four of the offensive men could be standouts on defense as well. But by using separate offensive and defensive teams more boys have a chance to play. No, the defensive team doesn't mind playing without the ball. You know, any boy interested in football would rather play than sit on the bench."

Snavely says college football is better today than ever.

"This is not a permanent condition," he points out. "But with so many older, experienced, exservicemen in school the quality of play in general is higher than it ever was.

The 54-year-old native Nebraskan, who began his college coaching career at Bucknell in 1927 and spaced two stays at North Carolina with nine years at Cornell, has a warm spot in his memory for his unbeaten 1939 Cornell team.

But his current red-hot aggregation, which he says has the edge over that favorite Big Red club in size and experience, may make him revise that opinion along about Jan. 1. That's the date of the Sugar Bowl game and it's been marked in many a Tar Heel fan's future book.

Naturally, Snavely shies from Bowl talk. "We just take each game as it comes along," he maintains.

That in itself has been a problem with at least one halfback or blocking back on the injured list throughout the first half of the campaign.

Fortunately, Charlie Justice, the 165-pound tailback, whose running, passing and kicking have him up among the nation's leaders in all departments, has escaped the jinx.

Justice has been an inspiring performer. Snavely calls him: "A wonderful boy. A great team man with spirit and qualities of leadership. Most unselfish, he is highly appreciative of the blocking and defensive play that goes into a winning team."

An avid student of football, Snavely lives with the game throughout the year. He was one of the first to use movies as an aid in coaching.

As one of his Southern Conference rivals put it, "his real coaching is done from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., lining up the day's work."

The same colleague gives further insight into how Snavely operates.

"We were scrimmaging North Carolina in a practice session one day before the season began," he said. "Our boys were giving one of the Carolina ends a bad time on it. Finally we heard him ask Snavely what to do. Carl looked at him thoughtfully for a moment and then said 'I'll tell you Monday.' Well, I thought that was a queer way to operate. Had I been in his spot I'd have told the boy something, anything, probably even the wrong thing, but Snavely wanted time to think it out and perhaps let the player work on it, too. You know, that may be the secret of his success. That thoroughness and attention to detail."

Sever Grid Relations

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)—Football relations between Kent State university and Youngstown college were severed yesterday. Youngstown defeated the Golden Flashes the past two years.

Jenkins and Miller Offensive Leaders

A. C. "Sparky" Jenkins and Capt. Joe Miller, a pair of big rugged backfielders, were the Mansfield Senior high football offensive leaders according to figures released yesterday.

Jenkins, who tips the scales at about 180 and stands six feet tall, easily took a rating as one of Ohio's better offensive backs. Playing in the fullback slot, the swift junior blasted through opposing lines for some 882 yards on 111 carries. That's an average of 7.9 yards a carry.

Also a fine basketball player and trackman, Jenkins raced for nine touchdowns and made a goodly number of his gains on the Marion Motley trap play. He went 61 yards for a TD against Dayton Kiser and 62 against Hamilton. He scored three times in the Tygers' 33-to-0 win over Portsmouth.

LEADS SCORERS

Although not as fast as Jenkins, Miller lugged the leather for a Tyger top of 11 TD's and a second in the ground-gaining department. The 185-pound Miller ground to 728 yards in 84 carries, an average of 8.7.

Miller's work at left half earned him honorable mention on the UP All-Ohio team, a feat duplicated by Little Tommy Tucker, junior right half. His 87-yard off guard blast against Cleveland East was the longest run of the year for the Bengal's. Miller also went 82 yards for one of his three scores in the Springfield game.

Tucker and his alternate, Lou Gregorio, were also tough in the ground eating business. Tucker went 573 yards and Gregorio, 375. Their averages were 9.6 and 8.3 respectively. Tucker had three TD's against Sandusky and Gregorio made three in the Dayton Kiser clash. Tucker's longest scoring run was 85 yards and Gregorio went 70 for one.

GOES FOR 85

Paul "Pinkie" Ferguson completed 22 of 48 passes for 232 yards. He had a total yardage of 337 and scored from 85 yards out on a pass interception. Ken Carver was the leading pass receiver with eight for 102 pards.

In the offensive-defensive grading system inaugurated this year, Carver was tops among the linemen while Joe Miller and Tucker placed one-two among the backs. Trailing Carver on the forward wall were Tom Weaver, Jim Miller and Howie Tipper.

The grading was handled by Assistant Coaches Paul Snyder and Mike Byelene. Byelene said yesterday, "The over-all play of the Senior high team showed tremendous improvement in the last four games of the season." The best grades were made in the Hamilton upset.

FIVE COMING BACK

Only five members of the 1948 crew will be back next year when the Tygers begin play in the Northern Ohio league. The '48 club won seven and lost three, placing ninth in the Associated Press high school poll. Some 575 teams competed in Ohio this year.

The returning regulars will be:

One Hundred Cage Teams to Operate In City

Eight Loops To Open Fire Next Week

By CHARLEY STINE

Approximately 100 separately organized basketball teams will play full schedules in Mansfield during the coming season.

That startling number includes 30 in the schools—20 grade school, six junior high, varsity and reserve at each high school—and 64 independent teams already entered in various leagues.

The Junior Church league will open fire Saturday afternoon at the YMCA while all other circuits with the exception of the Senior Church get under way next week.

At least seven of the ten independent league should provide some cage warfare well worth watching. The City A league, Senior Church and Friendly House A will provide the top attractions while the others providing good ball are the two City "B" circuits, the Friendly House B, and the Friendly House Senior league.

THE SCHEDULE

By days the schedule is as follows:

Monday—City A at John Simpson, American league (B) at Senior high, Friendly House A.

Tuesday—Senior Church league at YMCA, Senior league and Junior Optimists at Friendly House.

Wednesday — National league (B) at Senior high, Friendly House B.

Thursday—City A league at John Simpson, Friendly House Junior league.

Saturday—Northern Grade School league at Friendly House (mornings), Junior Church league at YMCA (afternoons).

There will be no independent action Friday because of the heavy high school activity.

A city tournament will be held by the Recreation Department at the close of the season although just what type of joust it is to be has not been decided. The tourney will either take the top teams of any combination playing a regular schedule eligible.

Such a joust should provide some real fireworks in consideration of the large number of teams that are organized.

URSCHEL'S FEARED

Urschel Insurance is generally regarded as the likely candidate for the city's No. 1 team although competition in the City A league may be keener than usual.

Urschel, 1947 "A" league champions, boast a mighty roster according to lists released by City Recreation Director Stan Kamen.

The nucleus of last year's squad is back while two valuable additions have been made in Nick Gagich and Ennis Walker. Gagich was All-Ohio at Senior high last winter, while Walker, the Madison football coach, was a regular on the Bowling Green cage team which went to the Madison Square Garden tournament several years ago. Rounding out the Urschel squad is Jim Robertson, Lee Crownover, Dick Flockenzier, Don Gross, Frank Jocha, Wayne Hough, Bob Nikolaus and Bob Colwell.

Other A league rosters released by Kamen were:

Richland Beverage—Jim Stull, Gerald Bigler, Nelson Reel, Bud Ford, Wilbur Wade, William Martin, Dick Roberts, Roland Smith, and Junior Gage.

Roger's Diamonds—Dick Casad, Jim Guest, Jack Breinich, Jos Hess, Dean Hahn, Jim Hahn, and Don Rowe.

Komito's Clothes—Don Hardy, Jim "Stretch" Regula, Dick Gross, Russ McBride, Howard Gilbert, Jerry Hughes, Ralph Myers, Ralph Majors and Kenny Windsor.

Martin Hardware—Ed Chatlain, Tom Scott, Fred Lewis, Russell Hoft, Jack Lyons, John Haliabrin, Bruce McGinty.

Ohio Sport Center—Jim Tolles, Jake Berberick, Jack Hammett, George McIntire, Jack Elliott, Ed Vanderbilt, Dave Maxwell, Murvin Delong, and Charles Worthley.

Yuncker Sports—Joe Altomonte, Leroy Dill, Bill Lucas, Jim McBride, Paul Hartz, and Bob Waddell.

Shelby City Basketball Program Opens Saturday

SHELBY — The Shelby City Basketball league will open with a bang Saturday night on the high school floor when American Legion meets Ohio Seamless Tube at 7 o'clock. Shelby Salesbook will clash with Gump's five at 8, while the Merchants tangle with Bing's an hour later.

Stronger, well balanced teams will take the floor this year with a number of new faces on the various rosters.

The regular season will include three rounds of five nights each, or a total of fifteen nights of play. The team at the top at the end of the season will be the league champion with no play-offs scheduled unless the season ends in a tie. However the league champion will play a team of all stars composed of the other teams in the league.

The balance of the schedule for the first round is as follows:

Friday, Dec. 3—OST vs. Gumps, Salesbook vs. Bing's, and Merchants vs. Legion. Saturday, Dec. 4—Gump's vs. Merchants, Salesbook vs. OST, Bings vs. Legion; Tuesday, Dec. 7—Merchants vs. OST, Bing's vs. Gump's, Salesbook vs. Legion; Tuesday, Dec.21—Bing's vs. OST, Gump's vs. Legion, Salesbook vs. Merchants.

Conference Crown Goes On Block At Cincinnati Today

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Championship of the mid-American conference will be on the block today when Ohio colleges wrap up the 1948 football season in a four-game program.

Miami university, unbeaten and untied in conference play, will meet Cincinnati, also proud of a spotless league record, at Cincinnati. To the winner goes the conference title.

One Ohio conference battle still remains to be fought out, but it will have no major effect on standings of the unwieldly loop. Mount Union, currently in sixth place with a 5-2 record, meets Wooster, which has won two and lost four in conference play until now.

Dayton journeys to Chattanooga for an interstate contest and Case faces Western Reserve.

New London Basketball Team Opens 15-Game Sked Dec. 10

NEW LONDON—After completing its most successful season in years, the New London Merchants are now focusing their attention on the opening of basketball season—set for Dec. 10 at Townsend.

A 15-game schedule faces the cagers with only two lettermen on the floor from last year. Two newcomers, however, may add considerable strength. They are John Jetters, a six-foot-four-incher, and Joe Duta, five-eleven.

The New London gridders, under Coach Bob Brownson for the first year, completed the season with three victories against six defeats and one tie. The Junior high squad from which some of next year's team will be drawn, won four of five games.

The basketball slate:

Dec. 10—At Townsend*
Dec. 14—At Savannah.
Jan. 4—Vermillion.
Jan. 7—New Haven*
Jan. 11—Madison

Maxim, Bivins On Fight Card

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Joey Maxim and Jimmy Bivins have been signed for a 10-round bout here Dec. 7, Matchmaker Ed Bang announced today.

As a result of his showing in an exhibition against Joe Louis here last week, Bivins has moved up to number six position among heavyweights in ring magazine ratings. The national boxing publication lists Maxim fifth ranking heavyweight in the nation.

Bivins eked out a split decision in his one previous meeting with Maxim here in 1942.

Top attraction on the card will be the overweight match of newly-crowned featherweight champion Sandy Saddler against Eddie Giosa.

Madison to Award Letters To 23 Varsity Footballers

Twenty three football players and three managers earned varsity letters at Madison high school during the past season, Coach Ennis Walker announced yesterday.

Sixteen seniors, eight juniors and two sophomores were on the list.

Seniors were: Captain Don Morris, Jim Brightbill, Jim Gatton, Larry Secrist, Fred Durig, Carl Theaker, Gene Riblet, Jim McMillan, Mike Lalli, Joe Grimm, Jack Bosh, Bob Bell, Dale Cook, Joe Distl, and managers Kenneth Kaser and Kenneth Barth.

Captain-elect Russell Glenn headed the list of juniors which included Bill Remy, Norm Hughes, Bruce Armstrong, Ed Locke, Norm Walker, Pedro Pryor, and Stanley Day, manager.

Ed Chelski and Tom Morris were the only sophomores and no freshmen won monograms.

The letters will be presented at an assembly sometime in the near future. Plans for a football recognition dinner will be made at the meeting of the Madison booster club scheduled for 7:30 p. m. next Tuesday.

West Virginia Accepts Invite

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—West Virginia university has accepted an invitation to meet Texas mines in the Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex., New Year's day, Mountaineer Athletic Director Roy M. Hawley said last night.

WVU has won seven games and lost three to date this season.

Before the acceptance was made final, coaches put the matter to a vote on the Mountaineer grid squad this afternoon while the players were on the field preparing for Saturday's game with Maryland. The response, Hawley said, was "enthusiastic."

Hack's 'Big Heart' Not Soon Forgotten

By BILL CORUM

NEW YORK—(INS)—We'll never forget the round man out of Martinsburg, W. Va., who died Tuesday, Lewis Robert (Hack) Wilson.

He could thump, and with the ball they use today it would be an open question how many home runs he might have hit.

As it was, he set a National league record of 56 with the Cubs in 1930. Which was the season after he committed one of the most atrocious muffs ever seen in world's series history, when he set the stage for the 10 runs the Athletics scored in one inning to beat Joe McCarthy's Cubs.

To make that easy fly, under which Hack played ring-around-Rosie, drop-the-handkerchief and information please even more memorable, the Cubs had been leading by 8 to 0, and it was the home half of the seventh.

Although the nickname "iron horse" was later to be conferred on Lou Gehrig, Hack had it first. He got it in his first training camp with the Giants, under McGraw, at Saratoga.

I am sure that the "Martinsburg Bomber" could get a baseball uniform dirtier quicker and wear it dirty longer than any player in my memory.

And yet, for a rough, hard-boiled mining town guy, there always was a soft and pleasing side to the roly-poly man. I recall that he got so excited and nervous over the anticipated arrival of his first born, that he couldn't even swing close to the ball.

The Giants, as usual in those years, were in the pennant scuffling and it finally got so bad that McGraw had to send Wilson to Toledo for the remainder of the season. Much as the team needed hitting at the time, too.

We were in the Sinton hotel in Cincinnati, when Hack packed his bags and left the Giants, as jittery a prospective father as ever lived. And, as I recall, the great event was still several weeks, if not even months, in the offing.

He was all right, was Hack Wilson, and a mighty man with the willow. I'm sorry that the last year of his life couldn't have been happier and more successful.

Bowl-less Michigan Set Two New Big Nine Records

CHICAGO—(AP)—Bowl-less Michigan, most glamorous wallflower of post season football, set two all-time conference team records while smashing undefeated to its second consecutive Big Nine title.

Ironically, the Wolverines find themselves all dressed up and no place to go. The nation's No. 1 outfit, leading the Associated Press poll for the mythical national crown, is hogtied from making a post-season bow, other than in the Rose Bowl, by conference rules.

They knew they couldn't get to the Rose Bowl before the season started. Under the bi-conference contract with the Pacific Coast, no team may apear in the Pasadena pageant more than once in a three-year stretch. The Wolverines, in case you have forgotten (and the Pacific Coast never will) exterminated Southern California 49-0 last New Year's day.

SETS RUSHING RECORD

Today, the crowning touch to the Wolverines' 1948 campaign came with the official awarding of "statistic championships."

Michigan held six conference opponents to an average of 70.2 yards per game rushing, eclipsing the former record of 88 set by Minnesota in 1942. Coach Bennie Oosterbaan's champions also averaged 151 yards per game by passing. This bettered Michigan's own record of 145.5 in 1946. Ten backs, topped by Sophomore Chuck Ortmann, the Big Nine's individual pass tossing specialist, took part in the aerial circus.

Four other conference marks were booked by other teams. Illinois set a team punting record of 43.2 yards per kick to surpass the 42.2 average tagged by Ohio State in 1939. Dick Eddleman, the best in the nation, toed all except one of the Illini's 52 punts, to win easily the Big Nine kicking title in record style.

Wisconsin added a low penalizing mark, being set back by infractions only 15.2 per game to better Indiana's 17.7 in 1946.

Two records were of dubious honor. Indiana averaged only 28.7 rushing plays per game and yielded 19.2 first downs to drop below the previous mark of 34.2 rushes by Purdue in 1942 and 18 opponents' first down against Illinois in 1943.

Two Lettermen On Galion Five

GALION — Thirty eight candidates are working under new head coach Dick Backensto for places on the Galion high school basketball team.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
